LBJ, Thieu Sound Call For Peace Guarantees

Summit Parley At End

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam wrapped up a brief Honolulu summit meeting today with a joint statement declaring "effective controls and guarantees would be necessary" in any agreement to end the war.

The joint communique went on to reaffirm "their determination to halt aggression" and to defend South Vietnam until peace hopes are realized.

As the two chief executives were holding a final breakfast conference, their statement was issued.

NO COALITION

In one key section, Johnson declared, "The United States will not support the imposition of a 'coalition government,' or any other form of government, on the people of South Vietnam. The people of South Vietnam—and only the people of South Vietnam—have the right to choose the form of their government."

By all official accounts, Johnson and Thieu had little difficulty reaching a meeting of minds during their brief meeting.

BACK TO TEXAS

The American President was to head back to his Texas ranch for a few days. Thieu was staying longer in Hawaii and promised to meet with newsmen for a question-and-answer session

Reagan Opposes Toll Hike To Help Pay BART Costs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan is urging an Assembly Committee to reject one of three alternatives to solving a $144 million San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit system deficit.

In an unusual move, Reagan's office released a letter yesterday asking the Ways and Means Committee to reject a Senate Democrat's bill to cover the deficit by doubling tolls on the San Francisco - Oakland Bay Bridge.

The request was in a letter from Reagan's executive secretary, William P. Clark Jr., to committee chairman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda. Reagan normally does not announce his position on pending measures, unless they are part of his legislative program.

Even without Reagan's urging, committee rejection of the measure by Sen. George Miller Jr. of Martinez is considered a good possibility. First, the committee turned down a similar toll-boosting Assembly bill earlier this year. And secondly, Crown is co-author of one of the other two BART bills.

That measure, carried also by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, would raise the needed funds by diverting money marked for road construction in the three BART counties: Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco.

A third measure, by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, would allow the three counties to levy a sales tax to raise the money.

Reagan's position, as stated by Clark, is that an acceptable BART bill must have strong fiscal controls to provide that the money be used only for completion of the basic system; must provide for approval by local government, and must not have a discriminatory revenue source or seriously impair other needed public services.

Clark said Miller's bill "fails to meet these criteria" and he urged Crown's committee to "look toward the other BART measures now pending as a means of meeting the three essential elements set forth above."

The letter noted that using bridge tolls discriminates against bridge users who already have contributed $180 mil-

Novato Fire Captain Has Serious Burns

Fire raged over 100 acres in the Marinwood area yesterday, stripping the land of brush and trees, threatening about 25 homes and injuring three firemen, one seriously, before it was controlled.

About 150 firemen fought the wind-whipped blaze most of yesterday afternoon and evening and many were still on the job today, mopping up, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported.

NOVATAN HURT

Novato Fire Capt. Richard Beyer, 41, suffered second and third degree burns over 30 per cent of his body when trapped by a sheet of flame. He was reported in fair condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital.

Beyer, of 717 Cherry Street, Novato, and two other firemen, Robert Busher, a Novato volunteer, and James A. Alvarado, of the Marin County force, were working together when the accident occurred, Bloom said.

Bloom said they were working the west flank of the fire and had it slowed down when the wind suddenly changed and a 20-to-25-foot wall of flames rose in front of them.

SEEN BY CHIEF

Bloom, who witnessed the accident, said the Novato firemen apparently tried to outrun the fire, while Alvarado dove through the burning area.

The Novato Fire Department said it is investigating the accident. Busher and Alvarado suffered minor burns and were not hospitalized.

Bloom said the fire was reported to county headquarters at 12:59 p.m., about five minutes after the Marinwood Fire Department had been called to the scene.

The fire started in the area of Las Gallinas Drive and Unionstone Drive, he reported, and burned up to the rear yards of homes on Las Gallinas.

Resident of the threatened homes climbed their roofs and doused them with garden hoses, he said.

FIREMEN CRITICIZED

Mrs. Virginia Stewart of 429 Blackstone Drive criticized the county fire department for its slowness in arriving. She said a Marinwood truck was the only one there for the first 15 minutes after the fire was reported.

Bloom said it was first believed the Marinwood department could handle the fire.

After the county was called, the chief sounded the emergency alarm for help from other departments and also requested planes from the California Division of Forestry.

He said four planes responded

Million-Dollar Blaze Routs 400 In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Fire raced through a 200-room wing of the Sahara Hotel, packed with weekend guests, routing 400 of them, sending 13 persons to a hospital and causing more than $1 million damage.

It took 100 firemen more than two hours to quell the flames which leaped 100 feet into the air and sent up great clouds of black smoke visible throughout the Las Vegas valley.

Three firemen were taken to a hospital suffering from smoke inhalation while 10 hotel guests were treated there for a variety of injuries, ranging from smoke inhalation to cuts suffered when they jumped from second story windows of the two-story wing. All were released.

In addition, a number of other guests were given treatment for smoke inhalation, minor cuts and shock at the scene.

Several guests jumped from second story windows and others were removed on ladders by firemen. The heavy smoke pouring through the halls of the wing made it difficult for those inside to find exits.

A New Orleans, La., man, Stanford J. Levy Jr., said he fashioned a rope of two bedsheets and lowered his two small children from their second floor room in the burning wing, which was the original section of the hotel built in 1952.

Firemen said the cause of the fire was not known.

The wing, shaped like a squared-off three, is away from the rest of the hotel, and the fire did not damage the Sahara's casino nor its two towers, one 24 stories and the other 14 stories, a hotel spokesman said.

The hotel has a total of 1,000 rooms and it was filled to capacity when the fire broke out about 5:30 a.m.

The fire started in the center section of the wing and spread rapidly in both directions through the attic area. A spokesman said the middle area of the wing was destroyed and

Fairfax Tempers Shorten As Budget Talk Goes Long

In a self-declared war on deficit spending, Fairfax Mayor Robert R. Souza summoned the city council to the budget table last night for a last-minute slashing session.

The three-hour battle produced angry jeers from the audience, which protested any reconsideration of the tentative budget adopted July 12. At one point council members resorted to out-and-out name-calling.

When it was all over, the budget was $3,700 lighter, planned improvements for the city's park facilities were abandoned and the 30-member audience was noticeably confused about what had happened.

The final budget, up for adoption Monday at the 8 p.m. council meeting, stands at $464,379, down $12,542 from last year. The tax rate remains unchanged from 1967-68 at $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation.

Souza opened the stormy session saying that the absence of a city administrator has given license to department heads to come and get more funds. But, he said, "revenues are just not coming in — funds are slowly being depleted."

Souza cited revenue and expenditure funds for the past five years, pointing to the fact that the city has been dipping into its reserves.

"The revenue picture is such

Save-The-Bay Plan Changes Asked By Shipping Booster

RICHMOND (AP) — A Contra Costa County supervisor asserted yesterday a deep water ship channel from the Golden Gate Bridge to the North San Francisco Bay Delta area in his county is "imperative to keep the bay in world-wide competition for trade."

He is James Moriarty, who also is a member of the Bay Conservation Development Commission.

A deep water channel has been in the planning stages several years. The BCDC, in a new study, is seeking a place to put material to be dredged.

A preliminary plan, to be presented to the legislature, places strict limitations on the amount of bay fill in either open water tidelands or marsh areas.

ASKS SPOILS SITES

Moriarty said the cost would be prohibitive unless some adjoining marshlands could be used for the thousands of tons of dredge material.

Another possible solution could be creation of special wildlife islands in the bay.

Joseph E. Bodovits, executive director of the BCDC, said a conference is being set up among the BCDC staff, Contra Costa County officials, the Army Corps of Engineers and the state Lands Division to study the proposal.

ACCESS URGED

William Siri, president of the 11,000-member Save the Bay Association, said substantially greater access to the bay is needed, but his group generally favors the BCDC plan.

In San Mateo, two subcommittees of the San Mateo County Development Association, promoting industrial growth, urged a more critical look at the BCDC report.

The BCDC report proposes 78 marinas, 26 fishing piers and 17 swimming beaches. Its plan would add 24.9 miles of bay shoreline to the present 276.

The Richmond hearing was the second of a series. The final one will be held in Palo Alto Aug. 1.

The final plan, for submission to the legislature in January, is to be drawn in September.

Sirhan Lawyer Attacks Arab Lip Service

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The attorney for Sirhan B. Sirhan, accused killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, yesterday took some verbal jabs at his client's father and at Arab groups offering Sirhan support.

Russell E. Parsons said he never has been contacted by Sirhan's father in Israel-occupied Jordan, but by the father's public statements "we were given the opportunity to listen to what he had to say."

'LOT OF TALK'

As for Arab groups in the United States, Parsons said:

"I don't know what support they've offered. They've never given a decent suggestion or sent him a penny. They make a lot of talk."

Sirhan appeared briefly in superior court yesterday and was granted a continuance until Aug. 2 to enter pleas on charges of fatally shooting Kennedy and wounding five other persons.

Parsons said that one of the newsmen who interviewed Sirhan's father in Israel-occupied Jordan after the June 4 assassination was a "White House favorite." However, he declined to identify him or to say the interview was officially inspired.

Bishara Sirhan, 52, was quoted after Kennedy's death as saying: "If my son did it he deserves his fate. I have always had such a deep admiration for the Kennedy family."

As for Arab groups offering support, Parsons said they have never contacted him.

TIME ELEMENT

Parsons said it will make little difference whether Sirhan is tried before or after the November elections.

"I don't think that putting off the trial until after the election would be any advantage to the defense or anyone else," he stated. "After all, it would be up to the jury, after hearing the evidence, to determine the verdict."

Parsons said he hopes Sirhan will be tried in a standard sized courtroom because the public is entitled to attend the trial. Sirhan's hearing yesterday was held in a small, heavily armored temporary courtroom.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

No Bombing Clues

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police say they have no solid leads in the rash of bombings attributed to anti-Castro Cubans in the Los Angeles area yesterday.

The home-made bombs, deposited in mail chutes, inflicted heavy damage estimated at more than $100,000 on two Mexican tourist offices, two foreign airlines and the accounting department of the Shell Oil Co.

Politicos Warned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy says his Poor People's Campaign will make itself heard by politicians or "we're going to vote them out of office."

Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said his followers will take their case to the Republican and Democratic national conventions next month.

"If the GOP won't receive us, then we know where to go," Abernathy told 200 persons yesterday. "We'll go to the Democrats.

"And, if the Democrats won't receive us, then we're going to vote them out of office."

Strike Vote Set

LONG BEACH (AP) — United Aerospace Workers members at McDonnell Douglas Corp. have scheduled a strike vote tomorrow for employees in five U.S. cities.

The company contract expired Monday, said union vice president Leonard Woodcock, and McDonnell Douglas has not made any contract offer.

Peking Studies Split

HONG KONG (UPI) — Diplomatic reports from Peking today said Red Chinese leaders are discussing what to do about the crisis between the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. Apparently Peking is in a pickle.

The Communist Chinese would be loathe to publicly support the Soviet Union, their arch foe in the Red world.

But Peking also could not — in Communist parlance — stand idly by while a member of the clan, Czechoslovakia, opts out.

Priest Trades Collar For Badge

MONTEREY (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest who was suspended for carrying a gun while working as a reserve officer will become a full-time policeman at nearby Seaside, on Aug. 1.

The Rev. Terence J. Mangan, 30, was ordained four years ago and became a founding member of the congregation of the Oratorian Fathers in Monterey.

At night while doing research on a doctorate, he worked as a reserve policeman for a year in adjacent Seaside, a city of 15,000. He wore a uniform and badge and carried a gun. His fellow officers called him "Angel I."

While on duty he arrested a murder suspect, administered last rites to 46 persons and counseled fellow officers.

Navy Shoots At Satire Author

With that, Rear Adm. Fred E. Bakutis admitted two U.S. destroyers fired target shells that barely missed the 33-foot sloop of novelist Leonard O. Wibberley, author of "The Mouse That Roared," and Independent-Journal staff member in the late 1940s.

The Hermosa Beach skipper of the Cuna Mara said two five-inch, hard-nose, non-explosive shells landed 1,000 and 500 yards port of his stern Thursday, about 580 miles northeast of Hawaii.

Admiral Bakutis said the destroyers Waddell and Isbell were taking part in firing exercises.

The invaders — bows and arrows at the ready — hoped to lose a war with the United States so the winner would offer foreign aid to fund-shy Fenwick.

Czechs Stall Kremlin

PRAGUE (UPI) — Czechoslovagia's anti-Stalinist Communist leaders today stalled on a Kremlin bid for a showdown meeting in Eastern Europe's greatest crisis in a decade.

Party sources said the Czechs will not agree to meet the Soviet leaders at least until all Russian troops are out of this country.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist Party first secretary, and his comrades yesterday sent word here they want a meeting in either Kiev or Lvov—both on Soviet soil—Monday or Tuesday with the Czechs.

Alexander Dubcek, the Czech party first secretary and leader of the democratic reform forces hotly criticized by the Kremlin as dangerous to Communist security conferred with his aides late into last night.

Diplomatic observers said the Soviets want the meeting to give them a chance to pressure Dubcek to curtail if not halt his reform program.

Trains Must Run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "California Zephyr" and the "City of San Francisco" passenger trains will continue in operation for at least one more year as the result of a ruling yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Western Pacific, which operates the Zephyr, and Southern Pacific, which runs the City of San Francisco, had asked that they be allowed to discontinue the trains because of declining business and heavy revenue losses.

The Zephyr covers a scenic route between Salt Lake City, Utah and Oakland. The City of San Francisco provides similar service between San Francisco and Ogden, Utah.

No Job; Big Suit

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A former trumpet player for the Tijuana Brass has filed suit against an airline, saying a drop in cabin pressure while on a flight ruined his ear and his playing.

Arthur Mooshagian Jr., 29, said in a suit filed yesterday he tends to "overblow" and play too loudly since the incident, last Oct. 1.

Marsh Owner Blasts Plan; No New Cities

RICHMOND (AP)—The Leslie Salt Co. objected strenuously yesterday to a Bay Conservation and Development Commission report insisting upon preserving its evaporator ponds on San Francisco Bay as an open area.

"Your plan seeks to tell Leslie that not one of its 44,000 acres may ever be used for any purpose other than salt ponds," attorney Harry A. Jackson Jr., told a BCDC hearing.

NO NEW CITIES?

"The plan suggests to the people of nine counties that there may never be another Sausalito, Belvedere, Tiburon or Point Richmond on the shores of their bay," Jackson asserted.

"It seeks to tell the people of the South Bay that the barrier of salt separating them from the waters of their bay must remain forever..."

Leslie recently announced it started a three-year study of possible future development of its 36,000 acres in the South Bay. It is talking of a 50-year development of beaches, parks and recreational areas.

Leslie said further it foresses the possibility of salt production from its ponds becoming obsolete with technological advances.

WEATHER CITED

Leslie stated that meteorologists have said that reclaiming the marshlands would affect the climate, including increasing the temperature.

One report suggests buying dike lands from Leslie and from the Ideal Cement Co., breeching the dikes, and letting the bay onto those lands to preserve its ecology.

Toss Of Coin Decides Contract

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Pleasant Hill (Contra Costa County) company has won a $30,142 state contract with the flip of a coin.

Public Works Director Samuel B. Nelson said to his knowledge it was the first time in six years that a coin toss has been used to decide who gets a state contract in the department.

Riley's Striping Service of Pleasant Hill won the contract Friday. The losing contractor was Traffic Appliance Corp. of Los Angeles.

The companies had submitted identical bids on a contract to install raised pavement reflectors on a portion of California 238 and Interstate 580 in the San Leandro-Oakland area.

Newton Seeks Earlier Conviction Wiped Out

OAKLAND (AP) — The murder trial of Black Panther leader Huey Newton is in recess until Monday while Judge Monroe Friedman studies a defense motion to wipe out a previous felony conviction of the accused.

Eight prospective jurors were seated in the first week. Four more plus two alternates will be selected.

Defense attorney Charles Garry has asked the judge to wipe out a previous felony conviction against Newton, who is on trial charged with killing a white policeman John Frey, 23, Oct. 28.

The attorney says he has evidence that Newton was wrongfully convicted for a 1964 knifing for which he served six months of a year's sentence. If the felony record could be ruled out, Newton would be considered a first offender in the current trial.

Three jury members were selected yesterday to join the five picked Thursday. All are subject to the 20 peremptory challenges the defense and prosecution each have.

One of the eight is a Negro. All but two of the 17 potential jurors excused were whites.

One, Stanley G. Kurz, appeared to be acceptable until he was asked how he felt about the Black Panthers. Kurz, an aeronautics engineer at Alameda Naval Air Station, said he felt that a Black Panther member was "not a credible character" and said he might have trouble believing Newton.

One of the whites seated said he looked upon the Black Panthers as black racists. But Robert D. Evans, a Fremont school principal, declared he could weigh evidence fairly.

The other two chosen yesterday were Henry F. Stender, a retired Oakland metalworker, and Richard E. Thomas, a wareman at the Alameda Naval Air Station.

Black Panther Wins Point In Legal Fight On Parole

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Court of Appeal has modified a temporary order it issued in the dispute between Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver and the California Adult Authority over its attempt to revoke his parole.

The new action, disclosed yesterday, will allow Solano Superior Court Judge Raymond J. Sherwin to conduct a hearing July 29 to determine if the authority should be further restrained from holding any hearing on Cleaver's parole revocation.

He cannot, however, consider whether the authority was in contempt of his order releasing Cleaver.

POLITICAL RULING

On June 11 Judge Sherwin ruled that Cleaver was being held at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville for political reasons, not parole violations. The authority then attempted to hold a hearing and the judge's temporary restraining order followed.

The attorney general's office then asked the appellate court for a writ of prohibition which would bar the judge "absolutely and forever from taking any other action" in the Cleaver case.

ORDER CHANGED

The appeals court issued the temporary writ Wednesday, set a hearing for Sept. 24, then modified its order to allow the judge to hold the July 29 hearing.

Cleaver was on parole after serving a criminal assault term when arrested April 6 after a gun battle in which a fellow Black Panther was killed. He was then transferred to Vacaville as a parole violator.

Haight Area Calms Down

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Haight-Ashbury district — San Francisco's "love" neighborhood — was quiet last night after three nights of violence.

Beefed up police squads, helmeted officers armed with long batons, plainclothesmen and patrol cars cruised the area.

Neighborhood youngsters, hippies, members of the motorcycle crowd and the curious abounded in the district, but alert police kept everyone moving.

It was a nervous peace. Shopkeepers, some of whom had their stores looted in the trouble which started last Tuesday with the arrest of narcotics suspects, boarded up their windows.

More than 92 persons were arrested during the three troubled nights. Some 45 persons, eight of them police officers, were injured. One police officer was seriously hurt.

By midnight the crowds had thinned out and police patrols were reduced.

Police Ease Curfew In Quiet Akron

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Police last night "unofficially" lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew clamped on this industrial city in the wake of three nights of racial violence during which three Negro teen-agers were shot and wounded.

Police said the curfew was not lifted officially but that officers and National Guardsmen did not enforce it. The decision not to make any arrests for curfew violations was made following a meeting of Mayor John Ballard, civil rights leaders, Negro ministers and city councilmen.

Residents, unaware police were not enforcing the curfew, went into their homes and streets were deserted by about 9 p.m. Police and guardsmen riding in jeeps patrolled the area throughout the night.

About 100 of the 700 guardsmen, deployed to the area early Thursday by Gov. James A. Rhodes, remained on duty in the city. The remainder camped at a nearby armory.

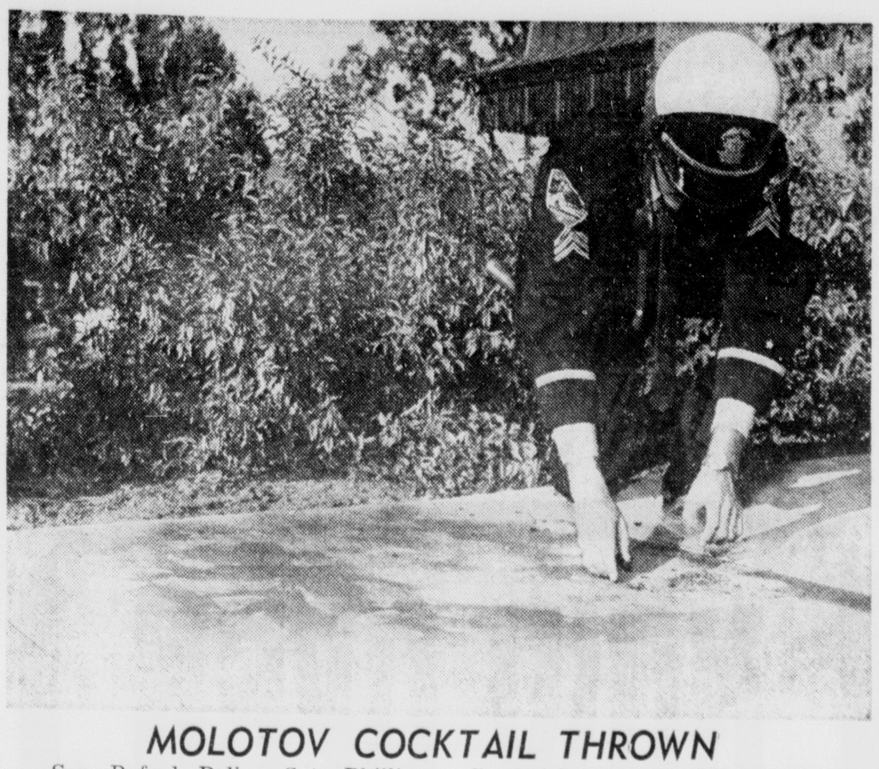
Earlier last night, police used tear gas to disperse gangs of Negro youths who stoned automobiles and looted along Wooster Avenue, where violence has been concentrated since the disorders erupted Wednesday night.

Funds Voted For Sewage Facility

The Mill Valley Air Force Station would have $49,000 for a sewage treatment facility under a bill approved yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The sum is part of a $1.76 billion program for military construction called one of the most austere in years.

The bill is subject to House action next week and final Senate approval.



MOLOTOV COCKTAIL THROWN

San Rafael Police Sgt. Phillip Green gathers remains of a Molotov cocktail tossed into the upper parking lot at San Rafael City Hall below Mission Avenue at about 9 p.m. yesterday. The bomb started a small fire on the pavement which officers quickly extinguished. A witness told police he saw a man in blue trousers and a red shirt running west on Mission at the time of the incident.

Taxi Driver Identifies Herrera As Customer

A cab driver yesterday identified Joaquin Antonio Herrera as the man he drove at 3 a.m. Jan. 6 to the vicinity of Ronald Lee Washburn's apartment.

Herrera is on trial in Marin Superior Court for the Jan. 9 murder of Washburn, an Army cook, whose body was found in a vacant lot next door to Herrera's residence at 1710 Lincoln Avenue.

Cabbie John P. Campbell said he picked up Herrera twice—shortly after midnight Jan. 5 and at 3 a.m. Jan. 6. The first time he drove him from the intersection of Medway Road and Belvedere Street to Lincoln and Grand Avenues.

On the Jan. 6 ride, Campbell said Herrera was wearing a woman's scarf low over his head, and shielded his face from the light when the driver turned on a dome light.

Instead of telling his designation, Campbell said, the man held his throat and then wrote out where he was going.

Another driver, Loren A. Nelson, said he picked up Herrera at 5:45 a.m. Jan. 6 at Belvedere and Medway, then drove him to Lincoln and Wilson Court. Herrera was normally dressed then, Nelson said.

Washburn's landlady, Mrs. Pauline Chase, testified she had seen a short man in a dark coat standing outside the apartment building on a night shortly before Christmas, but she was unable to identify Herrera as the man.

Two witnesses identified Herrera as the man who on Jan. 8 brought a rare convertible-caliber pistol into Montgomery Ward in Corte Madera seeking a replacement part.

Peter Keyes, a gun collector, and Ward's sporting goods manager Frank Guidotti identified Herrera, and pointed out his 16-year-old wife in the audience as the woman accompanying him at the time.

Keyes said the Astra automatic Herrera carried was a rarity because it had a mechanism to convert for use of either 9-millimeter or .38 caliber bullets.

A former neighbor of Herrera's, Gerald F. Pickart, testified that he found Washburn's car behind his apartment house at 1704 Lincoln Avenue the morning of Jan. 9.

Washburn's body was found that afternoon in brush a few feet away.

Pickart said the car was blocking his so he got in and moved it about 10 feet so he could go to work. He said the driver's door was locked, but the passenger door was open and the keys were in the ignition.

There was a pile of clothing on the driver's seat, Pickart said, which he tossed into the back seat when he moved the Washburn car.

Herrera, 23, a five-foot, one-inch native of El Savador, held repeated whispered conferences with his attorney during cross-examination of witnesses. He gazed without expression at his wife when she attended the afternoon court session.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson adjourned court until 10 a.m. Monday, when Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino will resume the prosecution's case.

Gls Battling Near Border Of Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen clashed with a large enemy force late today on an old battlefield north of Saigon and artillery and helicopter gunships were called in to help the Americans.

Officers reported that a company of the 1st Infantry Division made "sharp contact" with the enemy and came under heavy small arms and mortar fire. There was no word on casualties.

The fighting broke out near Song Be, 70 miles north of the capital and just south of the Cambodian border where strong enemy forces mounted a series of large-scale attacks on the central highlands last fall.

Although there were no details of the Song Be action, some U.S. sources speculated that enemy forces moving from Cambodia are again building up in the area.

No other ground actions were reported today.

Yesterday, government troops rescued 39 manacled captives who had been chained to stakes by the Viet Cong. The guerrillas were scared away by U.S. B52 bombers, who pounded the Viet Cong positions in the Mekong Delta before South Vietnamese infantrymen charged into an open field to free the prisoners.

Spokesmen said 20 other prisoners were unaccounted for and presumably were taken along by the fleeing Viet Cong. The civilian captives included 13 women and 26 men and teen-age boys who had been held by the Viet Cong for periods ranging from two months to two years.

the roof over about one-half of it was collapsed.

Most of the 400 guests who fled the wing were wearing nightclothes and had no time to take any of their belongings, other than their wallets. After the fire was extinguished, security guards were posted at all entrances of the wing to prevent looting, the spokesman said.

Thornberry Stays Silent Like Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry told the Senate Judiciary Committee today the doctrine of separation of powers prevents him from testifying about decisions he has written.

Thornberry, a former congressman nominated to succeed Associate Justice Abe Fortas if Fortas is confirmed as chief justice, thus echoed Fortas' position during four days of hearings earlier this week.

Fortas, named to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren, contended that because of his constitutional responsibility to the separation of powers doctrine he could not answer questions about decisions of the court of which he has been a member since 1965.

The committee wound up its questioning of Fortas yesterday but there is a question whether his nomination can reach the Senate floor before Labor Day.

Asked whether he thought the Fortas nomination would not reach the floor until after the August recess, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, "It looks that way."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., an opponent of Fortas' nomination, opened the hearing today by asking Thornberry about a decision he wrote for the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals declaring the Texas poll tax unconstitutional as a requirement for voting in state elections.

"You held it was unconstitutional under the due process clause of the 14th amendment, did you not?" asked Ervin.

"Senator, I'm at the stage where I have to say the opinion speaks for itself," Thornberry replied.

Today's unusual Saturday hearing was delayed nearly 40 minutes because of roll-call votes in the Senate. It was adjourned to Monday, 90 minutes after it finally got started.

lion plus interest, in addition to property tax increases if they live in the BART district. Also the measure would delay both construction of a southern bay crossing and replacement of the old Dumbarton Bridge between Newark and East Palo Alto, the letter said.

"We share the strong feeling held by all authors of BART financing legislation that it is essential to complete the BART project," Clark said.

"However, the district has come to the state for financial assistance to eliminate a deficit and complete the so-called basic system, rather than for a solution to all BART problems, present and future."

and made a total of 12 borate drops on the fire. Bloom credited the planes with helping stop the blaze.

He said it was the third time this year he had to call for forestry division planes. Last year they weren't called at all. The chief noted grass fires in Marin County are running 200 per cent ahead of last year.

Bloom listed the following units and men at the fire: Marin County, 12 units, one bulldozer and 25 men; one volunteer bulldozer from Bobo Construction Company, Novato; Terra Linda, one unit, nine men; Larkspur, one unit, four men; Kentfield, one unit, 10 men; Novato, four units, 15 men; Marinwood, three units, 20 men; Hamilton Air Force Base, 50 airmen.

SUMMIT

soon after issuance of the final communique.

Although Thieu and Johnson reached Honolulu Thursday, they held no conversations until yesterday. Then they conferred, privately and with key advisers, at the U.S. Pacific Command headquarters, and at a working dinner at Johnson's borrowed residence at Koko Head.

Originally, the two men had planned to continue their sessions into this afternoon, but officials representing both said their meetings went so smoothly—and so much spadework had been done in advance—that a scheduled luncheon proved to be unnecessary and a brief meeting over breakfast was substituted.

From the outset, American spokesmen had said the Honolulu talks marked no more than a routine review of the sort Johnson has been having with Saigon leaders approximately every six months.

Again yesterday, they emphasized that no developments, actual or expected, at the preliminary peace talks in Paris figured in the timing of the talks.

Meanwhile in Saigon, Premier Tran Van Huong appealed to North Vietnam today to meet with his government to discuss an end to the war.

"I appeal to the people in the North to stop their acts of aggression against the people of the South," Huong said in a short television speech marking the 14th anniversary of the signing of the Geneva agreements which divided Vietnam.

"The only way to bring about peace is to have direct talks between North and South Vietnam," Huong said, "and the North must disband all its organizations in the South."

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky also made a brief television speech in which he said, "The only way to win over the Communists is by military strength. We cannot have any coalition with them."

Ky urged his countrymen to oppose any political settlement.

Both of the speeches came at the end of National Shame Day, observed annually to mark the government's dissatisfaction with the 1954 agreements in Geneva. The South Vietnamese government never signed the accords.

Hamilton Airmen Bound For Korea

More reservists from the 349th Military Airlift Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base are being assigned overseas.

The wing's information office announced yesterday that 20 men had left Hamilton Wednesday night for 13 months' duty in Korea, and that another 65 would leave tomorrow.

The reservists, summoned to active duty after the Pueblo crisis in January, will be processed through Kimpo Air Force Base, Seoul, to bases throughout Korea. In the Korean contigent are ground and support personnel.

The wing has 220 men and 10 planes stationed at Royal Air Force Mildenhall Base, England, where they were assigned earlier this month.

'Freedom' Tape Wins Court Nod

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"Let Freedom Ring" can peal forth anonymously, no matter how harsh its message, the California Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The high court unanimously overturned a State Public Utilities Commission order forbidding transmission of recorded telephone messages without inclusion of the name and address of the sponsors.

The decision came in a suit brought by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of Fred E. Huntley, an ultra-conservative from Berkeley whose recorded tirades went under the name "Let Freedom Ring."

Pistol, Camera In Loot From Hub Home

A .25 caliber automatic pistol, a camera and some jewelry were stolen from the home of Esther B. Marshall, 55 Forest Avenue, San Anselmo, last night, police said.

Russ Output Up

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union reported today that industrial output during the first half of the year rose about 9 per cent over the same period last year.

Malaysia, Philippines Feuding Over Borneo

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos recalled the Philippine ambassador and most of his staff today from Malaysia because of the dispute over Sabah, and sources said Malaysia would recall its ambassador from Manila.

A Philippine official said Marcos' action was "the next step to severing diplomatic relations."

Psychiatrist Denies Image Of Police

Twenty law enforcement officers, having completed a week-long management seminar, received certificates yesterday at a luncheon meeting at the Tiburon Lodge.

Dr. Edward E. Shev, psychiatric consultant for the Sausalito Police Department, told the men he had disproved in his research the image of a policeman as "someone who wants to browbeat people."

"Police officers have the same dedication as ministers and doctors," he said. The motive for service was the outstanding characteristic of successful policemen, Shev said.

Bickering Arises Over Deadline On Reagan Recall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man leading the movement to recall Gov. Ronald Reagan wants a 60-day extension of the July 31 deadline for filing petition signatures. But a state official says it isn't justified.

Edwin Koupal, general manager of the Recall Reagan Committee, told a news conference yesterday a 1966 constitutional revision allows collection of additional signatures after the normal deadline.

Although he says the committee has more than the 780,414 signatures required to force Reagan into a special election, the group seeks one million names in case some are declared invalid.

In Sacramento, Assistant Secretary of State H. P. Sullivan said Koupal's request for an extension is invalid. He said the state election code provides that no petition shall be valid if turned in more than six months after the original petition was filed with the secretary of state.

Pilot's Antiwar Talk Is Doubted

VIENTIANE (UPI)—A traveler from Hanoi said today he does not believe the three U.S. pilots freed by North Vietnam and quoted as making antiwar statements at a news conference there on Thursday were speaking voluntarily.

The traveler, who asked not to be identified, said he had seen the pilots at a news conference they held in Hanoi. Among them was Maj. James F. Low of Sausalito.

He said International Control Commission (ICC) sources in Hanoi speculated that the three men, and three American pacifists to whom they are to be turned over, will not leave North Vietnam until they have made a propaganda tour of sites where American bombs have fallen.

Attorney Meets Ray In His Cell

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray and his Birmingham, Ala., lawyer met in the Shelby County jail today for the first time since Ray was turned over to American authorities in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Arthur J. Hanes, former Birmingham mayor, went to the heavily guarded jail this morning. He was admitted to Ray's steel-lined third-floor quarters after passing through cordons of shotgun-toting sheriff's deputies.

Hanes arrived in Memphis by plane from New York shortly before midnight yesterday, after being denied a seat on the Air Force jet which returned Ray from London nearly 24 hours earlier.

Cambodians May Request Ransom For GI Captives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government was awaiting official word from Cambodia today on whether Prince Norodom Sihanouk is demanding a tractor per man as ransom for 11 captured American soldiers and a South Vietnamese.

The State Department said no response has been received through diplomatic channels to a U.S. apology and plea for return of the men.

The group was aboard a landing craft which the State Department says inadvertently intruded into Cambodian waters where it was seized last Wednesday.

After the seizure, Sihanouk said the men "must be remanded to our court" for trial. In another statement, he intimated he would release them in return for 12 tractors and bulldozers.

Sihanouk said Cambodia would keep the landing craft.

Kirk Maintains Reagan's Running

FLORENCE, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida predicted yesterday that California Gov. Ronald Reagan would enter the Republican presidential race this weekend.

"I think Mr. Reagan will announce Sunday and a lot of Nixon support will turn out to be Reagan support," said Kirk, during a swing through Alabama in an effort to turn voters away from third-party presidential candidate George Wallace.

Kirk said Reagan has purchased some network television time for tomorrow and "I doubt if he bought that time to show old movies."

Reagan last week denied that he would announce his candidacy for the GOP nomination Sunday. He said he would go to the convention as a favorite son and allow his name to be placed in nomination at that time.

Afro-Arts Fete In Marin City

The Marin City Afro-arts festival started an all-day run today adjacent to the Marin City Market, 290 Drake Avenue, with a program featuring music, a display of African clothes and art and a cross-country race around Marin City.

The festival is sponsored by Black Advance of Marin City. It is limited to exhibits by Marin City residents, but is open to visitors who are invited to patronize the vaious booths, including some selling Negro food.

Jazz groups slated to perform included the Delano Dean trio from the Both/And club in San Francisco and Leroy Thompson's African Drum Corps of Marin City.

Teamsters Reject Offer Of Raise

Teamsters in 46 California counties, including Marin, have rejected a proposed pay increase of $1.62 hourly and are seeking $2, it was reported today.

The drivers have authorized a strike, but no date has been set for the walkout.

Negotiations with the Associated General Contractors, and Engineering and Grading Contractors Association and California Contractors Council are to resume Tuesday.

Union spokesmen said many workers are dissatisfied with refusal by employers to grant demands on seniority and hiring of nonunion owner-operators.

Fiery Tunnel Victim In Good Condition

Henry Penning, 63, of 524 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, was reported in "very good" condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco, where he was taken yesterday after his rescue from a flaming drainage tunnel.

Penning, who had been working at the site of Highway 101 widening in Terra Linda, was trapped by an explosion. He was rescued by a California Highway Patrol officer.

East Bay Man Booked As Attack Try Suspect

A 27-year-old Oakland man was arrested last night in Sausalito after he allegedly followed and tried to attack a 17-year-old Sausalito girl while she was walking home on Bridgeway at 10 p.m.

Robert L. Kruger was booked for investigation of assault to commit rape and was being held in county jail this morning on $625 bail.

OBITUARIES

Vincent E. Butler, 61

Funeral for Vincent E. Butler, a seaman for 35 years, will be Monday at 2:30 p.m. at the Evergreen Mortuary of McAvoy O'Hara Co., 4545 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. Burial will be at Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

Butler, a Corte Madera resident for 12 years, died in a San Francisco hospital Tuesday after a short illness. He was 61.

A bachelor, Butler was a native of Georgia and was a member of Marine Cooks and Stewards Union. He lived at 335 Willow Avenue.

He had no immediate relatives.

RALPH H. POTTER

Private funeral services for Ralph H. Potter of Grand Rapids, Mich., father of Dr. Ralph H. Potter Jr. of Mill Valley, were held yesterday in Mill Valley.

Potter died Thursday at a local hospital following a long illness. He was 87.

He became ill and was hospitalized shortly after he arrived in Mill Valley for a visit with his son in January.

A native of Iowa, he had lived in Grand Rapids since 1926. He was an industrial real estate salesman and had been employed by a Grand Rapids real estate firm until he became ill.

He is survived by his son.

ARTHUR SHOEMAKER

Private funeral services for Arthur Shoemaker of Inverness were held Thursday in Mill Valley.

Shoemaker, 67, died Thursday at a local convalescent hospital from injuries suffered Dec. 10 while walking along Highway 101 when he was hit by a car driven, the California Highway Patrol said, by Nels S. Johnson, 84, of Inverness. He was the 18th traffic fatality this year, compared to 20 at this time last year.

A native of Philadelphia, he moved to Marin County in 1946 and to Inverness in 1960. He was employed as a tool and dye maker.

He is survived by his wife, Lucille of Inverness; five sons, Richard of Berkeley, William, in Vietnam, and Christopher, Martin and John Shoemaker, all of Inverness; three daughters, Laurel, Wendy and Dana Shoemaker, all of Inverness and three sisters, Mrs. Carolyn Waters of Baltimore, Md., and Marjorie and Alice Shoemaker of Philadelphia.

Demos Plead For Truce On Phone Strike

CHICAGO (UPI)—Democratic party officials have stepped into the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. strike with a warning that only "a very few days remain" to save their national convention for Chicago.

John B. Criswell, convention director and Democratic party treasurer, yesterday put the national committee behind Mayor Richard J. Daley's attempts to persuade Illinois Bell to accept binding arbitration of the dispute.

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey was to fly here Monday or Tuesday. The purpose of the visit has not been announced.

Earlier this week, Bailey indicated the party would take a "fresh look" at the possibility of moving the convention if the 73-day-old strike by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was not settled by this weekend.

Despite appeals from the Democrats, Illinois Bell reiterated its position there were "no foreseeable circumstances" under which the company would accept arbitration of the wage dispute.

State Chilly To Embarcadero Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State highway officials said yesterday "well-intentioned people" must solve money and traffic problems before the Embarcadero Freeway can be torn down and put underground.

Mayor Joseph Alioto formally asked the California Highway Commission to consider whether the freeway could be moved out of sight. The bleak double-decker now blocks downtown San Francisco's view of the bay.

State engineers said the project was feasible, but would involve huge sums of money as well as alternative routes during construction for the 50,000 cars which now use the waterfront freeway each day.

Narcotics Gear, Pills Stolen From Office

Narcotics paraphernalia and birth control pills have been taken from a Mill Valley medical office building, the sheriff's office reported today.

The burglary occurred Monday night or early Tuesday morning. Dr. Joseph A. Moore told deputies. Dr. Moore's office is in the building at 25 Evergreen Avenue. He said that the items taken included hypodermic syringes and needles, drugs and birth control pills.

Informal Meeting

The Muir Woods Park Improvement Association last night informally discussed future projects at the park. A formal meeting was not held due to lack of a quorum.

Marijuana, Speed And Weeds Bring Reports From Users

DEAR READERS:

I have a great sheaf of answers to my query on the effects of marijuana. Over half of these correspondents go along with the fellow who wrote, "Pot is heap big smoke, not much fire." They experienced little or no effect and agree, it isn't worth the risk for what you get out of it.

About one-fourth sing the glories of pot and give specific reasons why many first-time users are disappointed. I'm checking their answers with researchers and will print them, together with the opinions of medical experts, in a later column.

The other fourth? They have tried marijuana, admit they enjoyed it but firmly state they are "off the weed," for various reasons. Here is an example:

DEAR HELEN:

I tried marijuana mostly for curiosity because the newspapers made it sound so fascinating. It was not what I expected, though a pleasant experience.

Pot relaxed me and provided a slowness of movement and thought that I had never felt before because I had always hurried and pushed through everything. It allowed me to sit quietly and not worry about all the obligations and prejudices of society. I began to think more about philosophy and the beauty of nature. For me, it seemed to unlock doors that I had passed by before, making me less self-centered and narrow-minded.

After I analyzed my experience with the drug, I realized I didn't need it. In fact, I had never needed it, for you can get the same effect by sitting down in a quiet place (preferably a nature scene) and just enjoying the beauty and wonder of the world and its people. This might have come to me naturally later on, but pot brought it on sooner, for it made me stop running away from myself. I don't need it now; it has nothing more to offer. The doors it opened remained open.

I do not believe in using marijuana incessantly — or even at all. It usually doesn't distort things or turn you wild, but I know, from observing acquaintances, that you may lose incentive and ambition, and even become confused, letting your mind go stagnant. Potheads are often drifters and dreamers. They avoid life.

I think the reason people try marijuana is that they need a crutch, or an excuse to slow down. Pot eases the pressure without making you feel guilty about wasting time. Used occasionally, it does not take you away from reality, but is nothing more than a mind and body relaxer.

However, I don't know its long range effects, except what I see among my friends. (NOTE FROM H.: Nor does anyone yet, but California researchers are now conducting experiments which should clarify the pot picture in a few years).

Outside of making a smoker a little giggly, clumsy and slow, marijuana "highs" are purely psychological. It does for you what you think it will. You control its effects, and you can mostly turn them off at will. One can even predict what the reaction will be on certain people just by knowing their personalities and opinions about drugs. Many are disappointed because they expect too much or maybe they're paranoid about getting busted. It isn't a "kick." It just intensifies your moods. — FORMER POT SMOKER, AGE 16.

Luncheon Series On Tap At Ross Locale

A capacity attendance of 450 is expected Wednesday for the first of six outdoor fashion luncheons presented by the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Co-sponsor of the first event is the Junior League of San Francisco.

River Raft Trip Beckons Girls

By MOLLY MARIN

An exciting raft trip on the Salmon River in Idaho is in prospect for three Marin high school girls.

Nancy and Cindy Osborn of Belvedere and Holly Shea of Tiburon left earlier this month to fly to Cape Cod, Mass., and then went on to visit Nanny and Cindy's grandmother in Ashville, Me., and Holly's grandmother in Springfield, Mass. They will fly to Boise to begin the 10-day river trip, which is similar to the one the Kennedys took. Afterward they will go to stay on a ranch in Wyoming owned by the Osborn girls' aunt, and return about mid-August. Nanny and Cindy, Redwood High School students, are daughters of Dr. and Mrs. John Osborn of Belvedere, and Holly's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stevens L. Shea of Tiburon.

MR. AND MRS. Denis G. Nickel (the former Sandi McKay) of Santa Barbara are parents of a baby daughter, Wendy Kathleen, born July 10. Wendy's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Nickel, Mrs. Marget I. McKay of San Rafael, and George McKay of Oakland. Great-grandparents are John A. Johnson of Novato, Mrs. Edna McKay of Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. John Beck of Amberg, Wis.

Miss Gilman-Jim Stocking Engagement Told Here

The engagement of Christy Claire Gilman to James Frederick Stocking has been announced by her mother, Mrs. John Howard Gilman of Kentfield.

Christy is the daughter of the late Mr. Gilman and the sister of Jacqueline Cole Gilman of Kentfield. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Howard Gilman of San Rafael and the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Cole. A graduate of Redwood High School, she is attending the College of Marin.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Frederick Stocking Jr. of Kentfield and the brother of Patrick Clayton Stocking. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Frederick Stocking of Ross.

The future bridegroom was graduated from Redwood and is serving with the U.S. Army in Maryland.

Youngsters May Yet Register For San Marin Summer Program

Registration is still open for a few more youngsters in the summer pre-school program at the San Marin Club in Novato.

Mrs. Irene Hunter and Mrs. Robert Campbell are instructors for the course, which started July 9 and will end Aug. 15.

The children, aged 3½ to 5 years old, learn through games, coloring, musical games and one-half hour of swimming two days a week from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., said Mrs. Manuel Soares, who is also chairman of the pre-teen group at the San Marin Club.

The pre-teen group meets once a month.

BEGINNING AND advanced instruction in spinning and natural dyeing of wool, weaving and Navajo loom building will be offered in Sausalito starting Monday.

The class will be held on the houseboat "Omphale," and the instructor will be Bob Harris, a weaver and potter who has taught many classes throughout the Bay Area.

Further information may be obtained by calling Marian Saltman of Sausalito.

B'NAI B'RITH Women, Marin Chapter 226, will hold its annual summer luncheon Tuesday. Mrs. Richard Harris of 145 Van Tassel Ct., Sleepy Hollow, will be hostess for the noon social.

Reservations are under the direction of Mrs. Harold Harris, Mrs. David Wachsman and Mrs. Julian Mayerhofer. Mrs. M. R. Colvin of San Rafael is publicity chairman for the organization.

MRS. HERLUFF Pederson, district deputy president of District 61, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will pay a social visit to Tamal Rebekah Lodge No. 393 at the Odd Fellows Hall in San Rafael Tuesday evening, 8 p.m. She will be accompanied by her marshal, Mrs. Fannie Mae Erricco of Sebastopol. Mrs. Tony Fontes, noble grand, will conduct the meeting.

Mrs. Agnes Nichellini and Mrs. Louzella Peterson are in charge of decorations and refreshments assisted by their appointed committees.

THE SHAKESPEAREAN FESTIVAL, starting today and running through Sept. 28, will have a new landscaped area due to efforts of the Peacock Gap Garden Club. Mrs. Donald Sweitzer of San Rafael is president of the gourp.

Efforts were made earlier this year to landscape a portion of the Forest Meadow Theatre grounds. The project will receive perpetual maintenance, said the Garden Club's publicity chairman Mrs. John Zimmer.

Don Hottons Wed In Reno

Exchanging wedding vows Saturday at noon at Chapel of the Bells in Reno were Janice Marie Baysinger of San Rafael and Donald Hotton, also of San Rafael.

Janice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Baysinger of San Rafael, and the sister of Mrs. Henry Leonardi of Ignacio, Mrs. Thomas Fracisco of Ft. Eustis, Va., and Virginia Lorene Baysinger of San Rafael.

Mrs. Josephine Hotton of San Rafael is the mother of the bridegroom.

Serving as matron of honor at the ceremony was Mrs. Robert Dalton of San Rafael, and Gary Shieffield of San Rafael was best man for Donald.

Janice is a Marin Catholic High School graduate and her husband attended San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools and College of Marin. He is employed with the San Rafael Fire Department.

After a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe the newlyweds will return to live in San Rafael.

Sandra Cheek Engaged To John Hartman

SANDRA CHEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Lee Cheek, to John Nicholas Hartman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Rodney B. Hartman of Mill Valley, at a buffet luncheon Sunday at their home in Santa Rosa.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Oakdale Union High School and the University of the Pacific. She holds a master's degree from Sacramento State College and is employed as a psychiatric social worker for the State of California in Stockton.

She is the sister of Scott and Richard Cheek of Santa Rosa and the granddaughter of Mrs. Richard Williams of Santa Rosa.

A graduate of Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco, John received a degree from Occidental College in Los Angeles and is working toward a master's degree in rehabilitation counseling at Sacramento State College. He is employed as a rehabilitation counselor in the Department of Rehabilitation in Stockton. He served three years as a lieutenant with the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific.

He is the brother of Mrs. Thomas Kostic of Moraga and the grandson of Mrs. Thomas L. Harris of Mill Valley.

The couple will be married Oct. 19 in Santa Rosa.

Aged Consume Most Medicines

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Men and women over 65 years of age spend about five times as much for prescribed medicines as young people aged 15 to 24 years of age, the National Center for Health Statistics reports.

The statisticians found that the largest part of the average $41.40 spent by oldsters was followed by $5.70 for treatment of heart conditions. Women spent more for prescription drugs, on the average, $46.70, than men, whose average was around $34.70. As for non-prescription drugs, the elderly, both sexes, spend the most for aspirin and vitamins.

Fall Fashions Show Hemlines At Traditional Knee Length

By EUNICE FARMER

In answer to all of you who depend on me to tell you about the latest fashions for fall, I shall begin this week since I have just seen the fall collections of the top American designers in New York.

Today, I must generalize by mentioning the highlights. There is a great return to the softer, more feminine look as witnessed by the silk crepes, satins, velvets, fur trims, feathers, and beads.

The length that is generally accepted is just above the knee or about the center of the knee which is probably where most of us have been wearing the skirts this past year. A few Midi length skirts did crop up into the picture, but it is definitely for the young, tall, slender gal who will do justice to it by making it a complete look with the right boots or shoes as well as all of the other accessories.

Yes, there is a return to more fitted clothes but don't panic and call the Goodwill yet! We can salvage many of last year's dresses by fitting them in a little closer and adding a belt. A decorative sleeveless vest is a very important accessory and can change the mood of any dress already in your wardrobe. As the weeks go by, I shall tell you about the techniques needed when working with new fabrics to achieve the new look of 1968. It would be a good idea to plan your entire wardrobe needs before buying anything to get the maximum coordination.

DEAR EUNICE,

I have read your column and know how you try to help us solve our problems. Now I have a special favor to ask of you. I am making my own wedding dress and bridesmaids' dresses. The dresses are made of a combination taffeta and georgette. The sleeves of the dress I am copying are made of sheer, very close pleating. I have even seen this fabric used in formals, but when I try to purchase some, it is impossible to find. Pease give me any helpful suggestions?

MISS G. B.

Unfortunately, there are times when we can't copy details used by designers and manufacturers. The kind of trimming you are referring to has been done for the manufacturer by a company that specializes in this particular detail. It is ordinarily never done in over-the-counter fabric.

If you live in a city that is fairly large, there is a chance you may find a listing for a "pleating company." They have special equipment and can do this kind of pleating on your fabric. If not, I would suggest you substitute by using sheer lace sleeves or the georgette without the pleats. The cuffs could be finished by using many tiny round buttons and loop buttonholes to add interest without the pleating.

MRS. E. H. DIXON, Charlotte, N. C., is this week's tailor trix pressing board winner for her sewing tip.

"When beginning your sewing, instead of sewing a few stitches to the end of the fabric and then going forward, simply set the stitch length exactly on 'fine' or about 15 stitches per inch. This locks the thread and eliminates having to be careful that the seams don't begin to pull out before they are assembled to the next section of your garment."

COLORFUL DANCE AT MUSIC CHEST

A majestic entrance opens Singkil, a traditional dance of Philippine royalty to be presented by the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company at the Marin Music Chest's second summer program at 3 p.m. Aug. 3 at Forest Meadows. Other Philippine folk dances will also be performed in authentic costume and the dancers will be accompanied by a native string band of 12 musicians, playing Philippine instruments.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Oh, Shaw!' Suffers Typical Unevenness

By GARY TISCHLER

One thing about one-act bills, no matter who writes or puts them on. They tend to be a hot and cold sort of drama meal with the juicy part in the middle and odds and ends at the start and the finale.

That's what more or less happened with the Marin Actor's Company presentation of "Oh, Shaw!," a trio of one-acts by, you guessed it, George Bernard, at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

The trio started off with "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," something Shaw may have dashed off on a sleepy day, supposedly written to promote funds for the establishment of a National Theater as a memorial to Shakespeare. It's satire, such as it is, strung around Will's amusing habit of plagiarizing on the spot from everyone he meets, be they queen, mistress or guardsmen. The idea stretches awfully thin, even for a one-act. If it was meant to show Will as a wordy fellow, it did, and I'd rather not have known. The opening bit with Will, played strenously and in flowery fashion by John Peebles, and the guardsman (Gary Farrington) is funny but the rest of it drags and gets downright pompous, satire and all.

The gem of the evening is a genuine beauty. "How He Lied To Her Husband" is Shaw doing Edwardian drawing room comedy. Hal Carstens (poetic lover), Ann Armour (wife) and Don Carr (director) play it to the hilt.

Carstens uses his face and body like an exaggerated, stylistic pretzel. He does so many bits that seem peculiarly his own that he almost makes the whole night by himself. Miss Armour is equally funny and expressive, a sort of pretty Carol Burnett. And Mr. Carr, who incidentally directed and produced along with Miss Armour, provides a more straightforward, conventional humor to offset the marvelously hammy pair.

Comes the final piece, "The Shewing-Up of Blanco Posnet," a sort of satiric western-style morality play about hyprocrites, morals, etc., which is funny when Carstens and Armour are on, as Elder Daniels ("I'm totally innocent when I drink. I'm too drunk to notice temptation.") and a suitably blouzy but human hired gal, respectively.

The whole thing, however, turns into something deadly and pretentiously serious. Peebles, as Blanco, the man about to be strung up by a blood-thirsty jury for stealing a horse, doesn't help matters with a delivery that borders dangerously on an up-down monotone. The satire is about as subtle as a heavy hammer with weights on it.

One serious complaint — the place is stifling, but we'll send that one to the weatherman.

You can keep a running score for the trio—fair, great and uneven, in that order. To be seen again tonight at 9, and Fridays and Saturdays for the next two weeks, also at 9 p.m.

Lowered Bail Refused Borst

A bail reduction request for kidnaping suspect Jerry Stanley Borst, 22, was denied in Marin Municipal Court yesterday and Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entries for 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Borst, of Novato, is being held in County Jail in lieu of $31,250 bail on charges of kidnaping a Novato woman with intent to rob her on July 9, kidnaping her two sons, and raping the woman.

Judge Roth declared the existing bail is reasonable since kidnaping with bodily harm is a capital offense. Punishment on conviction is either mandatory death or life in prison without parole possibility.

Borst is represented by the public defender's office. He surrendered himself in Albuquerque, N.M.

Red Cross Asks Help For Biafra

The American Red Cross has announced it is accepting contributions for relief in Biafra.

The money will be used for food and medical supplies for refugees from the fighting between federal forces of Nigeria and Biafra secessionists.

The agency says checks may be mailed to "Biafra," c/o American Red Cross, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael 94901.

The Red Cross has given $20,000 worth of supplies and is now preparing a $30,000 shipment of relief goods.

The U.S. government has sent $100,000 in supplies to Biafra and over a million dollars in food and is prepared to ship more food.

Nonresident Boat Launch Fees Sought

A $2 fee for nonresident's use of the Turney Street boat launching ramp will be recommended to the Sausalito City Council Aug 6.

The commission's recommendation came Thursday night after results of a survey showed the launching ramp is used 98 per cent of the time by nonresidents.

SUMMERS ONLY

The fee should be charged on weekends only from May 1 through Oct. 21, the commission agreed, and should be extended to seven days a week if weekday use becomes heavy enough to warrant such a move, Mrs. Eleanor Cruikshank, commission chairman, reported.

Commissioners also heard a request from Arthur Pierson, representing the Sausalito Parents Club, the Little League and the Sausalito Youth Center, asking that the commission use Bayside School for recreation programs.

The school and gymnasium would make an excellent recreation facility, the commissioers agreed, and they encouraged Pierson to approach the school board with his ideas.

NO DECISION

The commission voted to delay any decision on Pierson's proposal until after the results of a survey on the recreational needs of the community are tabulated in the fall.

The final draft of the survey, to be distributed to all residents in September, was approved by the commission Thursday night.

Commissioners also heard a presentation by landscape architect William Kapranos of San Anselmo on plans for the Princess Street park. A final decision on an architect for the park will be made in September, Mrs. Cruikshank said.

John Vetromile was named commission secretary to serve until June, 1969.

The commission's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 15 in city hall.

Mill Valley Parks Use Policy On Agenda

Policy governing use of parks and public buildings will be discussed by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission Monday at 8 p.m. in the board room of the library.

Also to be discussed are Cascade Reservoir regulations and recreational needs for the new middle school on Project 17.

Dixon Watercolors

Watercolors of the Mother Lode country by Leola Dixon of Mill Valley are on exhibit at the Wells Fargo Bank in Greenbrae through the middle of September.

Sommerhalder Loses Try To Move Trial

Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, charged with the murder of a Santa Venetia couple, was denied yesterday a request to move his trial from Marin County.

Said Judge Joseph G. Wilson, "I can't at this time find a reasonable likelihood that he can't get a fair trial (here)."

The motion for a change of venue had been submitted on grounds that widespread publicity by the Independent-Journal and KTIM Radio Station in coverage of the trial of a co-defendant, Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, would prevent a fair trial.

Sommerhalder, 24, of Santa Rosa, faces trial for the Jan. 12 slaying of Curtis and Shirley Ackley in their Santa Venetia mobile home. Preston was convicted of those charges and sentenced to death by a Marin jury.

Judge Wilson's denial came after the second hearing on the motion. At a July 11 session, the Independent-Journal circulation manager said about 45,000 copies of the newspaper carrying coverage of the Preston trial went daily into Marin homes.

Testimony also established that KTIM news broadcasts included information on the trial.

Yesterday, Jerome Durham, public defender representing Sommerhalder, submitted affidavits from eight attorneys in Marin County that they felt an unbiased trial in Marin is impossible because of the publicity.

Judge Wilson said he respects these views, but they add little to the question of how thoroughly the publicity "permeated the community."

Deputy Dist. Atty. John Ralph Thomas then had A. W. Adam and John J. Kingston, district attorney's investigators, testify they conducted spot checks in the county starting Wednesday. Of 100 persons questioned, they testified, 45 said they had no opinion on the guilt or innocence of Sommerhalder, 13 said they did, and the remainder either were undecided or declined to answer.

Judge Wilson has scheduled a jury trial for Sommerhalder for the week of Aug. 12.

Two-County Study On Fast Ferries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco and the Marin County Transit District signed an agreement yesterday for a four-month joint study of a proposed high-speed ferry service across the Golden Gate.

San Francisco will put up $30,000 and the Marin agency $15,000.

San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who once called the plan "antedeluvian," joined Marin Supervisor Thomas Storer in a program "to get the people out of their automobiles" and relieve congestion on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Driver Fined $150

James Lee Hart, 51, of Brisbane, was fined $150 and placed on six months' probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him Tuesday on Highway 101.

Two Council Sessions Set For Novato

The Novato City Council will hold a budget meeting Monday and its regular meeting Tuesday, both at 8 p.m. in the Community House.

The police and community promotion budgets will be reviewed Monday. The council may then adopt the preliminary budget.

On the Tuesday agenda, the council will consider the amount of a possible bond issue for improvement of the city streets and when to submit it to the voters. An unsuccessful $5,750,000 bond issue received more than 55 per cent of the vote in a special election in January.

The council will discuss further study of a possible merger of the Novato Sanitary District with either the City of Novato or the North Marin County Water District, or both.

Other items on the agenda include: A resolution establishing a gun control legislation advisory committee and naming people to it, new signals on Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue and changes in the city-state freeway agreement.

A stalk of corn growing in a field uses more than a gallon of water daily.

Latter-Day Saints Reorganize; New Stake Is Located In Marin

Reorganization of the Santa Rosa Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has taken place during the past two weeks.

The stake now consists of two centers — one in Santa Rosa and the other, the Marin Stake, temporarily located at the Novato church, located at Center and Kendon Lane.

Assisting Weston L. Roe of Novato, the present Marin Stake president, will be Newell B. Stevenson of the Greenbrae Ward, assistant clerk, and Wallace N. Allred of Novato, stake patriarch.

Other officers include Merrill E. Larsen of Novato, clerk; Juan J. Lynn of the San Rafel Ward, assistant clerk and Wallace N. Allred of Novato, stake partriarch.

The new Santa Rose Stake is under the continued direction of Sidney B. Henderson of Santa Rosa.

The high Council for Marin members include Edward O. Gynn, Francis M. Dimmick, Clive A. Pussey, Paul F. Bach and Clair R. Anderson of Novato; Charles R. Marsh, Percy Poulson and Edward L. Nimer of San Rafael; Larry D. Higgins and Orrin T. Milter of Petaluma, and Marvin B. Garrett and Donald W. Willmore of Greenbrae.

Other appointments include Edward Billsborough of Novato, stake Sunday school, assisted by Dale F. Norton of Greenbrae; Vera Morrison of Petaluma, stake primary president, assisted by Jacqualine Werret of Petaluma as first counselor and Alice Goddard, also of Petaluma as secretary.

Also Beulah G. Gwynn of Novato, president of the relief society assisted by Anne C. Burgess of Greenbrae as first counselor and Betty Groves, Sally G. Kennedy Gladys Gingrich and Joan Good, all of Novato, and Jewel Vollentine of Greenbrae, board members.

This is the second reshuffle within the stake which was organized in 1950. First major changes were made in 1960. The current ones were implemented during a recent visit by Elder Marion G. Romney of the Council of the Twelve Apostles and Patriarch Eldred Smith, both of Salt Lake City.

Pennsylvania's Catholic Schools To Get State Aid

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Roman Catholic schools in Pennsylvania will receive more than $4 million in direct financial grants from the state during the coming year.

Since Pennsylvania's parochial schools are educating some 600,000 children, this figures out to token-scale aid of less than $7 per student per year.

But the newly authorized program, which went into effect July 1, is significant as a deliberate test of the long-disputed constitutionality of public support for church-related schools.

Court challenges of the program already are being prepared by a Protestant group called "Friends of the Public Schools" and by the American Civil Liberties Union.

TO RESOLVE ISSUE

Sooner or later, the U. S. Supreme Court seems destined to resolve this issue. The only question is whether the Pennsylvania case will reach the high tribunal before a New York case which challenges the constitutionality of the 1965 federal aid to education act. That act provides grants for purchase of books and special tutoring services in parochial schools.

The Supreme Court has ruled on several occasions —and reconfirmed only last month — that there is no violation of the constitutional principle of church-state separation when a state government provides free textbooks, bus transportation, health care and other services to students of non-public schools. The Court's position is that such services are benefits to the child rather than to the religious institution sponsoring the school.

Pennsylvania's new program, however, goes far beyond any previous U. S. law, state or national, in authorizing direct grants of tax funds to underwrite basic costs of parochial school operation. It therefore confronts the courts with a decision on whether education itself may be regarded as a benefit to the child, and to society as a whole, rather than to the sponsoring institution.

NEW DEFINITION

The Lutheran Church in America, at its recent convention in Atlanta, Ga., adopted a statement which gives an unusually clear definition of religious liberty. It also explains why Christians are required to defend religious liberty not only for themselves but for all others.

"Religious liberty includes the right of a person, whether he is a believer in God or a non-believer, to be immune from coercion to participate in religious acts or affirmations," the Lutheran statement says.

It also includes the right of every individual "to worship in accordance with the faith and ritual of his group, even in ways which appear curious or offensive to others, so long as the methods used are not legally defined as dangerous to the individual or the community."

It assures churches of the right to conduct their internal affairs "without interference by government . . . except where government is performing its legitimate functions of promoting such public interests as health, safety and justice."

Exhorting Lutherans to be jealous defenders of the rights of others —especially those of different and repugnant creeds —the statement says:

"Christian faith asserts that God will not force anyone into fellowship with Him. If, then, God refuses to impose His will on man, men exceed their prerogatives if they try to use coercion of any kind on one another to obtain religious conformity."

Golden Rule Practice— A Lost Art?

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mark Twain once said, "I can live for two months on a good compliment."

Shakespeare said, "Our praises are our wages." And Oliver Wendell Holmes described friendship as "the pleasing game of interchanging praise."

These quotations are recalled by an article in the Christian Herald extolling "The Power of Praise."

Author Janet Graham says that "praise is like sunshine to the human spirit . . . we cannot flower and grow without it." Criticism, on the other hand, is a "cold wind" that withers the spirit.

All of which suggests an eminently practical use of applying the Golden Rule in everyday life.

Praise, to be genuinely helpful to another person, must be deserved. Otherwise you're indulging in flattery, which is like tipping with counterfeit coins.

With a little thoughtfulness, however, you'll find plenty of opportunities to hand out sincere compliments to people around you.

"It's especially worthwhile to look for the spheres in which effort generally goes unnoticed and unrewarded," says Miss Graham. "There are so many fields in which it never occurs to people to give praise, although complaints may be voiced in abundance."

ONE EXAMPLE

For example: How many commuters ever take the trouble to commend a good bus driver for delivering them to work on time despite all of the vicissitudes of rush-hour traffic?

Did you ever send a note to your laundry saying: "For the past three weeks, all of my shirts have been done just right"?

If the newspaper carrier is late one day, a dozen people on his route will give him a tongue lashing. How many think to praise him for getting their paper there on time the other 364 days of the year?

"Praise is especially valuable to those doing superficially dull and unrewarding jobs," says Miss Graham. And at the head of this category, she puts housewives.

"Do you ever go into a house and say, 'What a lovely, tidy room!'? Hardly anybody does. That's why housework is considered such a dreary grind —not because it is arduous in itself, but because it is taken for granted and thought beneath the notice of any civilized person.

"Comment is often made about activities which are relatively easy and satisfying like arranging flowers, but not about jobs which are hard and dirty, like scrubbing floors. Since praise so often is the only wage a housewife receives, surely she of all people should get it."

Children also need praise. If they get nothing but criticism and scolding from those whose approval means most to them, they will conclude they aren't much good and their conduct will begin to conform to this self-image.

Three Vacation Bible Schools To Begin Soon

Three vacation Bible schools are announced to start within two weeks.

Beginning Monday, Calvary Baptist Church in Larkspur, will begin a week of classes with the theme, "God's Son for Our World." Sessions will be from 9 a.m. to noon with classes for ages 4 through 11.

Rev. William D. Brown, pastor, said the classes will treat missionary studies as well as crafts and recreation.

A two-week study session for children of all faiths will begin July 29 at the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, Tiburon. Classes will be held daily, 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Advance registration is required with deadline on Tuesday.

One of the features will be a religious study course directed by Rev. Calvin Frisch and a staff of six teachers.

"Tell the Good News," is the theme for vacation school, which also begins, July 29, at Resurrection Lutheran Church in Terra Linda.

Classes will be conducted from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. daily with worship service, Bible study, music and crafts for kindergarten-age children through seventh grade students.

Also participating will be the Faith Lutheran Church of Terra Linda and Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael.

Youth To Have Special Niche

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — Youth has a special niche in the Assemblies of God Council on Evangelism to be held at St. Louis Aug. 26-29.

A full slate of youth activities will be featured as a "Third Dimension" in conjunction with the council sessions.

"While the adults meet in the Gateway and Sheraton-Jefferson hotels for morning sessions, we will meet in a third place — Kiel Auditorium," said Rev. Jerry Sandidge, college youth representative for the denomination.

Oldest Church

ST. GEORGE, Bermuda (UPI)—St. Peter's Church here is the oldest Anglican Church in continuous use in the Western Hemisphere. It holds examples of workmanship and materials from the 17th through the 20th centuries.

PEAK IN 1955

Changing Look Towards Religion

By LOUIS CASSELS
U.P. International

During the late 1940s and most of the 1950s, religion was "in."

Newspapers and magazines were full of articles about the "religious revival" sweeping the country.

BUILDING SPREE

Church membership soared and churches across the land went on a $1-billion-a-year building spree to provide suitably large and lavish housing for their growing congregations.

Here and there, voices of caution were raised by people who took their Christianity or Judaism seriously. They saw in the "revival" too little evidence of mature faith and solid commitment, too many signs of a frothy religiosity precariously based on the un-Biblical notion that if you're nice to God, He'll see to it that you get ahead in the world.

The religious boom began to run out of steam in the early 1960s. The ebbing of popular interest could be seen in the Gallup organization's periodic surveys of church attendance.

In 1955, at the peak of the boom, 49 per cent of America's adults were in church on a typical Sunday morning. By 1965, the figure had dropped to 44 per cent, where it has remained.

An even more striking measure of the shift in public attitudes was another Gallup study in which a representative cross-section of Americans was asked:

LOSING OUT?

"At the present time, do you think religion as a whole is increasing its influence on American life or losing its influence?"

In 1957, 69 per cent said religion was increasing its influence. By 1967, the majority view was just the opposite. Fifty-seven per cent said religion was losing its influence.

These figures are fair warning to churches and synagogues that they can no longer count on the pressures of social conformity to bring adults to worship services and children to Sunday school.

A suburban family can now dispense with active religious affiliation without fear of being looked down upon by the neighbors.

They also suggest that congregations would be wise to prepare for belt-tightening on their budgets. They may need to tone down expansive ideas about staff and facilities which seemed financially feasible during the days when the number of pledging families was growing by leaps and bounds.

Cassandras offer that interpretation is as unrealistic—and obvious to history—as the Pollyannas of the 1950s who thought the religious boom would go on forever.

DONE BETTER

Throughout the millenia in which they have kept the torch of faith alight, Christianity and Judaism have invariably done better—in the sense of remaining true to their mission—during periods in which religion was out of popular favor, or even subject to persecution.

The danger periods have been those in which religion was "in" and going to church the thing to do.

In times of superficial prosperity, churches and synagogues are tempted to soft-pedal the Bible's stern admonitions about righteousness and self-discipline, which are apt to be unsettling to tentative new members who have come shopping for "peace of mind."

They are reluctant either to make sacrifices, or to demand them of their members.

Religion in America has just come through a danger period of great popularity. Now it can look forward to being tested, tempered, deepened and purified by a little adversity.

Lutheran Branch Planning Overhaul

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The American Lutheran Church at its convention in Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16-22, will consider the first structural changes proposed since the 2.5-million-member church was formed by the merger of four church bodies in 1960.

A special long range study committee has been working since November 1966, on recommendations, including an almost complete rewrite of the present constitution and bylaws, to be submitted to the convention.

Revival Going

Evangelist Marie Uzzel and her son, John, and daughter, Laura, who have conducted services in Marin, are currently conducting sessions at the Central Assembly of God Church, 917 Temple, Santa Rosa. The meetings are held daily at 7:30 p.m. and on Sundays at 7 p.m.

ONE HURT, AUTO WRECKED

Reynolds K. Reinke, 22, of Antioch (right) stares disconsolately at his sports car, which overturned in a collision yesterday on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas that sent one person to Marin General Hospital. Barbara Elson, 20, of Antioch, a passenger in Reinke's auto, was ejected by the collision and was reported in fair condition today at the hospital with back injuries and multiple cuts and scrapes. Driver of the other auto was Edward M. Gaffney, 70, (in suit) of Inverness Park and San Francisco. Reinke was cited by the California Highway Patrol for driving to the left of double yellow lines.

Peru's Police Fight Abandoned Old Cars

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—Police have begun a campaign to haul the estimated 3,000 abandoned automobiles in this city to the junkyard.

Law enforcement officials found that the cars served as homes for vagrants and hiding places for thieves.

State Senate Works Today With Heavy Load Of Bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature is struggling to find an area of compromise over reform as it heads toward adjournment.

The Assembly took a two-day weekend.

In separate action yesterday, the Senate:

Tacked a rider to Gov. Ronald Reagan's $155 million property tax relief bill to provide up to $55 million a year to pay back cities, counties and school districts for funds they would lose by its repeal of the household goods tax.

Approved and sent to the Assembly a bill by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, forbidding cities and counties from boosting the sales tax above the present 1 per cent allowed for local purposes from the 5-cent state-authorized tax.

Meanwhile, the Assembly voted 54-18 to give a $2 million tax break to the movie industry by exempting the industry from paying the business inventory tax on "intangible" values such as the potential entertainment value of a film.

Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D - Fresno, lower house sponsor of the bill, said the legislation was necessary to curb unemployment and encourage the movie industry to make more films in California.

But Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, charged, "we are doublecrossing the property taxpayers of California because we promised them over-all tax relief and instead they are getting this kind of special interest legislation."

The Senate adopted amendments to Reagan's property tax relief bill sponsored by Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, it repeals the household furnishing tax effective July 1, 1969, in addition to appropriating $155 million this year for counties to use to reduce property taxes.

Traffic Experts, City Council Focus On Hub

The changing face of the Hub in San Anselmo may change again within the next year or two, but first the city must decide whether to enlarge Center Boulevard, shown running down from the center of this photo. The city council has been considering, along with many vocal citizens attending its meetings, the choices of making Center or Sir Francis Drake Boulevard (running to the left) the main traffic artery leading west from the junction of Sir Francis Drake from the east and Redhill Avenue from San Rafael. Residents along Center Boulevard have objected to a plan involving widening it to six lanes, especially if there is no agreement with Fairfax to accommodate the increased traffic which would flow on Center. The camera is looking eastward with the Miracle Mile at top and Sir Francis Drake crossing from Ross (right) toward the Redhill Shopping Center (lower left). (Aero Photographers photo by Ed Brady).

'Evil Eighteenth' Holds Key In PGA Tourney

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The "evil eighteenth" eyed more victims in today's third round of the 50th PGA championship, but few expected the toll to be much heavier than it was yesterday when it belted Jack Nicklaus right out of the tournament.

The cruel closing hole dampened the hopes also of Frank Beard and rookie Marty Fleckman, but they managed to cushion themselves enough before they got there to tie for the 36-hole lead with two-under-par 138s.

Fleckman double-bogeyed the 18th, enabling Beard, who only bogeyed it, to catch him. For the day, Beard shot an even par 70 over Pecan Valley Country Club's slender 7,096-yard, par 35-35—70 layout and Fleckman had a 72. Fleckman had gone into the second round with a 66 and a two-shot lead over Beard.

Arnold Palmer and Doug Sanders, two of the game's biggest names who have not been doing much lately, burst back into prominence but only Sanders conquered the 18th. Dapper Doug actually birdied that hole with a sizzling 36-31—67 for a one-under-par 139 at the halfway point.

Palmer, showing flashes of his old self before he, too, bogeyed 18, shot a 69 to go into the third round at even par 140 and only two strokes behind the leaders. Tied with him at 140 were U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, who had a 71 yesterday, George Archer, with a 69, and Miller Barber and Johnny Pott, with 70s.

But it was curtains for Nicklaus, one of the pre-tournament co-favorites. Big Jack shot a 39-40—79, climaxed by his bogey five on the 458-yard, par four 18th and that knocked him out of the money for only the third time in a major tournament.

The other pre-tourney choice, Billy Casper, had a 70 yesterday and he was at 144, four over par and six strokes off the pace. He could have been at 142 except for a double bogey on the "ridiculous" 18th.

Defending champion Don January barely made the cut, shooting a 71 for 149. Among those who did not survive the cutoff was Tom Weiskopf, second only to Casper in the money-winning derby. He stumbled home with an 82 for a horrendous 159. A total of 74 players made the cut.

Fleckman had a scrambling round as he offset three bogeys with three birdies and he would have had the lead at the halfway point had he not double-bogeyed the 18th when he put his first and second shots in the rough and three-putted from 30 feet for a 35-37—72.

Beard was steadier after he bogeyed the fourth and fifth holes. He birdied the 11th, 13th and 14th with some great long distance putting, but three-putted from the back of the green on 18 for a bogey and a 37-33—70.

The 93-degree summer heat was almost as much a menace as was the 18th and it may have cost Archer a better position. Big George took a dizzy spell on the 14th green and minutes later four-putted 15 for a double-bogey 6.

Four players were tied at 142—Don Bies, Dan Sikes, Julius Boros and Bob Charles. Another stroke back at 143 were Frank Boynton, Gardner Dickinson, Mac Hunter, Lou Graham, former champ Al Geiberger and Gay Brewer. With Casper at 144 were Dick Rhyan, Mason Rudolph and Al Mengert. Masters champion Bob Goalby was in the 145 group, while three-time champ Sam Snead and Dave Stockton were at 146.

This Tiger's Only Weakness — A Walk

A Detroit Tiger official at the World Series last year was moaning over the fact that an Achilles tendon operation would cut down the range of his leftfielder in 1968. "Willie Horton," he mourned, "won't be able to run fast."

There were lots of dry eyes in the house. And lots of dry remarks. "That," an overhearer paraphrased Bob Zuppke, "is like Careigie Hall announcing that Caruso would be unable to dance this evening. Or Andy Williams will have to forego card tricks."

"Where Willie Horton hits 'em," announced Bill Rigney, "he can run with a cane. Nobody puts a clock on home runs. You don't have to leg out a ball in the seats."

LIKE WILLIE KELLER, Willie Horton "hits 'em where they Ain't." Or, as someone once said of Babe Ruth, "He hits 'em where they're never gonna be."

Horton never was much for beating out infield hits anyway. In fact, after a few good meals, Willie sometimes had difficulty beating out hits to the outfield.

WILLIE IS the pudgiest slugger in the big leagues since Roy Campanella, whom he somewhat resembles, particularly when the pitcher sends him a hanging curve. Willie's batting style is modeled after a guy lowering himself into a hot tub. He leads the league in one-handed home runs. He could hit 20 a year with a mop handle, in fact, maybe with a mop. Even his popups sometimes don't come down 'til the next day. An infielder has time to make a long-distance call between impact and the time the ball hits the glove. His only problem is, the ball may have snow on it.

WHATEVER ELSE he is, William Wattison Horton, 25, one of a family of 21 who lived in a two-room, third-floor mansion in a section of Detroit known incongruously as "Paradise Valley," is the greatest slugger in the major leagues. A large statement, you say? Not at all. William Wattison had 20 ring fights as a kid. He flattened opponents as if they were so many high fastballs out over the plate.

HE MIGHT be fighting yet except the family disapproved. Willie was the youngest and most pampered of the family (once he got out of sleeping in the bureau drawer) and when he kept showing up at home with a black eye, his father murmured, "Better get that boy some glasses, Ma, the way he keeps bumping into doors." The heavyweights lost a contender the night the Horton family turned on the television and there they saw that Willie wasn't bumping into doors after all but into left jabs.

If Willie Horton ever makes the Hall of Fame (and some scouts make that an "out" price), they should include a picture of James Thomas Horton. This was Willie's daddy, who has played in the Negro leagues in his youth, sending his meager salary home to the family in Arno, Va., and coming home himself in the winter to work in the mines.

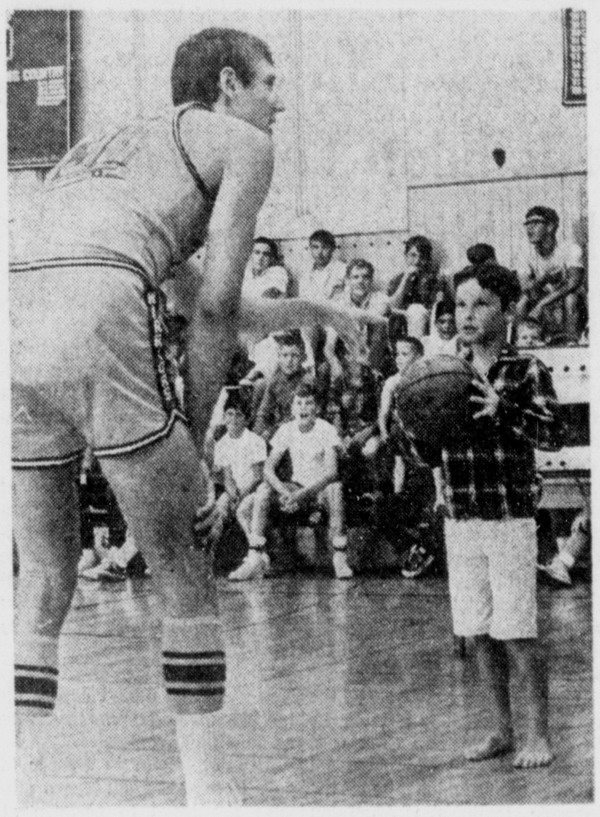
JAMES THOMAS not only took his boy out of the ring, he put him in a barrel. Willie had a tendency to sway in swinging on a curve ball, to jerk his head off the pitch. Dad cured that at a cost of only a few broken windows, and a staved barrel with the bottom knocked out.

Later, when Willie signed as a catcher for $35,000 and then got homesick both for his two-room flat and the catcher's box, when Duluth tried to make an outfielder out of him, Dad persuaded his runaway son to return to the game and tough it out. "I would have played underground for the money they're giving you," he warned his boy.

WILLIE'S DAD and mother, who were married 47 years, were killed in a snow storm when they crashed into a plow in Albion, Mich., in the winter of '65. Willie had bought a home for them only two years before.

It is a mistake to think that stout people are not strong people. Babe Ruth's nickname in the German community was "der Starke," the "Strong One." Willie Horton is in the same mold. The only weights he ever lifted were the back ends of cars so buddies could fix flats, but Willie is so strong, if he bought a Volkswagen he'd tell them to wrap it, as he had some other things to pick up, too. "He hits broken-bat homeruns," his manager, Mayo Smith, marvels.

UNLESS THE league pitchers prey on his weakness, a base on balls, Willie just might get to break a few bats — and a few seats — in the World Series this fall. The only trouble is, Willie will be sorry that the one person he'd want in those seats will be lying in the nearby Memorial Park Cemetery.



WHAT NOW, LITTLE SUPER-STAR?

Nine-year-old Danny Islas of 347 Starling Road in Mill Valley is confronted by a huge problem, to him at any rate, as he faces six-foot, nine-inch Clyde Lee of the San Francisco Warriors during the Warriors' basketball clinic at Tamalpais High School this week. Young Islas eyes Lee, prepares to go to Lee's right side, then turns in a happy blur to the delight of almost 250 youngsters watching the show. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Athletics Climb In Pennant Race

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Oakland Athletics sent Jim Nash, 6-6, to the pitching mound today trying to keep them in fifth place in the American League.

Reggie Jackson's three-run homer and John "Blue Moon" Odom's pitching shot them into the first division past their Friday night victim, Minneapolis. The score was 4-2.

Nash will be opposed by one-time ace Dean Chance who is 8-9 this season with the Twins.

Odom and Jackson had great support from Campy Campaneris, who had a perfect four-hit night.

"It's the first time I've gone 4 for 4 in two years," the speedy shortstop remarked. "It feels real good.

"I haven't been beating out as many hits as previously because I was hit in the leg by a pitch and it's been bothering me for several days."

Odom told sports writers, "I had a good fast ball and was using my slider quite a bit."

INJURED SHOULDER

He reported he hurt his shoulder several weeks ago and it started bothering him in the fifth inning. He tired in the ninth inning, walked the first batter and "I figured I had had it."

Manager Bob Kennedy sent in reliever Diego Segui, who retired the side without trouble to preserve the victory.

Jackson's three-run homer came in the first inning behind singles by Rick Monday and Sal Bando. Loser Jim Merritt, 5-10, was the victim.

Odom advanced to 8-6 with the triumph.

He confined the Twins scoring to the first inning.

Cesar Tovar was hit with a pitch and Rich Reese singled him to third. Tovar scored on a wild pitch. A sacrifice fly scored Reese, who had stolen second and moved to third when Tovar bolted home.

The A's scored an insurance run in the sixth on the third of four straight hits by Bert Campaneris, a sacrifice and a single by Bando.

Failure To Hit In Clutch Continues To Kill Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Manager Harry Walker of the Houston Astros, a student of hitting, doesn't think much of the San Francisco Giants' batting attack.

"They're not swinging at the ball very well," Walker said after his Astros whipped the Giants 3-1 at Candlestick Park last night.

"I can think of only two balls that they hit solid in the game —one by Mays and one by McCovey," Walker added.

If the Giants are still a pennant contender, they are keeping it a secret from the fans. Inability to hit with runners in scoring position ruined them again against Houston.

San Francisco had the bases loaded with one out in the ninth inning but Bobby Schroder hit into a double play to end the game.

DIDN'T WORK

Herman Franks, the lame-duck manager of the Giants, tried to play one-run baseball early in the game but that didn't work either.

In fact, not much of anything Franks has done lately has turned out right. He has indicated he will quit as manager at the conclusion of the season if the Giants do not win the pennant.

The Giants are back at the .500 mark—46 wins and 46 defeats—and missed a chance to catch up on the three teams ahead of them in the standings. St. Louis, Philadelphia and Atlanta also lost last night.

The losing pitcher for the Giants was Gaylord Perry. He gave up eight hits in seven innings. All three Astro runs were off Perry although one could be charged to third baseman Jim Ray Hart.

SLOW ROLLER

Hart let a slow roller by winning pitcher Don Wilson go and the ball hit third base for a single that scored a run.

"I'll take any kind of base hit as long as it drives in a run," the happy Wilson said.

He was forced to leave the game in the seventh inning because of a pulled muscle in his right shoulder. The injury is not expected to keep him out of the starting rotation.

Wilson struck out only three batters after tying a major league record with 18 strikeouts in his last start. Wilson said he didn't have good stuff but he was making the Giants hit the pitches he wanted them to.

49ers Lose A Few But Gain A Few

SANTA BARBARA, (UPI) — Four San Francisco 49ers marched away yesterday for two weeks duty in the reserve while three others were expected to march back during the weekend.

Leaving to fill their armed forces commitments for two weeks were tackle Roland Lakes, defensive backs Jim Johnson and Kermit Alexander and tight end Bob Windsor.

Due back from the service were flanker Dick Witcher, and defensive backs Mel Phillips and Jim Jackson.

NEW PLAYS

Coach Dick Nolan installed some new plays during the practice session, worked on passing and put two free agents on waivers. They were Paul Lord, a pass receiver from Fiske University, and Pat Brewin, a Seattle quarterback.

In the meantime, club officials awaited a ruling by NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle on how the club should be compensated by the New Orleans Saints who recently signed split end Dave Parks as a free agent. Parks played out his option with the 49ers last year.

Karen Muir Sets American Mark In L.A. Swim

LOS ANGELES (UPI)--Mark Spitz of Santa Clara tries for a new record in the 200 meter freestyle today in the featured event of the 10th annual Los Angeles Invitational Swim Championship.

In the first day of competition yesterday, South Africa's Karen Muir set a new American record of 1:07.3 in the women's 100 meter backstroke, bettering the mark of 1:07.7 set by Kathy Ferguson in 1964.

Four meet records were set in the first day's swimming. They were by Ann Simmons, Lakewood Aquatic Club, of 4:38.6 in the women's 400 meter freestyle; Debbie Hudson, Celebrity Swim Club, of 2:48.9 in the 200 meter breaststroke; Gregg Charlton of Long Beach in the men's 300 meter freestyle and by Mark Mader, LAAC, of 1:02.0 in the men's 100 meter backstroke.

Ross Youth Leads Marin Junior Golf Qualifiers

Fifteen-year-old Jim Wilhelm of Ross, a junior at Bellarmine High School, paced a field of 14 Marin qualifiers yesterday with a medalist score of 75 at the Marin County qualification tournament for the Northern California Golf Association's Junior Amateur Championships at Lake Merced Aug. 19-23.

Wilhelm, representing Meadow Club on his home course in Fairfax, was two strokes better than runnerup John Abendroth of the Olympic Club in San Francisco, who shot a 77. Tied at 78 were George Carewe of Ross and Richard Grey of Greenbrae, both from Meadow Club.

Alternates were Wayne Smith (82), Mill Valley; Craig Smith (83), Mill Valley; Arthur Carewe (88), Meadow Club; Tom Schaal (90), Meadow Club; Elliott Powers, (90), Peacock Gap.

Also competing in the tournament were Ross Blake, Indian Valley; Bob Dowling, Peacock Gap; Wayne Duerson, Mill Valley; Jeff Hanson, Meadow Club; Bruce Maize, Mill Valley; Kim McMurray, Meadow Club; Bob Peterson, Meadow Club; Tim Tobin, Olympic Club, and Bob Zimmerman, Meadow Club.

Mill Valley Stays Alive In Tourney

The Mill Valley All-Stars returned from their Wednesday 8-6 loss to the Travis Air Force Base All-Stars to defeat Travis 16-9 in Babe Ruth District Seven tournament play last night at Wilson Park in Vallejo.

Mill Valley earned the right to continue tournament play and has two games scheduled against Vallejo today, both of which must be won in order to stay in the running.

Jim LaTorre hurled an eight strikeout game to help Mill Valley come from behind in the third inning and into a lead maintained throughout the game.

Andy Annixter blasted out a triple with one man on and found himself running all the way home on a Travis error. Jan Brink and Bob Grider each had scoring doubles.

Napa, Crosby Golf Events Slated For Next January

COMBINED AP & UPI

OAKLAND — The second annual Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament wil be played next Jan. 13-19 at the Silverado Country Club in Napa.

A tournament spokesman said yesterday that the prize money would be raised from $125,000 to $135,000.

PEBBLE BEACH — The Bing Crosby International Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament will be played Jan. 23-26, according to general manager Larry Crosby.

The brother of the famed singer said yesterday that purses would total $150,000, the highest in the tournament's history. Last year's money came to $104,500, Crosby said.

Approximately 40 amateurs will play in the final 18 holes of the 72-hole tournament on the concluding day at Pebble Beach.

The PGA also said it would reconsider its objections to playing the tough Spyglass Hill course. The other courses for the tournament are Pebble Beach and Cypress Point.

AUTO RACING

BRANDS HATCH, England — Graham Hill of Britain averaged nearly 107 miles per hour in a Lotus Ford to take the pole position for the start of today's British Grand Prix auto race.

BRISTOL, Tenn. — Leroy Yarbrough, winning the pole position for tomorrow's Volunteer 500 stock car race with a speed of 87.421 miles per hour, led seven drivers in breaking the race's qualifying record.

SAILING

NEWPORT, R.I. — Bernard Rodriguez of Hyde Park, N.Y., sailed his 25 foot trimaran across the finish line in Plymouth, England, to win the single-handed race in the unofficial time of 47 days, 16 hours and 55 minutes. He became the 17th to finish.

TRAVEMUNDE, Germany — Ondine, a 73-foot ketch skippered by S.A. "Huey" Long of New York, pulled to within 20 nautical miles of the leading Stormvogel in the Bermuda-to-Travemunde yacht race.

TENNIS

ST. LOUIS — Dick Stockton of Garden City, N.Y., and Butch Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., gained the Boys' 18 division in the St. Louis Invitational Junior tennis tournament.

The tourney will be held July 29-Aug. 2 at Mill Valley Tennis Club. Entries may be sent to Mrs. Kenneth Stevens at 6A Vasco Drive in Mill Valley. It's open to all juniors ages 12-18.

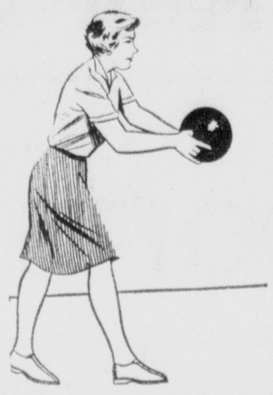
FOOTBALL

LOS ANGELES — David "Deacon" Jones, an all-pro and a vital link in the Los Angeles Rams' Fearsome Foursome, says he won't play this season unless he gets a salary increase.

Jones, fellow defensive specialist Merlin Olsen, and offensive end Jack Snow are the only holdouts from the Ram training camp in Fullerton but all are stars.

BOWLING TIPS

BY MARION LADEWIG



Be sure that you are actually starting your swing, not just carrying the ball in front of you for a couple of steps when you begin your push-away. The push-away should be in a flowing, forward-and-down move.

Carrying the ball in place while walking, will result in your reaching the foul line far ahead of your swinging ball. You will be forced to throw the ball entirely with your arm, losing all the momentum of your approach.

Detroit's Unlikely Hero

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Not since Floyd Giebell 28 years ago have the Detroit Tigers had such an unlikely hero as Tom Matchick.

The Tigers were battling the Cleveland Indians for the American League pennant in late 1940. They had a crucial three-game series with the Indians coming up and knew they would face Bob Feller in the first game.

In one of the most spectacular gambles in baseball history, the Tigers started Giebell, who had appeared in only 10 games and scored two victories in two seasons for them, against the great Cleveland pitcher. It is part of the Tigers' rich lore that Giebell beat Feller in the key game and the Tigers went on to win the pennant.

Giebell never won another game for the Tigers and Matchick may never hit another home run for them. But the one the 23-year-old shortstop hit to give the Tigers a 5-4 ninth-inning victory over the Baltimore Orioles last night looms as the biggest hit so far in the 1968 pennant race and could be the blow the Tigers look back on as the one that put them "home free."

HORTON HURT

The Tigers, starting a four-game series with the Orioles, were threatened with a 4-3 loss that would have cut their first-place lead to 6½ games. Moreover, slugging outfielder Willie Horton had suffered torn muscles in his left abdominal wall attempting to make a shoestring catch in the sixth inning and was lost to the team for the remainder of the series.

Then came Machick's dramatic homer on a 3-and-2 pitch by Moe Drabowsky and the Tigers had their biggest victory of the season and a 7½-game lead over idle Cleveland while the Orioles dropped to third, 8½ games off the pace.

Matchick, who had hit only one previous homer and was batting .233 this season, delivkered his game-winning blow after the Tigers scored one run on Jim Northrup's single, a walk to Al Kaline, an infield out and a force play. The entire Tiger team met Matchick at the plate and escorted him off the field as a guard of honor while the crowd of 53,208 in Detroit roared its tribute.

The Orioles had taken an early 2-0 lead on Frank Robinson's homer and built it to 4-0 in the sixth on Brooks Robinson's double, Dave Johnson's single, a sacrifice fly by Paul Blair and a single by Don Buford. The Tigers had scored in their sixth on Don Wert's walk and Dick McAuliffe's two-run homer.

Alcindor Tells Why He Nixes Olympics

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, UCLA's basketball All-American, said he decided not to try for the Olympic team because of schoolwork and "the atmosphere that it's wrong to represent this country and then have to come back . . . and face the music all over again."

The 7-foot-1½, 21-year-old New Yorker explained his position yesterday on NBC's "Today Show," while being interviewed by Joe Garagiola and Ed Newman.

NBC made the transcript available today.

Alcindor was asked about the Negro movement to boycott the Olympics in Mexico City, Oct. 12-27, and for his opinion "should black athletes be on the Olympic team, the American Team?"

"Well, I know I'm not going because there's just too many things that point against it," he said. "I have to go to school and, plus, you know, the atmosphere is that it's wrong to represent this country and then have to come back and, you know, face the music all over again." "But you live here," said Garagiola.

"Yeah, I live here, but it's not really my country you know," said Alcindor.

"Well, then there's only one solution then," said Garagiola. "Maybe you should move."

MOVE WHERE?

"Well, you see, that would be fine with me, you know, but it all depends on where are we going to move?" said Alcindor.

At this time, there was a station break. When the program resumed, Garagiola said he and Newman talked further with Alcindor about his statement that "it's not really my country."

Garagiola said Alcindor clarified the comment.

"I think that in fairness to him," said Garagiola, "we ought to clarify it, because . . . he did when he said that it's not his country as it is. He would like to live here and work . . ."

Newman added: "Yes, he'd like to change it so that, as he put it, he could feel it is his country, but he thinks it requires changes."

Alcindor, in answer to another question, said there was resentment among Negroes against some Negro stars who have refused to take a militant stand in the civil rights struggle.

"They come under a lot of criticism," said Alcindor, "because . . . there are certain evident truths that they seem to disregard. Certain people will say, 'Well, look, I made it. How come other people don't work so hard.'

"But they're a talented tenth. You know, I couldn't expect all the kids in the community to be as good as I am."

Alcindor, again in answer to questions, said most Negro athletes are hired to perform at colleges and their education is secondary.

"He's there first . . . to win games and secondarily to get an education."

He agreed that most white athletes are also hired, but added, "Most white athletes have a certain advantage when they come from better schools and they're more prepared to do college work."

Alcindor is doing volunteer work with Operation Sports Rescue in New York. He advises youngsters on how to get an education and appears with other sports stars in clinics.

Women Miss Triplicates In Bowling

By GARY TISCHLER

The Bowlerettes of San Rafael's Country Club Bowl and triplicates tried and tried but just couldn't get hooked up this week.

Both Bunny Galvin and Lee Jacobs had cracks at same-same series, Bunny missing a 124 triplicate with a 156 and Lee missing a 144 three times with a 126 game. Pat Curry also missed a 123 triplicate with a 112 slipup.

Bobbie Hoover had the top series in the Bowlerettes with a 543.

Looking up and up at Country Club, Ed Henry rolled a fat and amazingly consistent four-game series of 914 in the 550 Scratch League followed by teammates Frank Bernardi, 900, Elmer Tynes, 888, and Fred Schwab, 869. Bernardi had two 255 games in his set, and Henry had a 254 tops while Schwab came in with a 246 and Tynes a 245.

Tops for the ladies was Lil Scotto with a 555 in the Ladies Scratch League for three-game series. She pushed through 206 and 202 games in the series.

Top games for the gents were Dan Burke's 259 and Orlando Conti's 258, in the 550 Scratch.

San Rafael Braves Host Yakima Nine

Litchfield's Braves of San Rafael, facing an uphill fight in defense of their Western Baseball Association championship, entertain the Yakima, Wash., Bears in a three-game series this weekend, opening with a single game tonight at 8 o'clock and a double-header at noon tomorrow — all games at San Rafael's Albert Field.

The Braves currently trail Eureka by one and one-half games but are all even in the vital loss column, each with eight. There are 15 games remaining on the schedule, only six of which are in the friendly confines of Albert Field. Thus, the Braves have their work cut out for them, particularly on a grueling week-long road trip beginning July 30.

Don Weir will start on the mound for San Rafael in tomorrow's series opener. Tomorrow it will be Ben Burch and Bill Clark.

ROSTER CHANGES

San Rafael Manager Joe Anselmo has announced some changes in his roster. Outfielder Doug Wilson will be missing from the lineup for two weeks while serving with his Army reserve unit. However, Rich Jeffries, the team's leading hitter in 1967 who has been playing ball in Canada, will return to the San Rafael lineup tonight for the rest of the season. Also, former All-League outfielder Jerry Daniele of Terra Linda has finished his Army service and will rejoin the local team.

San Rafael has five hitters batting over .300, including John Burnett, .400; Steve Small, .349; Dave Texdahl, .344; Mike Hazelhoffer, .309, and Tom Corder, .306.

Gatsby Softball Team Triumphs On A One-Hitter

Ralph Maxey pitched a one-hitter, striking out 10 to lead Gatsby's to a 5-0 victory over defending champion Brandon Tire Thursday night in the San Rafael Softball League's "B" Division at Albert Field.

Marin Softball Team In Tourney Debut Tomorrow

Sohner Tree Service softballers will open play tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the Tri-County District Tournament at Santa Rosa's Howarth Park.

The San Anselmo club will play the winner of tonight's Windsor Merchants-Good Spot game. Both Windsor and Good Spot are Sonoma County teams.

Thirteen clubs from Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties are entered in this year's double-elimination tourney.

Winner of the tournament will receive an automatic bid to the State Tourney in August.

But Sohner's immediate aim is a victory in the District Tourney, a feat the Treemen accomplished in 1965 when they became the first Marin team in 17 years to receive a bid to the State championships.

Sohner finished runner-up in both 1966 and 1967, losing in the finals by 3-2 and 1-0 scores.

Ace righthander Morey Swarm will get the starting call in Sunday's game. The talented hurler currently boasts a 21-8 record and a tiny 0.89 ERA.

Sohner's chances of winning received a severe jolt last week when pitcher Dave Shallenberger aggravated a previous knee injury and was ruled "doubtful" for the tournament.

'Midget' No-Hitters

Neil Rawlins, 9, of 26 Alderney Road and Mike Spencer, 9, of 18 Jordan Avenue have pitched seven-inning no-hitters this month in San Anselmo Midget League baseball. Mike struck out 17 in his effort.

Bells And Horns For Athletics

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Athletics' owner Charles O. Finley, not content with fireworks every time one of his players hits a home run, has further thrills in store for the fans.

A big brass bell and half a dozen railroad horns will be added to Finley's sound effects department for the A's next home stand.

The bell, which weighs 300 pounds and once adorned a railroad engine, will be rung along with the fireworks when an Oakland player hits a homer or when the Athletics win a game.

The horns, from a diesel engine, will be added later to complement the bell and the fireworks.

Clippers To Host Dallas Tomorrow

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Clippers, still far back in their bid for the leadership of the North American Soccer League's Pacific Division, take on the Dallas Tornado tomorrow afternoon in the Oakland Coliseum.

The Clippers beat Detroit 3-2 Tuesday to move within 24 points of San Diego, which leads the division. Sele Milosevic scored all three goals.

Surging Chiefs Battle Leaders In DiMag League

The on-rushing Mill Valley Chiefs tackle Annex Motors of Novato in a key Marin County Joe DiMaggio League game at Novato at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

The Chiefs have five victories in their last six games for a 6-3 won-lost record while Novato leads the league with an 8-1 mark.

In other games, Van Ness Dodge (1-8) meets Toby's Truckers (7-2) at Marin Catholic at 1 p.m., Herb's Pool Service (7-2) takes on Maggi's Florists (0-9) at Drake at 1 p.m. and Presidio (2-7) meets Indian Valley Lumber (5-4) at the Presidio at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Bowman Wins Tourney

Mrs. Lyle Bowman of San Rafael, representing Richmond Country Club, fired a 78 Thursday to win low gross honors in the Meadow Club Women's Golf Section Guest Day Tournament at the Fairfax course.

In 18-hole medal handicap competition, following are leaders:

Entries are still being accepted for the Novato Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament scheduled next Wednesday at Novato's Indian Valley course, Chariman Roger Hilman reports.

Open to the public, the 18-hole tournament will be played on a handicap basis. Golfers who have no established handicap will play under the Callaway system.

Entry fee is $6. Golfers may register at the Novato Chamber office at 867 Sweetser Avenue or at Ted Schuman Chevrolet, Central Valley Bank or Novato Savings and Loan Association.

MAY RETIRE

Drysdale Thinks He'll Be Traded

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale, star of the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching corps who recently set a major league record by hurling six stright shutouts, said yesterday he is seriously considering retiring at the end of this season.

And he believes he might be traded.

There was speculation that Drysdale might sign on as a pitching coach with the new expansion San Diego team in the National League, joining forces with his old general manager boss with the Dodgers, E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi. Bavasi is the San Diego president.

Contacted at his home, the 31-year-old right-hander said that before this season started he had thought of retiring after this year, but had not given the matter much thought since.

"I am not sure whether this is my last year or not but I'll know more about it in a couple of weeks," he said. "I just haven't had time to give the matter serious thought during the season.

"I would like to stay in baseball as a manager after I retire, but that will depend on a lot of things. I definitely want to stay in baseball though, possibly in front office work or as a coach if not a manager."

Drysdale said he has not talked to Bavasi about a job with the San Diego team.

"Of course, some things have been said between us in casual conversation, but we haven't talked seriously about it. Actually, Buzzie isn't eligible to negotiate with me about such matters anyway as it would be tampering because of his new job with San Diego.

"I think the Dodgers might trade me because they are in the process of rebuilding and it is hard to vizualize how I will fit into their future plans," said the man who pitched 58⅔ consecutive scoreless innings this season.

"I don't think I will go in the expansion draft, but a trade is a definite possibility," he said.

Drysdale said if he is traded he will decide then whether he will play for the new team.

Trevino Is Quickest Quipper In The West

Trevino told a marshal in yesday's second round, "If I can only get one more birdie, there will be 9,000 Mexicans out here tomorrow."

At even par 140 after 36 holes in the PGA championship, the stumpy Mexican-American said he appreciated what amounts to virtually a hometown gallery, but added, "None of the spectators can hit a shot for me.

"I figure I got where I am by myself and when I go out there I go out to play just for Lee Trevino and his family. If I play good, the credit is mine. If I play bad, it's my own fault."

He gave his gallery a treat and himself a scare on the eighth hole when he thought he stepped on a rattlesnake. Trevino jumped and danced away.

"I thought I was dead. I thought it was a snake, but it turned out only to be a frog in the froghair," he laughed.

The bronzed U.S. Open champion joked he was worried about getting too much of a tan under the searing South Texas sun.

"I carried an umbrella for two holes but my arm got tired," he said.

Asked if he was still was interested in buying The Alamo and giving it back to Mexico, Trevino said, "No I took a look at it and discovered it didn't have a back door!"

Today is Saturday, July 20, the 202nd day of 1968 with 164 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1945 the American flag was raised over Berlin and the first U.S. troops prepared to take over part of the occupied German City.

In 1965 Arthur Goldberg was named Ambassador to the United Nations.

A thought for the day: French writer Voltaire said, "It is better to risk saving a guilty person than to condemn an innocent one."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Caution Of Maturity Pays Off Against Boldness Of Youth

There comes a time in every man's life when he realizes that he will not make all the money in the world, nor collect all the medals or have all the beautiful girls swooning at his feet. Bridge players learn this lesson earlier than fost, usually from something like today's hand.

QUEEN OPENER

West opens the queen of hearts, and the immature player takes the king of hearts at once in order to lead the ten of spades. West covers with the queen of spades, and our youthful hero wins in dummy with the king.

After taking two more top spades our hero discovers that the suite has not broken favorably. The dummy is now useless, and South falls back on his diamonds.

"Falls" is the right word, for the diamonds give South no support. West defeats the contract with heart and diamond tricks, and he may even collect a penalty of 200 points if South is venturesome enough.

CAUTIOU SPLAY

The mature bridge player knows that he is not going to win all the tricks in the world. He may refuse the first heart trick, or he may win it, but he surely will not take the first spade trick in the dummy. When West covers the ten of spades with the queen, a mature South will continuously play a low spade from dummy.

MORE HEARTS

West continues with the hearts, and South wins and leads his other spade. Now dummy's three top spades are enough to draw all the spades held by East. Dummy's four of spades is then good, and South has enough tricks for his contract.

Three cheers for the eubllience and optimism of youth, but score 600 points for the caution of maturity.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 12 points in high cards and two points for the doubletons but this hand is still not worth an opening bid. Avoid counting full value for doubleton queens, and avoid opening any borderline hand which contains only one of the eight aces and kings.

Japan Hopes To Have Highest TV Tower

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan's Nippon Television Network (NTV) plans to construct the world's tallest television tower in Tokyo. An NTV spokesman said the 1,800-foot tower will be built during the next two years at a cost of about $41 million.

A 20-story apartment building will be built under the tower structure and an observation platform will be added at about the 1,000-foot level of the tower.

To landlords, owners, apt. managers: why put up with rental headaches?

Turn your vacancies into dollars & rents — fast

Where are the best prospects for that home or apartment you have to rent? How can you find them–fast, at low cost? With a sign in the window? Hardly. Fastest, surest way is through the rental columns of I-J Classified. No question about it . . . this is where renters look first. This is where your message gets to 40,000 Marin families–biggest rental marketplace in the county. Instead of random "lookers" you get interested people who have read your ad, know the price. Saves you time, money and headaches. Gets your place rented and saves that "vacancy" in the pocketbook. Just phone any I-J office, below, and start the action. Ask for Classified.

Automobiles Must Go! Bring Back The Horse

NEWS ITEM (from a recent issue of the I-J) — "San Rafael City Council is going to give some thought to banning the keeping of horses in the city.

"City Manager Dan E. Anderson noted there have been complaints about horse riding in the streets, flies and odors.

"I don't think there should be any in San Rafael, and I was going to ask the council to control it so they can't have horses in San Rafael," he said.

IF THERE IS ANYTHING we citizens like to see, it is a city administration which has our best interests at heart.

More power to 'em!

Presumably the matter of banning horses from the streets of San Rafael is now undergoing study, preparatory to the presentation of some firm recommendation to the council.

While this study is in progress is as good a time as any to set forth some related views. Who knows? They might shed light on the matters under study.

FIRST LET'S TAKE UP the matter of horse riding in the streets.

Actually, many of us think it is the large numbers of automobiles that are cluttering up the streets and congesting traffic, especially in the downtown areas.

It is true that pedestrians frequently use the crosswalks and thereby impede the free flow of auto traffic, but if the number of autos were drastically reduced — or if autos were eliminated altogether — the problem of pedestrian interference would be eliminated.

But this may be begging the question of pedestrian interference.

Obviously, if you eliminate pedestrians, downtown traffic could flow more smoothly with fewer interruptions.

A MORE SIGNIFICANT MEASURE, of course, is safety. This one turns out to be all in favor of horses.

For instance, we are all aware of the toll of auto accidents on our streets, but how long has it been since anyone died on the streets of San Rafael in a head-on buggy accident? How long since anyone on a horse perished when the animal he or she was riding struck a tree? How long since a pedestrian was run down by a horse in San Rafael? Nor have there been any recent reports of horses jumping the curb and ploughing into store fronts.

The statistical evidence certainly proves that our horses are far safer to live with than our automobiles.

FLIES? DON'T GIVE the automobile the benefit of the doubt here until the research findings are finally compiled and analyzed.

Consider this question, for instance: Will all the flies attracted by all the horses in San Rafael be greater in number than all the flies attracted by cars in San Rafael (1) containing the fly-attracting remnants of milk shakes spilled in them at drive-ins, (2) containing the crumbs from food munched in them at drive-in movies, (3) camped in by hippies, (4) regularly used to transport children who open their mothers' shopping bags and smear the contents about?

When the fly count research is in, it is a safe bet that the horse will "look good" by comparison with his mechanical transport competitor.

THE CITY MANAGER mentioned odors. We are with him; we want to keep our air pure.

Let's look at Bay Area Pollution Control District studies. All the pollutants released into the air by all the horses in the Bay Area don't add up to enough to be detected by the sensitive measuring instruments of science. Meanwhile, autos exhaust thousands of tons of pollutants into our air and give rise to the clouds of yellow smog which are becoming more frequently observed over San Rafael. By comparison, the horse is no offender.

THE FINAL PARAGRAPH of the aforementioned I-J news item was as follows:

"City Atty. David A. Menary Jr. said permits can be revoked if public health, sanitation and safety is involved."

If City Manager Anderson conducts his research thoroughly and fairly, he can come to only one conclusion concerning permit revocation "if public health, sanitation and safety is involved."

Autos must go.

Weird Cries In The Night

These summer evenings soon after darkness falls, Marinites on their porches and patios are apt to hear a weird, tremulo call from one hill top, which is answered by a similar call from another hill top.

These are owls, either calling to their mates or asserting their territorial rights. We suspect they are medium-sized screech owls, despite their large-size voices. But we don't claim to be owl experts.

BRICKBATS to dog owners who allow their pets to roam at large, harassing people, cars and other pets and defacing sidewalks and property.

A BRICKBAT to the new federal surcharge tax that begins biting further into our paychecks.

A BRICKBAT to the thief who ruined summer vacation plans of a San Anselmo family by raiding the family's camper truck of all food, clothing and supplies.

ROBOTS BETTER ALL THE TIME

A London professor has developed a robot that can set the table, make beds, dust, sweep, iron clothes, scrub floors, prepare food — and even fold itself up, put itself away and recharge its own batteries.

The professor, a noted engineer and inventor, predicts that within 10 years every family will have a robot, priced about the same as the family car, to take the drudgery out of the home.

"The robot of the future will have a very good logical brain," he predicted, "but it can never have the emotional brain. It will never do original or creative work."

Machines, computers and robots can be nothing more than the extension of the mind and the hands of man. They are neither good nor bad in themselves — only the one who operates them can be that.

The increased power of man in a technological age makes him more accountable to God for the far-reaching results of his actions or omissions. Seek His aid in matching your responsibility with your potential.

Stiff Penalty Urged For Gun Violation

An article appeared in the big city newspaper that is reminiscent of the age old query, "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?"

A S.F. gentleman, once a policeman in Scotland, states that to allow U.S. police to wear guns is "stupid." He, Donald Shaw Ramsay, has the dubious reputation of being the only Scotch policeman who was ever shot — the police there don't wear guns. Though seriously wounded he recovered, but the culprit who fired the gun got 99 years.

In this country the criminal might serve 99 days, (the bulk of his sentence having been suspended) or maybe less if he pleaded insanity and was institutionalized for rehabilitation. That's a joke friend! So we take the guns from the police and give stiff, 99 year sentences to the gun toters, but which comes first? If we can get our courts (Supreme first and foremost) to dish out these harsh penalties each and every time, then I'm all for removing the guns. Well?

Read Before Signing Recall Petition

What is the matter with some of the people that are signing the petition to recall Reagan. Can't they use their own judgment about this signing. Will they always be led by some radical individual. It is just a shame that they can't use their common sense of their own and read what they are signing.

State Control Needed Over Cable Television

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The fultility of regulating community antenna television at the county level clearly was shown Tuesday when three firms competing with one another in Marin hassled for almost two hours before the board of supervisors over franchises granted to them by the board.

Two of the firms wanted the third firm's franchises revoked in several areas, alleging that the third firm was doing a lousy job of serving the areas — and that they could do better.

The board never had wanted to get involved, arguing it was up to the state to regulate the growing industry. But the CATV industry's lobbyists in Sacramento annually have killed bills to empower the state Public Utilities Commission to regulate their clients.

CAUGHT BETWEEN inaction in Sacramento and homeowners' demands for service, the supervisors finally agreed to license the operators — but have found their regulation ineffective.

The key to the delay in providing service, according to testimony before the supervisors Tuesday, is the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, which has delayed more than a year in some areas to accomodate the television cables on its poles.

Pacific Telephone spokesmen, however, say it has been handicapped by a lack of personnel, but still is clearing about 13 miles a month for CATV.

The reason for the utility's delay is clear, said both supervisors and the cable television operators — Pacific Telephone wants to cash in on the profitable industry.

AGAIN, PACIFIC Telephone denies the CATV operators' charge. Yes, it's true that Pacific Telephone has filed a tariff with the PUC for leasing its own television cables to CATV operators — instead of allowing the operators to string their own — but the PUC has not acted on the tariff, the utility's spokesmen said.

An inevitable conclusion of the impasse is that county boards of supervisors are not equipped to deal with CATV — particularly when a company as large as Pacific Telephone is involved.

State legislators, of course, would have to hear long and loud from their constituents before legislation putting CATV under the Public Utilities Commisssion can have a chance of passage.

GOLDEN GATE Bridge and Highway District directors were less than politic when they voted last week to hire a new general manager to replace 70-year-old James Adam, who retires July 31.

A public body more attuned to the rest of the world would have delayed filling the post until after the Legislature adjourns, when it will be clearer than at this writing what bills affecting the district are passed.

The major bill affecting the district, AB 855, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would make significant changes in the composition of the board of directors — changes that could result in a board that might have different ideas on what to seek in a new general manager.

He also was one of the top five Plymouth salesmen in the nation in 1939. The district certainly needs a good salesman.

REMEMBER WHEN:

10 YEARS AGO

July 20, 1958

Frederick Leon Marcus, 39-year-old taxicab driver from San Francisco, was slated to become Marin County's first fulltime Negro sheriff's deputy.

20 YEARS AGO

Hasty Cutback In NATO Troops Will Weaken Bargaining Power

WASHINGTON — Congress could hardly do worse than to precipitate a radical, one-sided cutback of U.S. troops in Western Europe.

In a move with serious Congressional backing, Sen. Stuart Symington, D.-Mo., wants the Senate to tell the Defense Department that American forces in Europe must be cut down to 50,000 by the end of this year.

We now have 350,000 men serving with NATO in Western Europe. Symington would slash these forces to one-seventh of their present strength.

Good idea?

I think not.

WHAT I AM suggesting is not that Senator Symington is wrong in wanting to take a hard, skeptical look at what we are putting out to defend ourselves by helping to defend Western Europe, but that he is going about it the wrong way at the wrong time for the wrong reasons.

For the Senate, precipitately and unilaterally, to pull back 85 per cent of our armed forces in Western Europe through Symington's amendment to a defense appropriation bill in the harried, hectic climate of pre-convention adjournment is no way to make the military policy of the most powerful nation in a turbulent world.

There are good reasons for avoiding any hasty, back-of-the-wrist decision on troop deployment.

We have just successfully negotiated a new agreement with West Germany (where most U.S. troops are stationed) so that much of our dollar costs are made up by Bonn's purchase of military equipment and other ways.

AT THEIR JUNE meeting in Iceland the NATO foreign ministers initiated a move to explore simultaneous reduction of Soviet-Warsaw Pact troops and NATO troops in Europe. Why throw away a vital negotiating card by reducing NATO forces without even trying to get a reciprocal Soviet cutback? Bear in mind that it was only after the Senate approved our going ahead with the anti-missile system that the Soviets agreed it was time to begin talks on nuclear arms reduction.

Is it prudent for the Senate to force the President to reduce troop strength in Germany at the very moment when the East Germans, with Moscow's approval, are again harassing the access routes to West Berlin?

Is the U.S. bearing an inordinate burden in the common defense of Western Europe?

NATO has already given Western Europe a longer period of peace than any previous time in this century. We had better not tinker with it lightly.

A SENATOR'S NOTEBOOK

Republicans Have Wealth Of Candidates For Veep

By EVERETT McKINLEY DIRKSEN

Americans are more interested than ever in who is going to be Vice President, and well they may be. Past events have shown us how important the Vice Presidency is.

The Vice Presidency has become very important. No longer are good men wasted in that office. Thomas Riley Marshall of Indiana and Albin W. Barkley of Kentucky were two men who brought great attention to the office, not because of legislative matters, however, but because they almost humanized the office.

Mr. Marshall, under President Wilson, cried out the need in the United States for what he described as "a good 5-cent cigar."

Mr. Barkley brought attention to the office when he coined the name "Veep" for the Vice President. He was President Truman's "Veep."

IT WAS AFTER the adoption of the 12th Amendment to the Constitution, that provided the electors make the choice for each of the offices of President and Vice President, that the present system of choosing the vice presidential candidate began. Before that time, the original provision in the Constitution called for the selection of two persons by the presidential electors. Whoever received the highest vote became President. The second, highest became Vice President.

Ever since 1856, the major political parties have selected their candidates at their national conventions. In a certain sense, the statement needs some qualification, because the nominee for Vice President is not selected in quite the same way as the Presidential candidate. This is the way it's done:

AFTER EACH national convention adopts its platforms and selects its nominee for the Presidency, a day and night and sometimes two intervene. The time affords a chance for a group of party leaders to meet and discuss the Vice Presidency. I have been a party to two such discussions.

The meeting of the party leaders usually takes place at midnight in some secluded place. The presidential nominee sits at the head of the table. There is but one question to consider — who for Vice President? Everyone present has a full, fair chance to discuss the question and suggest his choice for the second spot. This talk goes on for hours.

When everyone has been heard, the final decision lies with the nominee for President. Every possible factor is considered.

NOTHING IS overlooked. And when the nominee makes his choice, that's IT. Invariably the national convention ratifies the choice made in that secluded room.

In 1968, there are many prospective choices for the nominee for the Vice Presidency on the Republican ticket. Listing them alphabetically, these are some of the men who come to mind:

Among senators — Howard Baker of Tennessee, age 43, and the first Republican to be elected from that state since its admission to the Union; Mark Hatfield of Oregon, age 46, served as governor of his state for eight years; Charles Percy of Illinois, age 49, a successful businessman at the age of 30; John Tower of Texas, age 43, professor of political science, the youngest senator in the 87th Congress and the first Republican to be elected senator in Texas since 1870.

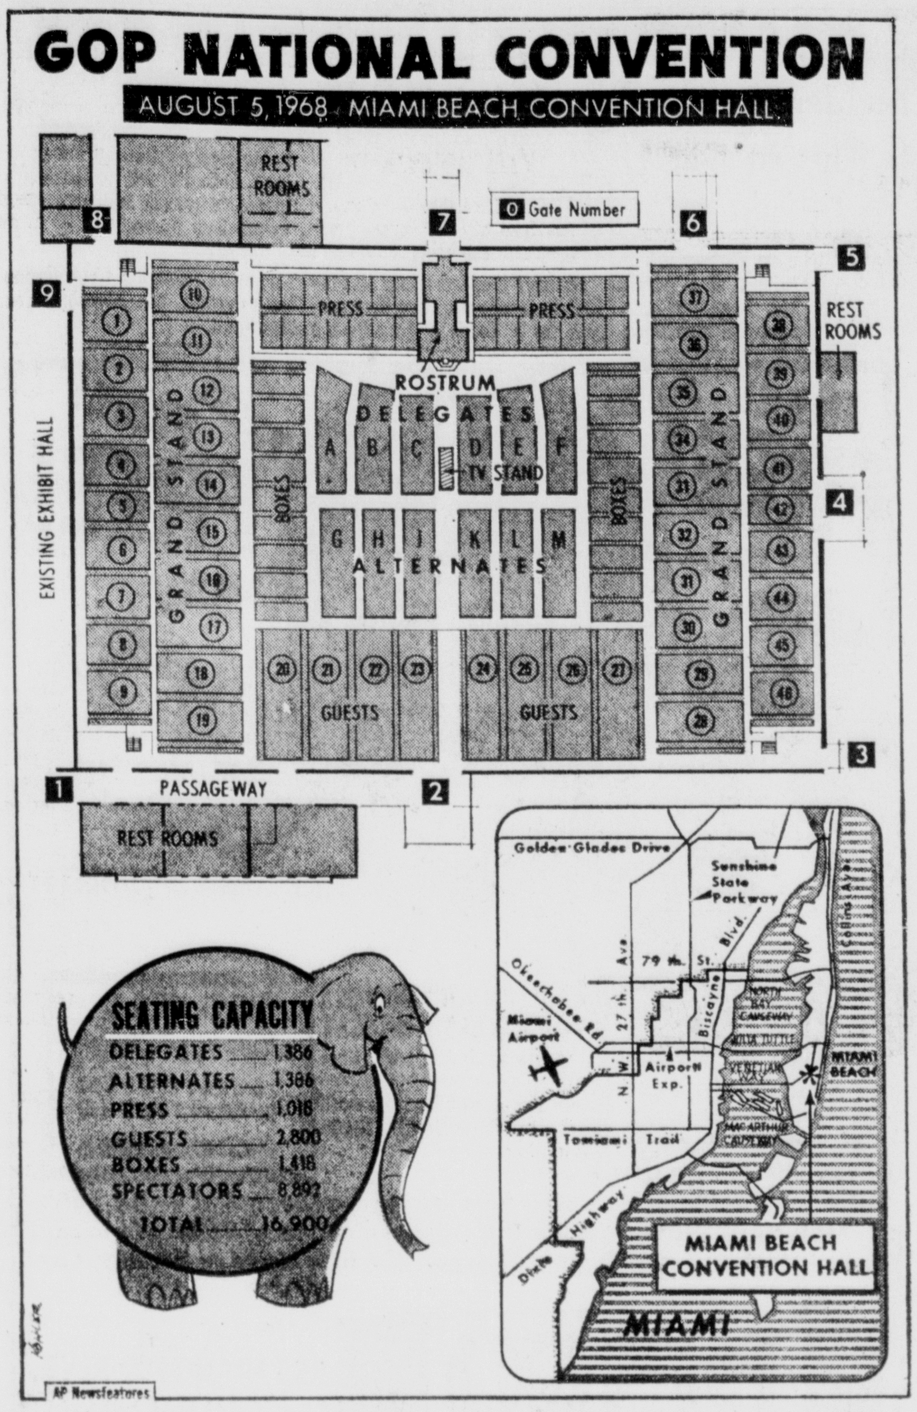
In the House of Representatives — Gerald Ford of Michigan, age 55, recipient of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award for 1949, finishing his 18th year in Congress, elected House Minority Leader in 1965; Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, age 46, finishing his 16th year in Congress, chairman of the Republican Conference at the House.

Among the various governors there is an impressive list of prospects. I list alphabetically only those who have been rather prominently mentioned — Spiro Agnew of Maryland, Daniel Evans of Washington, Claude Kirk of Florida, John Love of Colorado, Louie Nunn of Kentucky, Ronald Reagan of California, James Rhodes of Ohio, Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania and John Volpe of Massachusetts. Among all of the prospects one should include on the list Mayor John Lindsay of New York City.

Hence, then are 16 possibilities for the Vice Presidency that should delight the heart of any presidential nominee.

The Country Parson

"It's hard for rich and poor to relate — two fellows, one drowning in his pool and the other dying of thirst, don't worry much about each other."



Keyword At Convention: Security

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — In a cavernous hall built for the purpose, the Republican party will meet Aug. 5 before the biggest press, television and radio army ever assembled for one of its presidential nominating conventions.

The troubled world situation, violent unrest in the United States, and the certainty that a new president will take the helm of the nation, has led to quadrupled demand for press space from foreign countries. Finland alone has asked 30 hotel rooms.

"The eyes of the world will be on Miami Beach and on the Democratic convention at Chicago," says State Sen. Robert Knowles of Wisconsin, executive secretary of the GOP convention arrangements committee.

In the shock wave of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination, the emphasis swung sharply toward security as plans moved forward for a convention that will bring some 40,000 persons to this palm-studded resort island.

A six-foot-high chain link fence is being built around a 14-acre area surrounding the convention complex. No one will get inside the fence without credentials and Knowles said, "We believe our credentials will be almost forgery-proof."

"We are taking extraordinary steps," he added, "to keep them out of unauthorized hands."

The Hilton Plaza and American hotels, respective headquarters for Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, took a hard new look after the Kennedy slaying at security arrangements which already were the toughest the hotels had ever planned.

The top three floors of the Hilton Plaza will be sealed off. Elevators will be rigged and corridors and entrances guarded so that Nixon will be able to move about in complete privacy. Similar precautions will be taken at the Americana.

Miami Beach police will go on 12-hour shifts, effecting a 50 per cent increase in manpower. Extra police will be brought in from neighboring cities, the sheriff's department and the Florida Highway Patrol. All units will be under radio control from a police operations center adjoining the Convention Hall.

Top police officers attended riot-control classes, discussed problems with police in cities where street violence has occurred, and drilled the ranks in preventive measures.

Beefing up the local forces will be some 20 Secret Service agents assigned to each of the announced candidates, including Harold Stassen.

Security inside the hall will be handled by the party, which has retained Jim McDonnell, director of the Andy Frain Service in Florida, to furnish ushers, guides and ticket-takers. McDonnell won't talk about his security plans because, he said, "if you do that, you haven't got any security."

Construction of the Convention Hall was launched immediately after the Republicans decided to meet south of the Mason-Dixon line for the first time since they went to Baltimore in 1864.

The city already has two connecting buildings — a 3,500-seat auditorium used for such events as boxing, basketball and recording of the Jackie Gleason TV shows, and a 15,000-seat convention hall.

Both these structures will be turned over entirely to the news media. Newspapers and news services will take over the auditorium. The hall will be jammed with the equipment of the TV and radio networks.

Huge exhaust fans and 1,800 tons of air conditioning were installed to overcome heat generated by television lights. The convention will be the first telecast in full color.

Television cameras also will be strung along Washington Avenue running in front of the complex, where peaceable demonstrations will be permitted under close police supervision. Police Chief Rocky Pomerance says his forces will move in quickly if trouble starts.

Miami Beach has hosted other conventions just as big, but never before was almost the entire city wired for audio and video.

A microwave tower was erected beside the Convention Hall and coaxial cable laid to every major hotel along famed Collins Avenue. The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said this work has been planned for the future, but when the GOP convention was landed, it just went ahead and took care of five years' expansion in 10 months.

"The temporary seats are something of a handicap," said Knowles. "Box seats are elevated only about a foot. This will make it more difficult to keep unauthorized persons off the floor.

"At San Francisco in 1964, the Cow Palace had a single entrance and crowds were dispersed on the outside. Here, there are nine entryways and the dispersion must be made on the inside."

Polls: How They Do It

NEW YORK (AP) — The poll taker will have a map with an X on it, telling him where to start asking who should be president. But if the X is at a corner house, he'll skip it. The owner is likely to have a little more money than the next guy and that might bias the poll.

This is probability sampling, gathering the raw material that is added up, analyzed, weighed and weighted to produce the public opinion poll, for example —what percentage of the American voting public, favors Richard M. Nixon for president and what leans to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The importance of the polls has become a central issue in the Nixon-Rockefeller Republican contest and the Democratic fight between Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Nixon and Humphrey lead in committed delegate strength. Rockefeller and McCarthy supporters say the polls show their candidates are more popular with the voters.

Rockefeller has called for a nationwide poll, run by the Republicans, to demonstrate that he would be the strongest GOP presidential candidate. A Nixon spokesman said the delegates to the national convention probably would take a dim view of having the nominee selected by a polling of 3,000 people.

The polling is "often smaller than that," said Dr. George Gallup.

"But it was enough to predict right on the button the 1960 race," Gallup said in a telephone interview from his Princeton, N.J., office. "We said Kennedy would win with less than 1 per cent; you can't be more nearly right than that."

The Gallup organization, working with U.S. Census Bureau figures, picks about 320 sample areas—city blocks or segments of townships—for conducting interviews. The sample areas, Gallup said, are chosen at random—"almost virtually drawn from a hat."

Each interviewer, one to a district, conducts about five interviews, thus producing a sample of at least 1,600 persons. This, the Gallup people said, "approximates the adult civilian population."

"It doesn't matter if we use 3,000 30,000, 300,000 or 3 million," said Louis Harris, another major poll-taker. "A sample of 2,000 or 3,000 is as reliable as a sample many times that number."

The Harris Poll taking is usually on about 2,000, which boils down to about 1,600 after screening, ending with about the same size sample as the Gallup operation.

Both Gallup and Harris plan two more national surveys on the relative Nixon and Rockefeller strength before the Aug. 5 GOP National Convention in Miami Beach. They will involve different samples of the population.

Gallup said he would not conduct a poll for the Republicans such as urged by Rockefeller. Harris said he hadn't been asked and would have to wait until he was before deciding. He said it could be viewed as a public service.

"Polls are inanimate, dead objects," Harris emphasized, in talking about their effects on politics. "They are reflective of the thinking of the people we interview."

"I've always regarded myself," Gallup said, "as a sort of scorekeeper and nothing more. The fact that polls are important points to the very obvious weaknesses in the whole election system. The American people would like to change the system by which we select and elect."

A Nixon aide said it is no time for "political gimmickery. "If Governor Rockefeller now proposes that all normal democratic processes be subjugated to a decision by the pollsters, inaccurate as they have been, he is proposing a radical change in the American system which rightfully he should submit to the Congress."

The pollsters disagree with the charges of inaccuracy, arguing that everyone has "an absolutely equal chance of being selected" for an interview and that the polls operate within the statistical margin of error.

And Gallup notes that polls are operating in a sensitive area.

"There's never been an election when all the top contenders —Nixon, Rockefeller, Humphrey and McCarthy—were so tightly bunched or where the whole situation was so volatile," he said.

RUBBER TANKS THE ANSWER?

Washington Wrestling Woefully Polluted River

WASHINGTON (SS) — "Too thin to cultivate, too thick to navigate," goes one wag's description of Washington, D. C.'s Anacostia River. "The fish," he says, "walk around." With more and more rivers becoming liable to such comment, solutions are being sought in cities ranging from giant New York down to towns like Meridian, Idaho, with an estimated population of 2,081.

The problem is overworked drainage systems which imply cannot handle both the millions of gallons of rainwater from storms and their usual volume of sewage as well. When a storm fills the drains to capacity, treatment plants must let the overflow, sewage and all, pass directly and unprocessed into the rivers. The drains can handle water or sewage — but not both.

The ideal solution would be to build separate drainage systems for water and sewage, but the cost of such a job on a national scale has been estimated at some $30 billion — a third more than the entire cost of the U. S. manned moon program.

Alternatives are to build a $2 billion system of caverns under a city for the storage of storm water, as Chicago is planning, or to build a sewer system within a sewer system — one for storm water one for sewage — as Cambridge, Mass., is doing.

But these are all expensive, and sanitary engineers were wringing their hands over the need for an inexpensive alternative when an idea first developed 17 years ago to help the U. S. Army solve its fuel-storage difficulties at remote or temporary installations came along.

Next month, two large 100,000-gallon tanks of nylon-impregnated rubber are scheduled to arrive in Washington, to be anchored in metal cradles on the bottom of the Anacostia, some 17 feet below the surface.

The idea of the pilot project is that when the drains are filled by rain and sewage, the overflow will be pumped into the tanks instead of into the river.

The idea is that of Underwater Storage Inc. of Washington, under a $480,000 contract to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration. The company points out that the tanks will always be out of sight, since even when they are full they will be at least 10 feet below the river surface.

A similar approach will be tried in Maryland's Choptank River by Melpar Inc. of Virginia, except that the single tank will be larger — 200,000 gallons — and its lower half will be of plastic-lined steel, with a top section of synthetic rubber.

Much research is being devoted to improved ways of ultimately handling the sewage itself, but seeing that all the sewage gets to treatment in the first place is the more immediate goal.

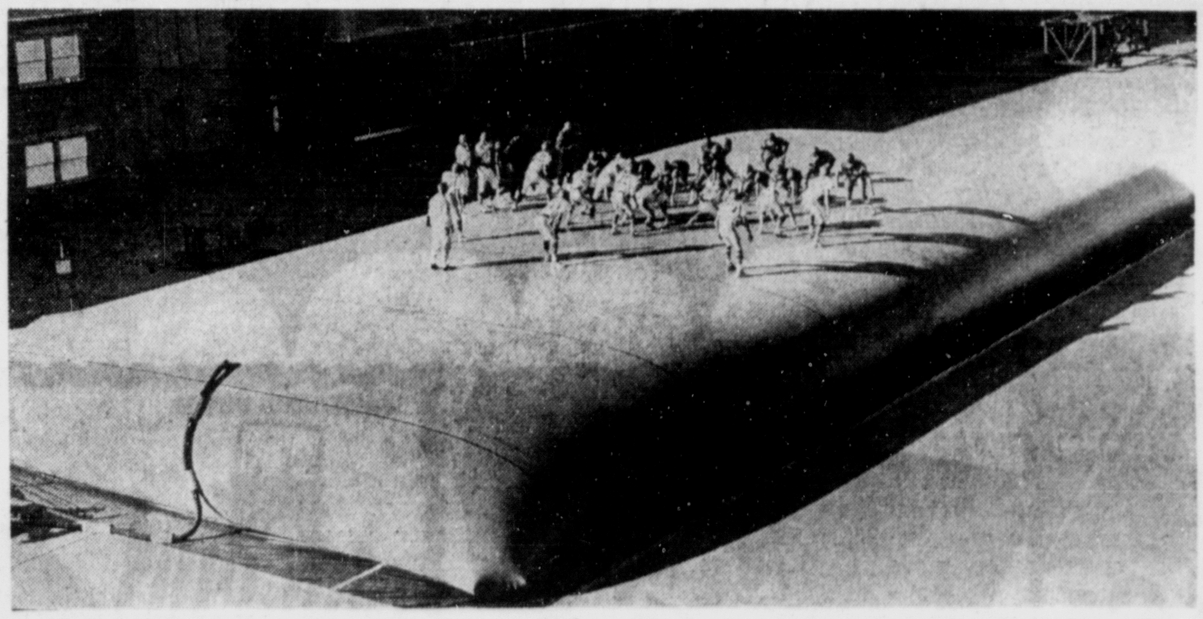
"Unless this country finds an adequate solution to the problem of combined sewer overflows," says Dr. Leon Weinberger, the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration's assistant commissioner for research and development, "we cannot hope to make satisfactory progress in water pollution control."

The collapsible tanks that may be an answer to Dr. Leon Weinberger's problem have a colorful history. They were invented because the Army wanted a way to get around having to build fixed metal tanks from which to fuel its vehicles and other equipment. Metal tanks were not only costly to transport and assemble at many sites, but they had to be abandoned when operations were concluded.

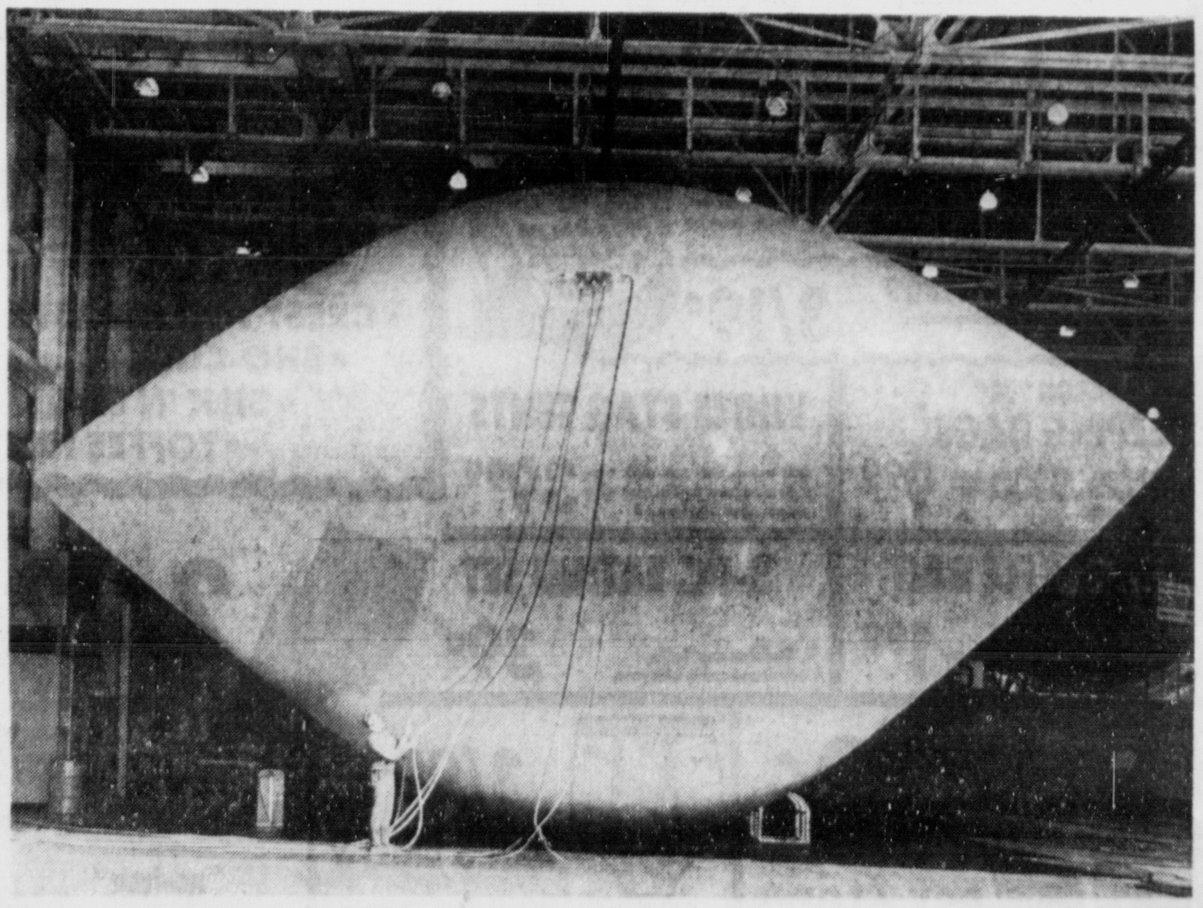
In 1951, together with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., the Army developed large collapsible rubber tanks, which could be flown into place as compact bundles, filled with fuel, then packed up again and flown out when they were no longer needed.

Since then the use of rubber tanks has expanded tremendously. The Marines had them in Lebanon, as did the Army during the Congo uprising. They are used in the frigid temperatures of the DEW-line advance radar net (for both fuel and water) and in Antarctica in Operation Deepfreeze.

Since 1963 they have been facing almost the exact opposite climate in Vietnam, where more than 1,000 are used by the Army, Marines and Air Force to move fuel supplies in and out quickly.



UP FOR THE GAME — Snapping into a running play atop 210,000 gallons of water, the Agua Fria High School football team of Avondale, Ariz., perches on one of the world's largest flexible storage tanks.



GETTING TANKED — This rubberized fuel storage tank is even larger than it looks — this is only an end view. The 210,000-gallon tank was designed for the Army to handle fuel supplies at remote or temporary installations. It is being checked out with an air filling at a Litchfield Park, Ariz., plant, where it was made. (Science Service Photos)

This Week In The World

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

James Earl Ray dropped his battle against extradition from England and returned to the United States to stand trial on a charge that he shot and killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He was taken in strict secrecy yesterday from London's Wandsworth Prison to a U.S. Air Force base near London. An Air Force transport flew him to America. Sheriff's deputies and state and local policemen guarded the five-story Shelby County Jail in Memphis, Tenn., where Ray awaited trial.

King was shot to death April 4 as he took the evening air on the balcony of a Memphis hotel. Ray is accused of being the man who fired the rifle bullet that smashed into King's body.

Ray was arrested at Heathrow Airport in London June 8 while waiting for a flight to Brussels. He was charged in Britain with carrying an unregistered loaded pistol and carrying false passports. The British charges were dropped when the extradition was accomplished.

Around The World; Around The Clock:

Prague: In the most serious Eastern European crisis since the 1956 Hungarian uprising, Czech Communist leader Alexander Dubcek defied the Kremlin and pushed forward his democratic reforms. He battled Stalinist elements within his own Czech party and from Moscow came hints of Soviet armed intervention. The Soviet army continued its slow withdrawal from Czech soil after Warsaw Pact maneuvers. Yugoslavia and Romania backed Dubcek.

Washington: The Senate Judiciary Committee called Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas in for questioning on his designation by President Johnson as chief justice. Fortas testified that he had assisted Johnson in strategy planning conferences on Vietnam and urban riots after being made a justice. He finished his testimony yesterday.

New York-Moscow: An Aeroflot Ilyushin 62 flew from Moscow to New York and a Pan American Boeing 707 flew from New York to Moscow as the United States and the Soviet Union inaugurated direct air travel between the countries.

Washington: The House cut President Johnson's foreign aid request from $2.9 billion to $1.9 billion.

BALLOON SHAVE — DELICATE JOB

A perfectly shaved balloon was worth a prize at the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department penny carnival at Albert Park yesterday afternoon and Sandra White of San Rafael gave her all to win — and avoid the consequence, a broken balloon and shaving cream all over. Youngsters from all 11 San Rafael park programs participated and raised money for the annual watermelon feed, which will climax the summer recreation program Aug. 15. Long, Heated, Wet Debate Leads To $3,700 Fairfax Budget Trim that we are confronted with the fact that our programs must be based on priorities," he told the audience.

Souza's remarks were challenged by representatives of the park and recreation department and Councilman Frank J. Egger. "Of course they had reserves five years ago," he said. "They (the council) never did anything."

During the hour-and-a-half "preliminary background discussion" that developed, Souza maintained that to keep the tax rate at $1.74 while increasing city employee salaries, the park and recreation improvement budget would have to be trimmed.

Souza moved to cut the $11,000 improvement allocation to $6,000, leaving only $3,500 for work on the city pavilion and $2,500 for lighting the new tennis courts.

"This raised strenuous objections from the audience, including a letter of appeal from Richard P. Jones, parks and recreation department chairman. "We're letting a beautiful park sit there," Egger exclaimed. "People receive no benefits from money in the bank."

A vote on the motion quickly followed with Egger and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson on the losing end of a 3-2 vote.

Turning towards Souza, Egger shouted, "Well, it looks like the big three did it again! I guess you're running the show because the other two didn't say a word. I think it's a disgrace."

Souza asked, and won, a halt to the conduct, but not before Egger and Councilman Francis J. O'Connell engaged in a brief character description of each other.

But the row was soon forgotten when Souza spilled a pitcher of water in his lap, drawing chuckles from the audience.

The calm didn't last long, however. Souza moved to add an additional $300 to the budget for a general city newsletter under his direction.

O'Connell, who had campaigned against the newsletter last spring, seconded the motion over objections from members of the park and recreation department who insisted that any new funds should go to that department.

The motion failed with Souza and O'Connell casting "yes" votes. O'Connell said later he had campaigned against the newsletter because it was to have been handled by former City Administrator David J. Sumbardo. He said he had no objections to Souza's motion.

Two other budget changes last night were the addition of $2,000 to the contingency fund and the elimination of $700 for a teletype machine.

Also, Monday night, the council is to open a public hearing on proposed changes in the city business license tax.

Minister Tells Using Church As Collateral

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — A 39-year-old Baptist pastor who said he used his church as collateral for loans has pleaded guilty to two charges of grand theft.

The Rev. Harry Loving yesterday in Superior Court that he pocketed a $125,000 loan from a Texas firm and a $25,000 loan from Security First National Bank while he was pastor of Emanuel Baptist Church here.

Taxpayers Laud Welfare Caution

The board of supervisors received praise Thursday from the Irate Taxpayers of Marin for their "careful handling of individual general relief cases."

Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick, spokesman for the orgainzation said the supervisors question social workers carefully before granting relief to applicants. "We are pleased that they are giving careful consideration, rather than blanket relief," she said.

Other action at the Thursday night meeting included discussion of inviting speakers representing various tax views to address the group and a report on the recently completed county budget hearings.

The group will meet at 8 p.m. Aug. 15 at a Novato location yet to be determined.

Ex-Principal's Murder Verdict Is Thrown Out

FAIRFIELD (AP)—A 68-year-old former junior high school principal who spent 28 years in prison for killing five school colleagues has been released from a state mental institution.

Verlin Spencer was ordered freed yesterday by Superior Court Judge Thomas N. Healy, who said the convict may have been temporarily insane when he committed the crime because of a bromide medicine he was taking for severe headaches. The judge ordered new court proceedings for Spencer.

Spencer pleaded guilty in May 1940 to fatally shooting five persons in a South Pasadena school's auditorium following an assembly. He also wounded a woman and himself.

Noting that prison personnel called Spencer a model inmate, Judge Healy criticized the State Adult Authority for turning down Spencer's parole requests in a "capricious manner."

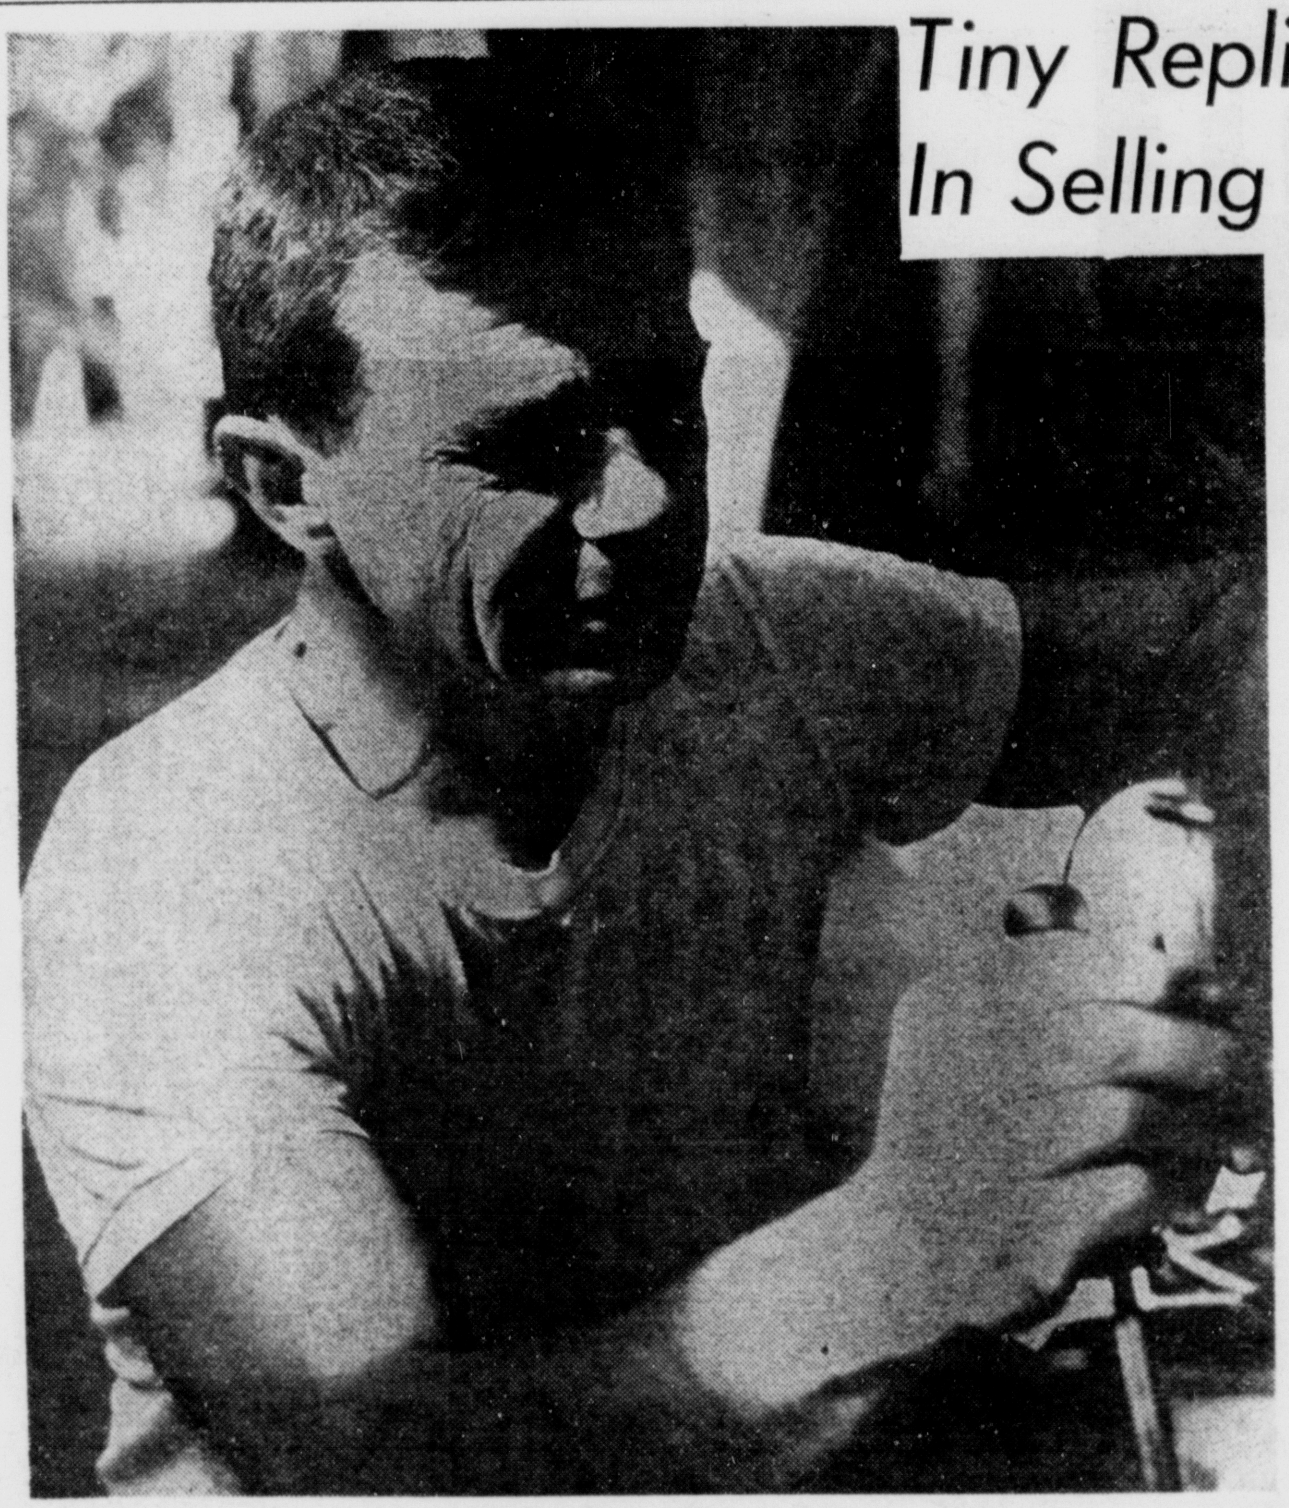
Tiny Replicas Help Art Carpenter In Selling His Distinctive Furniture

Marinite Has His Own Method For Presenting Ideas To Buyers

By GIL PEARSON



ARTHUR ESPENET CARPENTER
First miniatures, then the furniture

Dollhouse furniture is one thing, but Arthur Espenet Carpenter's models are far and away something else because they are original designs costing $20 to $30 each.

And he makes them only for contracts of $500 and more.

"As far as I know, I am the sole furniture-maker who produces miniatures in lieu of drawings when bidding for commissions," says Carpenter. "The simple fact is that I can neither draw nor aptly convey my ideas for an architect to capture on paper.

"So, through necessity, I learned to machine-tool models for prospects."

A HOST OF these cute precision-constructed replicas are racked up on display in Art's modest exhibit shack beside his Espenet Furniture workshop which is located on the Lower County Road just north of Bolinas. Here, also, are housed superb examples of finished, regular-size pieces.

One of his recently completed contracts was with the Mill Valley Public Library. This $15,000 commission called for Carpenter originals for all-wood constructions to include reading carrells, desks, tables, card catalog cases, upholstered sofas and chairs, an over-sized board room conference table with chairs, and other items.

He had first made models of each unit for architectual approval.

FROM THAT FIRST great day 15 years ago when his Espenet stylizing attracted the attention of Edward Kaufman, director of New York's Museum of Modern Art, who thereupon exhibited samples in the museum, Art Carpenter's work has enjoyed broad acclaim, awards and sales.

This October the Leed Nordness Galleries in New York City will show a half dozen of Carpenter's larger accomplishments, along with those of other craftsmen. In August he goes on permanent display at the American Crafts Center located in Ghirardelli Square in San Francisco.

This month Mill Valley's Anima Mundi Gallery is featuring photos and finishes of his skill.

ART'S COMMISSIONS are diversified. His works for churches include dais rails and reading desks for Christian Science in San Rafael and Bolinas, a pulpit and communion table for St. Luke Presbyterian in San Rafael, all sanctuary furniture for Old St. Mary's at Grant and California streets in San Francisco and also for the O'Dowd High School Chapel in East Oakland.

However, as bright as is Carpenter's present positioning as a distinguished artisan and as promising as is his future, this 48-year-old shy man can easily recall that era after World War II when he fell on hard times. Those were times when his struggle to make it in a highly competitive field proved a burden more fitting for beast

ESPENET MODELS have included, top to bottom, some of the many "dollhouses" assembled by Art Carpenter in bidding for the the Mill Valley Public Library furniture contract; a dining table and chairs set tooled from California walnut; an assortment of Espenet furniture pieces in miniature, and a "tiny tim" couch that breaks down to show the support design. DESIGNER and builder Art Carpenter, at work outside his Bolinas studio-workshop, rubs the first of numerous coatings of oil finish onto a table he has made from solid California walnut with distinctive wooden pedestal legs. Such legs are usually of heavy metal. Atop the standard-size table can be seen the miniature model which Carpenter first fashioned, after hitting upon his design. (Photo by Gil Pearson) than man.

"FOR FIVE YEARS after my navy hitch I clawed the walls seeking my niche," he reminisces in a brave effort to put some levity into those dark days.

Art Espenet (from "epinet" meaning thorn) Carpenter had been schooled according to his father's persuasions.

Art took a Bachelor of Arts degree at Dartmouth where he majored in economics with the view to becoming a certified public accountant — as was his father, who had made as much as $75,000 a year.

He relates: "How did I get from mathematics to machine tools? Well, my father's depression misfortunes soured me on becoming a CPA; navy regimentation developed in me a permanent thirsting for unshackled life; and, the unrewarding career as a post-war stockboy in an Oriental art import company — all of these brought on an uncontrollable rebellion of sorts. I fled the East and settled in San Francisco — down on Mission Street.

"I HAD HOARDED $3,000 from four years in the armed forces. After renting a condemned building for $20 a month, I sublet it for $30, and then took courses in arts and crafts under the G.I. Bill. For years I made teak salad bowls, using a lathe and actually sold some wholesale.

"On the rare occasions when I could escape Mission Street, I hitched rides out to Bolinas where the glorious independence of vast open spaces rejuvenated my faith and self-respect. When a small legacy windfall came to me, I bought a 12-acre Bolinas farm and some additional woodworking machinery, and began turning out tables with my own conception of design.

"I am not a 'custom-furniture' man. The design must please me. Word-of-mouth has brought my business to full bloom."

TODAY ART lives with his wife and teen-aged son and daughter in a magnificent Carpenter-designed round house. He did seek a neighboring architect's help in its planning.

Life magazine gave the unique structure a three-page color spread several years ago.

The Mystery Of The Log Cabin

A Letter Answers Question: 'Who Was The Builder?'

By FLORENCE DONNELLY
Independent-Journal Historian

When property that had been owned by Dr. Leo L. Stanley on San Rafael's Fifth Avenue was cleared for the construction of a new city hall, those in charge found themselves with both a problem and a question on their hands.

The problem was what to do with the log cabin they found standing on the land.

The question or questions: What was the history of that cabin? Who had built it, and why?

THE PROBLEM was resolved happily. The cabin was saved when it was carefully dismantled, moved to the nearby Boyd Memorial Park and there reassembled as a play place for children.

Since then, hundreds of youngsters have frolicked in and around the cabin, enjoying the contact with what was assuredly once at least a small footnote in San Rafael history.

The answers to those questions about the origins of the log cabin were longer in coming. But, in my historical files, I finally came upon the answers, in a letter written by the late Louis Peter Jr., who had spent most of his life in San Rafael.

HE WROTE:

"The Marin County Historical Society has received a fine portrait of Charles H. Fish, a prominent citizen of San Rafael in the 1880s and 1890s. The picture was given by Charles Kappenmann who found it in the building he bought recently (on the east side of C Street, south of Fourth) which had been a Chinese Presbyterian Mission sponsored by Mr. Fish.

"Mr. Fish had come to California during the Bonanza Days, engaged in mining and finally became secretary for Mackay and Flood. He came to San Rafael in the 1880s and purchased the old Stillwell property . . . at the corner of Fifth and C, some two acres in extent.

"The Stillwell house stood in the middle of the property and was surrounded by gardens and fruit trees. Major (George W.) Stillwell, a veteran of the Mexican War and former Marin County supervisor (1875-77), had lavished much care and attention on the property and it was one of the showplaces of the town.

"MR. FISH kept up the gardens and built two fine houses on the property.

"He also built a log cabin on the grounds with his own hands, notching the logs with an ax and filling in the chinks as was done in the early California days.

"Mr. Fish was a pillar of the Presbyterian Church and greatly interested in the evangelization of the Chinese."

Thus it is apparent that it was particularly fortunate that the cabin was spared. It remains not only as a useful recreational facility, but also as a relic of early Marin history, a labor of love from the hands of a man who was one of San Rafael's prominent citizens and humanitarians.

One wonders how many other structures that have been razed and how many mementos that have been discarded had behind them similar interesting and significant ties with Marin County history, if only we had had the patience and the wits to investigate before destroying.

THE CURIOSITY of Marin County history buffs was aroused when this log cabin was discovered standing on land being cleared for the new San Rafael City Hall. Who built it? Why? And how? Independent-Journal Historian Florence Donnelly has come up with the answers. Meanwhile, the sturdy cabin continues in use on a new site in San Rafael's Boyd Memorial Park.

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

"What is Your Advice Regarding Summer Wardrobes?"

There are several suggestions which may help in selecting fabrics for summer wear. First, remember, that the hot summer sun causes many garments to fade and weaken. Choose fabrics with colorfast dyes. Vat-dyed cottons are most likely to retain their color.

Just as the sun weakens window drapes, so it weakens many other fabrics. In fact, almost any fabric will show gradual loss of strength after lengthy exposure to the sun. Silks are especially susceptible to sun damage. It is better to trust your summer silks to shade and the moonlight of summer evenings.

Have fun with cool, light-weight clothing in the summer, but don't expect the sunlight that relentlessly tans your skin to be less burning to the garments you wear.

HAVING MADE his delivery, the bowler follows through and the batter begins his swing at the ball which may be traveling toward him faster than 100 miles an hour.

THE BATTER HAS connected and has swatted the ball into play. The other man wearing leg-guards is a defenseman.

The Most British Of All Sports

But Cricket Seems At Home Here

COVER PHOTO

JUST like our baseball, cricket has its pre-game batting practice. Here members of the Marin Cricket Club, properly decked out in protective gear, hold a workout during a break in the Northern California Cricket Association season. It's a scene that is guaranteed to bring joy to the heart of any ex-Britisher or Anglophile. (Independent-Journal photos by Pete Thompson)

The first thing you notice is that it is so utterly un-American.

We have, after all, been raised and nurtured at least partly on wrinkled hot dogs, dry buns and Jack Drees. We are children of the take-it-all-off generation. We have watched super-bowls and $20,000 putts. We are not quite prepared for tea at 4 in the grass.

Unless you have been nurtured on G. A. Henty as a boy, unless Jean Simmons was your first love and Charles Laughton frightened you when he was still skinny, then you will not take to cricket like a wild-eyed hacker with his first set of golf clubs.

CRICKET SEEMS not so much a sport as part of a way of life. In that way it is much like baseball and Hollywood.

Long before you slide into home plate to ruin your new pants, you have already memorized Lou Gehrig's farewell speech, and you know that it isn't your lousy sister who says "hey." You have already seen and loved Abbott and Costello, and Randolph Scott long before somebody unwittingly tells you that they're camp.

So it is with cricket, that most British of British sports. Cricket is either in your blood, or it seduces and lulls you into submission on a lazy Sunday afternoon when it is warm enough to tan without Coppertone. But nobody can hit you over the head with a wicket.

SO I CAME upon the Marin Cricket Club team playing the Berkeley Cricket Club at College of Marin, in back of the gymnasium beside the tennis courts in the grass near a baseball diamond.

German-American me came to this, my first in-the-flesh confrontration with cricket, armed with a cursory, verbal introduction to it from Marin Cricket Club pamphleteer Nick Thomas, a bearded Bechtel engineer from San Anselmo.

From Thomas, I learned that the Marin club belongs to the Northern California Cricket Association whose other members include Stanford, Berkeley, U.C. at Davis, Del Monte, Gujarati Samaj, Golden Gate, San Francisco and San Jose.

THE ASSOCIATION would seem to make the Bay Area somewhat of a seedling ground for sports not in the great American stadium tradition, since the Northern California Lacrosse Association (very eastern) and a rugby association (very English) also flourish here.

The Marin Cricket Club, despite being thin in reserves and admittedly not the best fielding club around, is currently at or near the top of the standings, having lost only once.

Its members are made up mostly of businessmen or engineers, English or colonial transplants.

KEN SERPANCHI, one of the top players in the league, and star, if there is such a thing in cricket, of the Marin team, is a Ceylonese and captain of the team. Another Marin member, Jim Vivian, is president of the NCCA, while insurance man Barry Oldham is the team's vice-captain.

The sun may have set on the British empire but you couldn't tell it by looking around the NCCA. The league is saturated with players from colonies and former colonies — Indians, Ceylonese, Nigerians, the Bahamas and the West Indies.

Thomas says there is quite a dearth of home-grown talent, and it may be simply because "Awright ya guys" may sound as flat as a soprano in a Cossack shower. But cricket, though it may seem genteel, is a difficult sport to master in all its nuances, although Thomas says that Americans who do try the sport turn out to be fantastic fielders but have difficulty adjusting to bowling and batting.

NOW THERE is a familiar word — batting. And in fact, cricket is somewhat related to baseball, since baseball evolved from cricket. But batting may be the only familiar word in the cricket glossary.

Unbelievers who are looking at a lexicon of cricket terms may be prone to titter just a little. Terms such as maiden over, sticky wickets, and silly mid-off may delight the ear and dazzle the imagination, but they are for real.

There are enough fine points in cricket strategy and rules and variations but it isn't half as mystifying as an interview with a soccer player.

BRIEFLY, THE object of the game is to score runs. And if the scores (such as 173-160) look like a pro basketball game gone wild, it is because a single game is quite lengthy, taking up a good part of the day — as much as eight hours. In regulation games played in England and abroad they run into days.

On the defensive team, there will be eight defensive players, including the key bowler (similar to a pitcher) and the wicket keeper (as in catcher). The NCCA version of cricket consists of 35 overs, an over being a turn of eight pitches, which means that each team will have bowled 280 pitches. There are two batsmen, heavily guarded by legpads, and armed

DON'T LET THE white flannels and the tea breaks fool you. Cricket can be a potentially dangerous sport. Thus Audley Beckford straps on his protective pads prior to batting.

THE CRICKET BALL is baseball-size, but is a much harder projectile than can be delivered at speeds up to 120 miles an hour from a short distance in front of the batter.

Cricket Comes To Marin With Tea And Flannels

It Seems More A Way Of Life Than It Does A Sport

RUNS ARE scored when the batter hits the ball into an open space or past a defender, allowing the two batsmen to cross over. A crossover counts as a run and there are automatic four or six runs if there is no relay possible.

Outs or wickets can be made by catching the ball in flight, or nailing the runner during the course of a crossover.

The idea, it seems, is for the pitcher to keep the batter from getting crossovers or limit him to single crossovers. A maiden over is simply eight pitched balls without a run scored, sort of a mini-shutout, which means the bowler is doing quite well, thank you.

THIS IS obviously a simplistic explanation but it struck me as an easy way to get the initial hang of things.

It is not a contact sport as such, and may seem just a little dandy for ferocious hearts. But it is no sport for the weak-hearted or the untalented.

The ball used is approximately the same size as that of a baseball, but harder, and the bowler can take a running start on his overhead throw. The batter has the pleasure of watching the ball come at him 120 miles an hour, with sizzling English on it, sometimes striking in front of his feet, from which it can spin in any direction.

Catching the ball when it's hit hard is like catching a cannonball in flight at times and players have been known to chip a bone or two stopping it.

DUE TO THE length of the game, there is enough time for sociability. The games take on the air of a family outing with a spot of tea during halftime. Inevitably, the league evolves quite a bit around social activity as well, with after-game cocktails, banquets and parties for visiting international teams and stops at the London Arms, the popular San Anselmo pub.

All of which brings us back to a Sunday afternoon: Berkeley vs. Marin.

It is pleasantly quiet. You can hear some tennis balls being swatted around at center court. Here and there are some baby carriages. There is children's chatter in the air.

SOME PLAYERS in white flannels, who turn out to be the local heroes, are lounging lazily on the grass, keeping up bright conversation in their distinctly English accents.

Thomas, intricate scorebook in his lap, sits by the baseball fence. Behind him, lying on blankets near thermos bottles, lunch packets and radios, are the wives and friends of the players.

Out on the field, at what seems a very removed distance, the game is in progress.

Thomas, who puts out the Flannel, the NCCA newsheet, a lively mimeographed mixture of social news, quips and results as well as pointers on trends and future action, seems content with the action.

"THAT'S A BIT better now," he says. "We weren't doing so well with only seven runs in five overs. But we're doing well now."

As it turns out, the Marinites had trouble hitting in the initial phases of their inning but picked up to 170 during the course of the afternoon.

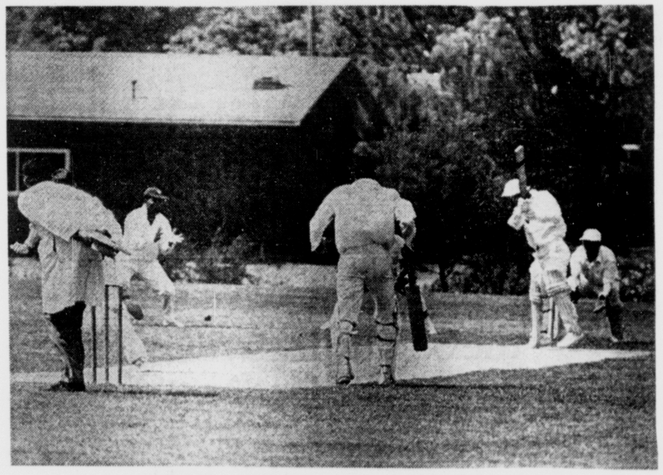
At first, it is all Greek to me, but there is no better way of learning than to watch. It is initiation by osmosis, and as the sun dips lower, adding to lobster pink suntans, it is a very pleasant osmosis indeed.

WATCHING THE players in their white flannels or white shorts, who seem to be moving in slight slow motion, hearing strange shouts of encouragement ("Go, Krishna,") seeing the scattered fans, and slowly picking up the feel of the game, it all seems like a scene out of Degas. It was a good afternoon for family portraits, orange peels, baby carriages and that curiously English way of stretching time like pleasant butter.

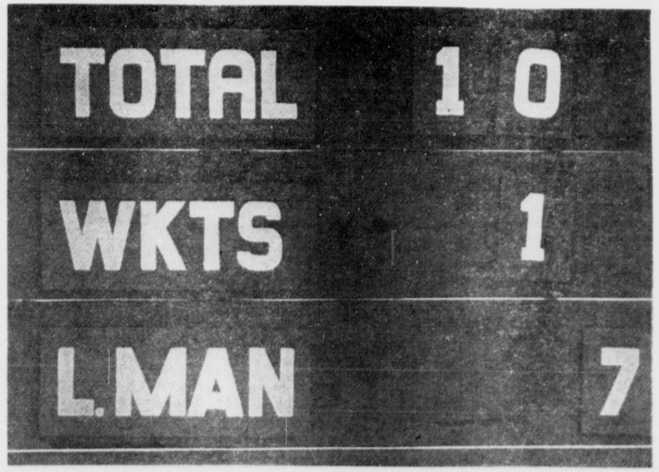
It was excitement without the frenzied noise. Strange perhaps, but curiously comfortable and enjoyable.

Or as my mother would say — "Gemutlich."

IT'S A TENSE moment in the cricket action as the key men are coiled for action. The bowler is delivering the ball, the wicket keeper is set, and the batter tensely awaits the oncoming ball.



THE MAN IN the foreground is preparing to cross over after a well-placed hit ball by his batting teammate. The action will score a run as the two members of the batting team exchange places. Behind the batter is the wicket keeper, cricket's version of the catcher.



THIS SCOREBOARD for a cricket match tells you the number of runs scored (10), the total wickets (1) and how many men are being used by the defensive team (7). It also records the number of "overs" already played in an inning.

The Travel Pages

Where Postman Drives A Bus

Each year increasing numbers of visitors to Switzerland reach the top of its highest mountains on Swiss alpine postal motor coaches.

These yellow buses carry passengers and mail on roads that literally snake around, through and over the Alps.

MANY OF THE countless thousands of travelers who have looked down at a scenic Swiss valley from one of these coaches perched 1,000 feet up on the shoulder of a winding road have wondered about the special skills and abilities of the drivers. Tourists have seen them negotiate lofty heights, tortuous twisting roads and squeeze between a car on one side and a caravan of dog carts on the other.

In addition to these demanding feats the drivers use a public address system to keep their passengers informed of landmarks and attractions passed on the trip.

The vigorous training and study required for a man to qualify to drive a Swiss postal motor coach is almost as strenuous as that given to an airline pilot.

THE PROSPECTIVE driver must serve a four-year apprenticeship as a mechanic and at least one accident-free year as a heavy truck driver. If he fills these prerequisites he can then apply for the job with the postal system.

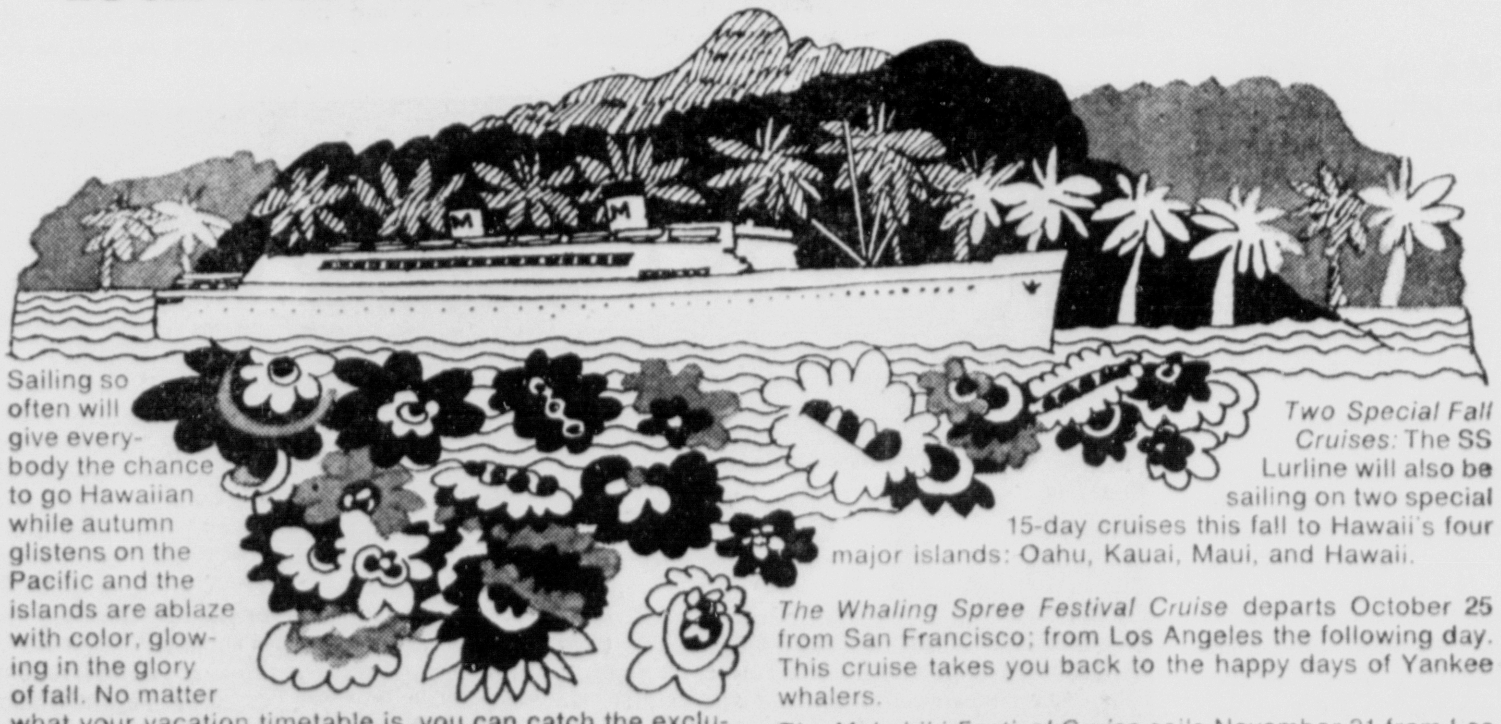
After passing rigid intelligence, mechanical and medical examinations he begins work, first as a mechanic in the main garage at Berne. After a year at this position he then might qualify to drive a bus but at first only in the flatlands around Zurich, Berne or Lucerne.

The buses he drives are designed specifically for the mountains. All Swiss-built, they have three independent braking systems, special axles and power reserves required for mountain driving.

NOW IN ITS 62nd year of accommodating passengers on its mail runs, the Swiss postoffice schedules regular sight-seeing tours in addition to its normal passenger-mail service.

Fares are comparatively priced to other forms of transportation. For example, the all-day trip from Lucerne to Interlaken, known as the "Grand Alpine Tour," costs $9.45. Trips by postal motor coaches can be incorporated into the inexpensive holiday ticket.

Here's something you should know: the SS Lurline will sail between California and Hawaii fourteen times this Fall.



Sailing so often will give everybody the chance to go Hawaiian while autumn glistens on the Pacific and the islands are ablaze with color, glowing in the glory of fall. No matter what your vacation timetable is, you can catch the exclusively First Class SS Lurline on the Mainland or in the Islands. Either way, you'll enjoy five festive days of gourmet cuisine, superb services, and entertainment in the famous Grand Manner of Matson. Sun, salt air, relaxation and deck sports fill your daylight hours. Delightful parties brighten your nights. We think something this nice is worth knowing about.

Two Special Fall Cruises: The SS Lurline will also be sailing on two special 15-day cruises this fall to Hawaii's four major islands: Oahu, Kauai, Maui, and Hawaii.

The Whaling Spree Festival Cruise departs October 25 from San Francisco; from Los Angeles the following day. This cruise takes you back to the happy days of Yankee whalers.

The Makahiki Festival Cruise sails November 21 from Los Angeles; from San Francisco the following day. You'll experience two Thanksgivings, the traditional and the Polynesian.

See your travel agent to select your sailing date and your accommodations. Or contact Mr. Paul Thompson, Matson Cruise Consultant.

Houseboat Rentals Offer A Different Kind Of Vacation

They can join thousands of ther Californians in exploring he fascinating 1,000 miles of in- and waterways of the Sacramento Delta near Tracy nd Stockton.

Their means of travel, a ouseboat rental, is a new vaca- ion experience that is capturing he fancy of families throughout California.

Many Californians are unaware of the interwoven scenic waterways in the Sacramento Delta region. The labyrinth of channels, canals and sloughs is actually tributaries of the San Joaquin, Sacramento and Mokelumne rivers.

THROUGHOUT the sloughs and rivers are modern marinas where the houseboat family can tie up for the night.

The many modern marinas also provide excellent restaurant facilities such as Giusta's and The Boon-Dox, both at Walnut Grove. The beautiful River Mansions near Courtland and The Point at Rio Vista are also favorite eating spots for the houseboat adventurer.

According to W. Wayne Carr, president of Havalark Inc., now the nation's largest houseboat rental firm, spending a week on a houseboat exploring the many interesting sights in the Delta area, is a vacation designed just for fun and plain relaxation.

CARR SAYS that houseboating has become so popular in California that it is now listed as the biggest rental business in the Delta area. The Oasis Marina in Tracy, where the Havalark fleet is moored, is one of the many popular areas for houseboating.

Today's houseboats, Carr explains, unlike the oldtime river shanties, provide easy living and are actually luxury "floating motels" with electric lights, beds for six and more, showers, toilet facilities, outdoor deck barbecues, modern stoves and refrigerators.

"As far as being an experienced boatsman goes," Carr says, "most of our customers have had little or no experience in operating a boat. The calm rivers of the Delta area are not like being out on the ocean."

"AND," HE said, "today's modern houseboat is built and designed to enable the most inexperienced boatsman to take easy command."

Many houseboaters say the craft are more easy to operate than a car, after only a few minutes of instructions by the rental operator. This is especially important since most of the houseboat renters are novices.

In addition to renting houseboats, some families enjoy taking their small boat for sailing or water skiing. The smaller craft are tied easily to the houseboat for towing. The houseboats themselves, which cruise at about 10 miles per hours, are not powerful enough for water skiing.

THROUGHOUT the waterways, which vacationers claim are among the best in the country for the fishing sportsman, bass, sturgeon and catfish are particularly prevalent.

The Delta area has been used for location of many movies including African Queen, Tom Sawyer and Porgy and Bess.

Gas for the outboard motor which powers each houseboat is readily obtained at the many marinas and resorts throughout the Delta.

Cost of the renting houseboats for one full day runs from $35 per day during the off-season with up to 15 per cent off for full week rentals.

Maps of the Delta area may be obtained free by writing Havalark, Post Office Box 5386-T, San Jose, Calif.

Matson's "Southern Cross Cruise Parties" Through The South Seas.

Come along for the fun. The Parties begin September 29, October 24, November 14 and December 8 from San Francisco, or from Los Angeles the following day. You'll visit ten of the world's most exotic ports of call. And you'll have a great time enjoying a gala round of special events under the Southern Cross. Aboard ship, for example, you'll be treated to the Captain's Champagne Party, an Australian Wine Tasting Party, a Polynesian Night, the Captain's Farewell Dinner in Matson's grandest manner, and much more. Ashore, there's a dinner party at the renowned Hotel Tahiti, an exotic Tamaaraa (feast) on Moorea, a special trip to New Zealand's Waitomo Caves and the famous Glowworm Grotto, a theater-dinner party in Sydney, a spectacular fire-walking ceremony in Fiji, a deluxe barbeque dinner in Honolulu, plus an array of sightseeing excursions. Most of these affairs have been arranged especially for these fall cruises. And each will be escorted by an experienced host/hostess. This 42-day adventure will take you to Bora Bora, Tahiti, Rarotonga, Auckland, Sydney, Noumea, Fiji, Niuafo'ou, Pago Pago and Honolulu. And all the way you'll enjoy the luxuries of Matson's exclusively First Class SS Mariposa or Monterey. Special cruise party fares include all of the events. This is the party invitation you won't want to miss. For reservations and a deluxe brochure describing the whole wonderful vacation, contact your travel agent. Or, Mr. Paul Thompson, our Cruise Consultant.

SAFETY INFORMATION: SS Mariposa and SS Monterey, registered in the U. S., meet International Safety Standards for new ships developed in 1960 and meet the 1966 Fire Safety Requirements.

Part Two In Story Of Custer

CUSTER: THE INDIAN FIGHTER by D.A. Kinsley; Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 233 pages, $6.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

"Custer: the Indian Fighter" is the second of D. A. Kinsley's two-volume biography of George Armstrong Custer under the over-all title of "Favor the Bold." The first volume covered Custer's Civil War service.

The earlier book dealt with a phase of Custer's career that has been relatively little described. In "Custer: the Indian Fighter," Kinsley is working over territory that has been quite thoroughly mined, particularly the final episodes which culminated in the disaster of the Valley of the Little Big Horn.

Kinsley is a Custer admirer. He is, in fact, so much so that he gives only the back of his hand to those versions of events which cast "Yellowhair" in other than heroic mold. His account suffers by comparison with the careful treatment accorded the Big Horn battle by Col. W. A. Graham.

GEORGE ARMSTRONG CUSTER
An admiring biographer

Of Custer's pre-Big Horn campaigns, this volume suffers as did Kinsley's first from an erratic "hurrah boys" style and the ignoring of many significant details. Except that it virtually ignores his court-martial, Custer's own "My Life on the Plains" makes better reading and greater feeling of reality.

Hunter Of The Haunts

Most books about ghostly goings-on begin with pro and con consideration of a key question: Do such spirits actually haunt this earth?

Not the books of Hans Holzer, however. Holzer, who refers to himself as a parapsychologist, begins with the presumption that there are, indeed, such psychic phenomena.

He has made a career of traveling to those points where ghosts are said to be present.

He travels and investigates, not so much to determine the authenticity of the haunting — the reports of witnesses themselves, are often sufficient evidence to satisfy him in that respect —, but to determine the identity and history of the spirit and the reason for the haunting. Quite often, he also attempts to exorcise the wraith — to convince it it no longer needs to linger on this earth —, and thus restore the haunted place to normality.

In these endeavors, he usually has the assistance of his favorite psychic, Sybil Leek. Both, incidentally, have become familiar figures on television.

"Ghosts of the Golden West" is the newest collection of accounts of his investigations. It deals with cases in California, Nevada and Utah, plus a couple further afield involving Californians.

A Holzer book can be read in any of three ways. It can be read by those who share Holzer's beliefs and who accept his stories as further evidence that ghosts are, indeed, here among us mortals, although making themselves known to only a few select, especially gifted psychic people.

It can be read more skeptically by those who see other more earthly explanations, but still find in Holzer's accounts some interesting testimony in regard to human behavior and belief. And they may be intrigued by just the bare possibility that some of Holzer's incidents do involve psychic factors. Not all the hauntings are open to any easy, non-spectral explanation.

Finally, the book can be read simply for the history and lore that Holzer uncovers in his searchings. Almost every incident results in the baring of some hoary legend.

"Ghosts of the Golden West" is not Holzer's most interesting book. With some notable exceptions, his wraiths seem a less interesting — should we say "less spirited"? —lot than those that inhabited predecessor books. But for Marinites, that factor will be offset somewhat by the immediacy of the geography. Many of the supposedly haunted places are at our very doorsteps.

Holzer, however, seems even more willing and eager than usual to reach out for and accept the most tenuous or flimsy corroboration for Miss Leek's psychic contacts.

But whether read with belief, cynicism or indecision, a Holzer book is always fun. And perhaps, just perhaps, Holzer will plant a few seeds of doubt in the mind of even the most confirmed skeptic.

Little Magazines Yield Some Gems

THE AMERICAN LITERARY ANTHOLOGY; Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 495 pages, $6.95. Reviewed by Elizabeth Rogers.

This is the first of a series of anthologies to be compiled annually from American literary magazines. To say it is long overdue would be to denigrate those critics and writers who have tried in the past to unearth the wealth of talent in these little-read publications.

It is a collection which will probably be a revelation to readers who feel that the art of the short story, the style of the essay and the content of poetry have declined with the century. It may complete their weaning away from the "slicks," whose pages now seem closed to all but topical subject matter.

The anthology is composed of works by unknown and little-known, as well as established writers.

Within its pages are works by Ezra Pound and Allen Ginsberg. W. H. Auden and John Crowe Ransom, whose definitive essay on "Gerontion" might serve as a template for Eliot critics.

Like the literature of any age, the poetry is largely subjective, and the prose is constructed around a skeleton of social commentary. But in most of it there is the motif of honesty — an avoidance of pretension, which marks a new trend in American letters.

Background notes on contributors and the magazines which have published their works, make up a valuable section of the volume.

This book should be in the library of everyone who has a real interest in the progress of literature today.

A Sad Book

THE PLACE NO ONE KNEW — GLEN CANYON ON THE COLORADO by Eliot Porter; Ballantine, 160 pages, paperback, $3.95. Reviewed by Harvey Bragdon.

This is another of the extraordinary and beautiful paperback reprints of the extraordinary and beautiful Exhibition Format series of the Sierra Club.

It is a sad book, for Glen Canyon is no more. In the name of progress it was inundated by the Project Dam in 1963. In his foreword David Brower says: "Glen Canyon died in 1963 and I was partly responsible for its needless death. So were you. Neither you nor I, nor anyone else, knew it well enough to insist that at all costs it should endure."

An advantage of the reprint series (aside from the price) is that there is less likelihood of the book becoming coffee table decoration, never opened.

Because of their size and weight, books in the reprint series that cover specific places not already destroyed by "progress" also make excellent field guides, easily carried in a coat pocket or knapsack.

As Snoopy Sees It

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT, CHARLIE BROWN? by Jeffrey H. Loria; Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 110 pages, $2.95. Reviewed by Frank Farrara.

As can be surmised from the title, this minor work concerns the characters in the Peanuts strip, who it seems are showing up everywhere these days.

Under the sub-title "Peanuts Kids Look at America Today," Loria, a teacher at the New School For Social Research, views the antics of the characters as social commentary.

Loria's objective is to show how life in the U.S. is viewed by Charlie Brown, Snoopy and friends.

Comic strips, like jokes, lose something when subjected to study, and even more when they are explained. Readers of the strip get the meaning most of the time, and even if they don't, they get at least their version of it.

Willy Ley Probes Relationship Of Man With Beast

DAWN OF ZOOLOGY by Willy Ley; Prentice-Hall, 208 pages, $7.95. Reviewed by Jeff Greer.

Willy Ley's charming writings are enough to make a scientific dilettante of any reader. Particularly so when Ley quits the chill environs of space and rocketry — his best-known field —to write of animals and men.

Few readers realize that Ley was grounded in the classics and paleontology in rigorous old German schools and that his physics and rocketry fame derived from a hobby.

In "Dawn of Zoology" Ley recounts man's cataloguing of knowledge of animals clear back to the pre-literate huntsmen, then reviews famous Greek, Latin and early Christian philosophers' thoughts about the place of animals in the universe and their relationship to each other and to man.

Other books on the history of science make dry stuff of the pedantic battles that raged in post-Renaissance circles over the way fossils were thought to have formed; Ley tells the warmly human foibles and failings of the early day's thinkers. His later chapters explore how Darwin and others wound up in a regular horse-race of discovery and publication of theories.

Holding true to his title, Ley concentrates on the days before the 20th Century, barely touching on recent finds. Perhaps, he's saving them for another book?

We'll wait, but impatiently.

600 Dishes From Two Basic Kitchen Staples

THE WORLD BOOK OF EGG AND CHEESE DISHES by Nina Froud; Horizon Press, 176 pages, $2.95. Reviewed by Maxine Keown.

"No other basic product enjoys such universal popularity or can boast of such versatility," says the editor of the famous Larousse Gastronomique concerning the egg in her introduction to this book.

It is the second in a "World Book" series of recipes from Miss Froud's great collection.

Here she presents her egg and cheese favorites — more than 600 dishes in all. Each recipe uses either eggs or cheese, or both.

There are hot dishes and cold dishes, beverages and desserts, fondues and rarebits, omelettes and puddings, sauces and souffles, and much more.

Many countries are represented, but southwest Europe and the United States furnish the bulk of the recipes. There is the usual egg and cheese advantages of economy, easy preparation and high nutritive value. Miss Froud adds an imaginative flair for eye and taste appeal that is sometimes not associated with these two unassuming staples.

The $2.95 price, incidentally, is in itself worthy of comment. It is most reasonable, considering Miss Froud's credentials and the caliber of the fare which her book will open up for the jaded cook.

THE BOOK PAGES

A Primer On Perils Of Drug Abuse, Minus Shrill Hysteria

By DON KEOWN

PUT OFFS & COME ONS by Dr. A. H. Chapman; Putnam, 258 pages, $5.95.

Most of the warnings being sounded today against drug abuse are delivered at such a shrill and hysterical pitch that they deteriorate into the rantings of alarmists and sensationalists.

It is not the Cosa Nostra hoodlum who introduces our youths to marijuana, but rather that young person's own contemporaries.

"No group is more dedicated to turning everyone on than the hippies . . . It is basically a drug movement." (The last perhaps a rare instance of a too-sweeping generalization by the doctor.)

The LSD fad appears to have peaked "and we are now entering a period of disillusionment with it."

"Central stimulants (such as Methedrine and Preludin) may very likely be the next major fad . . . ," largely because of their alleged aphrodisiac qualities.

The so-called British and Swedish systems for dealing with drug addiction have failed.

The Synanon approach may meet the needs of a small number of addicts, but it is unlikely to prove applicable at a public health level to solving the country's heroin problem.

Though not addictive, "Marijuana is not an innocuous drug."

Dr. Louria sees multiple causes for the upsurge in illicit drug use including the hypochondria that has made Americans of all ages a nation of pill-takers, and the materialism that causes us to seek ever greater pleasures and thrills so that drugs inevitably have become, for youth at least, an intrinsic part of that search for kicks.

He points out, too, that in the ghettos "drugs are used not simply for kicks but as an escape from a blighted reality."

He sees the permissiveness that has come about with the deterioration of the family unit as yet another factor.

He blames, too, the leadership gap: "The leadership of this country at municipal, state and national levels is clearly dominated by men of limited ability and restricted imagination who lack the capacity to sustain an aura of vigor or important accomplishment . . . Drug abuse is in part a disease of the uncommitted."

Pressures on the young such as the fear of an inability to compete and of sexual insecurity push them toward drugs.

Dr. Louria has specific recommendations. He would not abolish the federal Bureau of Narcotics, but rather strengthen it and transfer it to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He would not legalize marijuana, but he would lighten the penalties for possession, treating it "as a peccadillo, not a major crime." He would not, however, reduce the penalties for its sale. And he would stiffen the laws regarding such potent hallucinogens as LSD and STP.

Extremely important, he says, is a vigorous campaign against the slum conditions in which the heroin traffic thrives.

But for those already caught on the vicious hook, he says the best hope lies in achieving a commitment to something. "Once he achieves that commitment to a program or to a group, he is well on his way toward achieving a drug-free life . . . "

Dr. Louria has offered a reasoned, comprehensible, convincing and constructive case against experimentation with drugs. It is to be hoped that the young people who are most likely to fall victim to the false promises of narcotics and their sister drugs will read his book and ponder its message. But it is equally important that parents read it, too. For it points out quite unmistakenly that they have contributed to the problem and that, unless they change their ways, they will continue unwittingly to befriend the peddler and betray their children.

ONE SUSPECTS that the close resemblance between Dr. A. H. Chapman's "Put Offs & Come Ons" and Dr. Eric Berne's earlier "Games People Play" is more than coincidental.

In actuality, the Chapman book reads like a simplified, more popularized version of the Berne best-seller, aiming more directly at the layman level.

However, it is unlikely that "Put Offs & Come Ons" will enjoy anything like the popularity and sales of "Games People Play." This reader, at least, was left with the feeling that Dr. Chapman had been too patronizing in his "writing down" for the non-professional. The tone arouses resentment.

Furthermore, we finished the book with the realization that, in actuality, we had learned very little from the psychiatrist's parade of cases and their causes.

The message seems to be that man is a pretty devious creature, partly by nature and partly because of his society, who seldom admits to others the real reasons behind his actions, and frequently is not even honest with himself. Often he has no way to recognize subconscious motives. But there is little new there. Dr. Berne said it before. So did others well before him. And any course of study of fellow humans or one's self confirms it.

What Berne calls "games," Chapman calls "maneuvers and stratagems," and he then divides these into "put offs and come ons." But it is psychological ground that has been ploughed and re-ploughed before.

THE JACKET of "Art in Africa" by Tibor Bodrogi tells us that it was the interest of such artists as Picasso and Braque in native African art earlier this century that first focussed serious attention upon the work from that continent.

Actually, of course, it has been the far more recent reawakening of pride and interest among the black peoples themselves in their cultural roots that has given this trend its biggest impetus ever.

Dr. Bodrogi, director of the Ethnographical Museum in Budapest and a recognized authority on primitive arts, has divided his text by geographical and cultural sectors of Black Africa, detailing the distinctive contributions of each of those areas and its tribes.

McGraw-Hill, the publisher, hails the volume as "extraordinarily important" not only to the specialist and collector, but to the general reader as well.

The illustrations, a few inserted in color but generally in a dramatic black and white, show the figurines, the masks, the carvings, the vessels, the scepters and all the other artifacts that today so intrigue and fascinate the art scholar and student. Most of the illustrations, the publishers say, have never before been published, and represent pieces from the great collections of Eastern Europe that are generally superior to their western counterparts.

The book, selling for $12.50, was printed and bound in Hungary.

SUBSCRIBERS TO and regular purchasers of Time-Life's superb Library of Art series must have been awaiting with special eagerness the volume on Rembrandt van Rijn.

"The World of Rembrandt: 1606-1669" will not disappoint them. It is a well executed, beautiful addition to the art book lists.

Versatile Robert Wallace has written the text in consultation with H. W. Janson, the New York University fine arts professor and writer, and Seymour Slive, Harvard University faculty member and a specialist on Dutch painting.

The text provides a well-written, concise yet sufficient biography of the artist and picture of the Europe of his time.

But the great glory of the book is the splendid color plate reproductions of Rembrandt paintings. Art buffs will feel amply repaid for their investment from these alone.

Sleuths & Suspense

HENRIETTA WHO? by Catherine Aird, Doubleday, 188 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Donald G. Davis.

Good for Catherine Aird (a pseudonym) and her third mystery — a Crime Club suspense novel. Hopefully, she will write more. Author of "A Most Contagious Game," she has turned in another winner, and a very clever story.

With a setting in an English countryside peopled with a modern-day lord of the hall, the usual police constables, rector and wife, the story moves on sustained suspenseful plane, through dark and long corridors.

The light they're all seeking is the one that will illuminate the true identity of Henrietta, for it isn't until after "mother" dies that it's found she wasn't "mother." And there's a missing birth certificate. In fact, it's mother who was murdered and it is feared Henrietta will meet the same fate before she can be identified.

MacLeod has written a fast-paced action and adventure novel with a colorful African setting.

It is his second book with Talos Cord, United Nations agent, as his hero. This time Cord is dispatched to a remote East African emerging nation to deal with an arms-smuggling ring. The predictable violence ensues, and the mystery element of the story is subordinate to it. But MacLeod writes well and holds your interest.

New Reading For The Juniors—

True nature stories have produced some of our best books for the "young adult" reader category.

A fine and recent example is "The Bears and I" (Dutton, $5.95). This is Robert Franklin Leslie's story of how, as a youth, he spent time prospecting for gold in the wilds of British Columbia, and of how he wound up the adopted parent of three orphaned bear cubs.

It was an adventurous time for Leslie and his charges, and the writer tells it well, just as he did in his earlier book, "Read the Wild Water."

Now a North Hollywood teacher, Leslie is representative of the kind of superior writer that seems to spring from close contact with and a love of things outdoors.

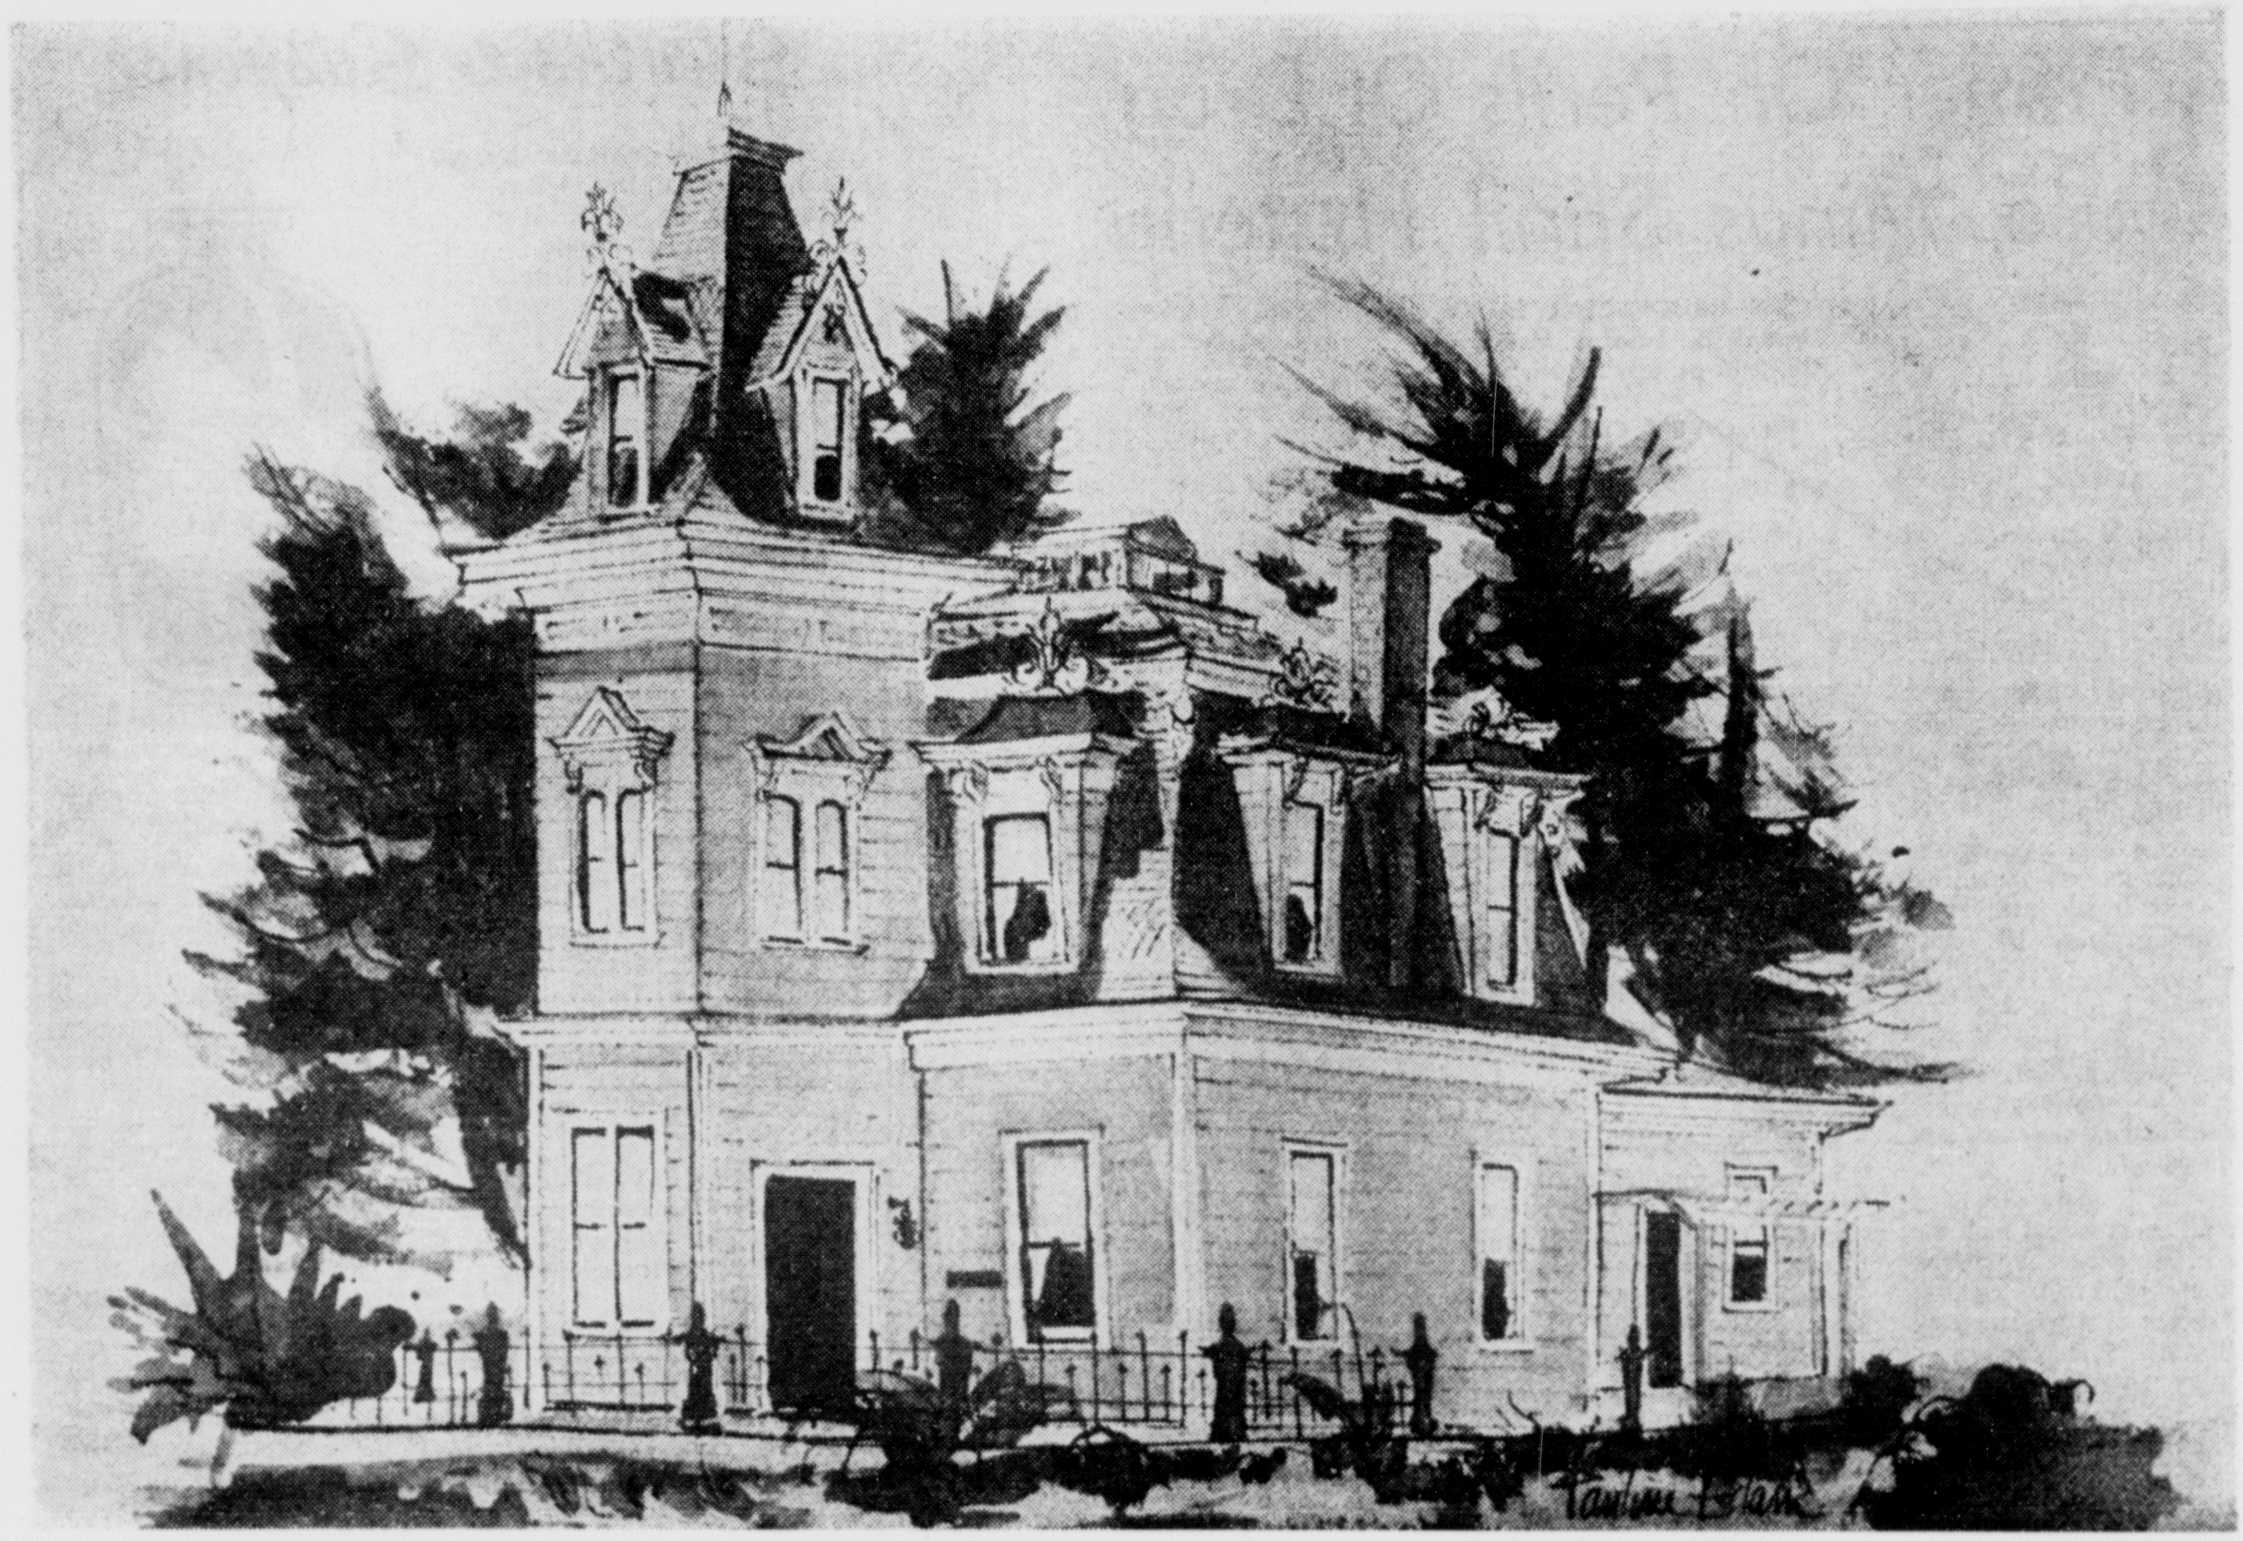
Some other new books for the juniors:

"East to Cathay: The Silk Road" by Robert Collins (McGraw-Hill, $4.95) is part of the Trade Routes Series being published under the editorship of Edward R. Sammis. It is the story of the silk industry and trade in Old China, and it is illustrated with old prints and drawings as well as photographs of artifacts. It is history of a colorful era and region not often covered in books for the younger readers.

"Sheer delight" is an inadequate description for Richard Scarry's imaginative "What Do People Do All Day?" (Random House, $3.95). In the inhabitants of Busytown, Scarry introduces the tots to about as appealing a group of characters imaginable — all of them animals. The doctor is a lion, the mayor a fox, the farmer a goat, the postman a raccoon. That is only a beginning. And all are busy at the every-day activities of good and industrious citizens. Scarry literally jams his pages with action, with pictures galore and just enough text to please the little ones. A child never tires of this kind of book.

Just the thing for the elementary school and junior high school reader is "The Look-It-Up Book of Mammals," by Patricia Lauber, illustrated by Guy Coheleach (Random House, $2.95). Seeing is believing that aardvarks, alpacas, horses, sables, and whales are all in the world of mammals, and worth looking up and knowing about.

J. Allan Bosworth tells a gripping story in "All The Dark Places," (Doubleday, $3.50), for readers 14 years and up. It's about a boy who enters a cave alone, against the basic rule of cave exploring. What happens fully illustrates the soundness of that rule.



OLD HOUSES and other scenes of San Francisco and Marin are featured in the showing of watercolors and acrylics by Pauline Blanc of San Francisco at the Torrance Art Gallery in San Anselmo. Mrs. Blanc is a former student of Dong Kingman and of the Julian Academie in Paris. The show continues through Aug. 2.

On The Stereo Scene With Sunier

By JOHN SUNIER

SPANISH ORGAN MUSIC: Works by De Cabezon, Cabanilles, and De Arrauxo — Helmuth Rilling, organ — Turnabout TV 34097S:

The 16th Century is the period covered in this rather esoteric organ recital.

The composers in Spain were influenced by the French, Flemish, Italian and even Moorish cultures. Consequently, most of these works have bold harmonies and unusual dissonances, a treat for the bored-of-ear listener.

RACHMANINOFF: Sonata in C Minor; KODALY: Sonata Opus 4 — Harvey Shapiro, cello/Earl Wild, piano — Nonesuch H-71155:

Here is a first listing for the Rachmaninoff and a first in stereo for the Kodaly. Though written only nine years apart, the first is still in the romantic era and the second definitely a modern period work. Both are tuneful and enjoyable.

It is well known that Rossini gave up opera composition at the height of his career, in 1829. Not until 1857 did the urge to write music return, and these nine whimsical piano pieces — which remind one of Erik Satie — were among the results. Sheer delight.

By the way, don't forget the equally whimsical cover art on most Nonesuch and Turnabout albums.

GEMINIANI: The Enchanged Forest; LOCATELLI: The Plaint of Ariadne — Biffoli, violin / Angelicum Orchestra / Newell Jenkins — Nonesuch H-71151:

Basically, these are collections of concerti grossi from the middle 18th Century, in first stereo discings and fine performances. But add the programmatic ideas which both composers tried to communicate and you have an added dimension, as with Vivaldi's "Four Seasons."

IVES: Holidays Symphony — Dallas Symphony Orchestra — Donald Johanos — Turnabout TV 34146S; RACHMANINOFF: Symphonic Dances, Vocalise — Dallas Symphony / Johanos — Turnabout TV 34145S:

These two discs are firsts in many ways. They are the first in a series of Dallas recordings Vox Records has made. They are being presented at bargain prices, instead of on the regular-priced Vox label. They were produced with special tape equipment modified to improve fidelity. Best of all, the quality of the performances is excellent.

This is the first full-stereo LP of all four movements of Ives' Holidays. Two of the sections on a CRI recording are rechanneled stereo. Aside from a bit of surface noise, perhaps particular only to my review copy, the Ives is a huge success, and the Rachmaninoff LP equally fine.

"Vocalise" is entirely orchestra in this version, with no vocal soloist.

BIBER: Six Sonatas for Two Trumpets, Strings, and Continuo — Jones, Wilbraham — trumpets/Sinfonia of London String Ensemble/Fifkin — Nonesuch H-71172:

Austria's almost continuous pre-eminence in music, dating back to the 15th Century, had a great peak during the 17th Century. One of the leading figures was Heinrich Biber, who is perhaps best known for his violin pieces calling for purposeful de-tuning from the normal. These are enjoyable chamber pieces, and while they may bear resemblance to other similar works of the period, the brass instrumentation insures their standing apart.

ANGENE FEVES is the director of the Dance Troubadors who will perform tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Dr. J. L. Henderson garden in Ross as part of the new Sons of Art Series.

THE EARLY MORN

Up from the glen the doe leads her fawn
Early morning mist of the new born dawn.
The ridge in morning splendor stands high and alone,
The redwoods rise, tall and mighty as the sun shone.
The stag from the ridge glides past,
It's more than anybody could ever want to ask.
It's noon, the sun is high on its throne,
All the noise there is are the insects buzzing drone.
The night falls quietly without a sound,
It seems that almost nothing is left around.
Creeping over the ridge comes the misty fog,
Nothing's around, it's still and dead like a fallen log.
Then dawn breaks, and the crows are calling,
A new day awaits they know it's coming,
Up from the glen the doe leads her fawn,
Early morning mist of the new born dawn . . .

NOVATO — KATHY PEREIRA

LETTER FROM VIETNAM

Today a letter came, and soon my eyes
Caressed the paper where his hand had lain,
Thank God he's safe, and yet I realize
That any moment can bring knife-like pain.
So little news about himself. He asks
"Has Spring arrived, and Mother, are you well?
You must not worry. Soon my present task
Is done, and all your fears about me quelled."

I go into his room, I sense him there,
And count the memories I've learned to hoard,
This gentle boy, so far from home, at war
(My aching heart keeps wondering, Dear Lord—

Where are the years between the baby rattle,
The uniform, the rifle and the battle?)

TAMALPAIS VALLEY — FRANCES DUNN

ROBERT KENNEDY IS DEAD

The beauty of the New England autumn,
The cornstalks tied in bunches
After the harvest; the brown hills
And the old rock walls which criss-cross
The countryside; and the magnificent
Colors of the foliage as the trees
Prepare for winter and the leaves slowly,
Naturally, and beautifully lose the Vigorous greens of spring and summer.
The oranges and reds which follow
The fading greens are like a false hope—
Promising more life, yet, in truth,
Announcing the end of a life cycle.
The leaves soon turn brown, wrinkle
And fall from the tree—their brief life completed.
As we view this process, we feel a sense of pain.
Having known the spring and summer, life saddens
When it realizes these will be no more.

Unspeakable, however, is the tragedy
Of vigorous life, full of spring and summer,

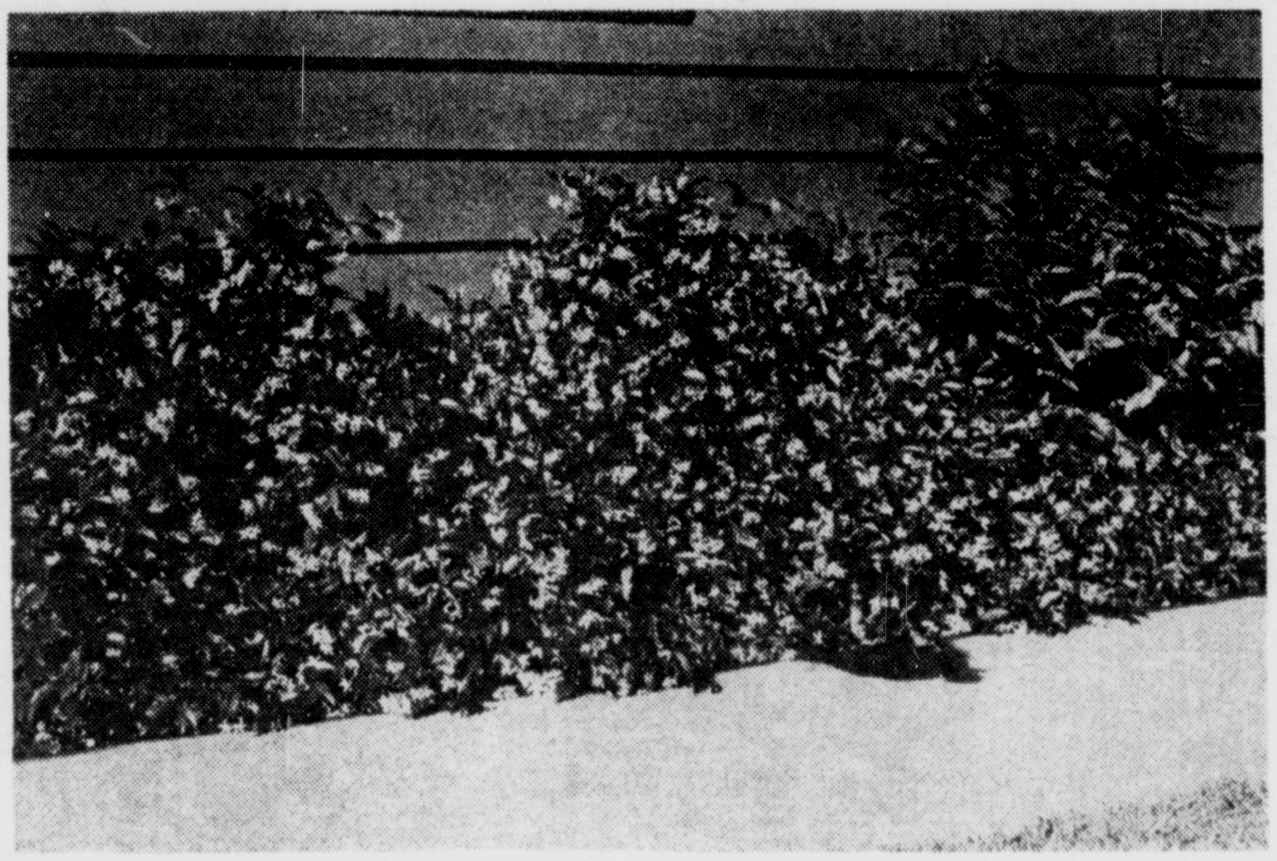
Plant A Star In Your Garden



STAR JASMINE is a versatile as well as a fragrant and beautiful plant. Among its many uses is that of a low-growing landscape shrub, as it is pictured here. (Photo courtesy of California Association of Nurserymen)

The Star Jasmine, or if you want to be technical, the Trachelospermum jasminoides, is a well established favorite with Marin gardeners.

They like it as a vine trained on a trellis, as a shrubby groundcover, as a cascade spilling over a retaining wall, or even on occasion as a container plant in the outdoor living area.

It dispenses fragrance as well as a deep green, glossy foliage, and attractive white blossoms that resemble small stars.

It will take shade, but it prefers the sun, and blooms more profusely there.

If you want to start your Star Jasmine this summer, however, and to make your selection while the container plants are in bloom at your nursery, you had better make your selections soon. In Marin, their season is just about at an end.

One final suggestion for their use: Star Jasmine, properly pruned and clipped, can even be used as a hedge. It will require a minimum of three clippings a year. But the effort is well rewarded.

It Acts Like A Native

Eucalyptus trees are natives of Australia.

But they seem to be just as much at home in California as they are "Down Under." And here in Marin County, they can be seen in abundance in many of their numerous varieties.

Some 30 varieties are grown in California for their beauty and grace. But some of these are best suited to Southern California. A half dozen or so are really ideally fitted to Marin's climate.

WHEN YOU think of the Eucalyptus, you probably first envision the Giant Blue Gum. That's the tall one that reaches such stately heights and proportions. But for it, you need some acreage — an estate or a public park, for instance.

And you should keep it away from structures, so that its branches, somewhat brittle, do not come crashing down onto the house or garage during high winds.

There is, however, a compact or dwarf variety of the Giant Blue Gum that is better suited to the planting needs of most Marinites. It grows to about 20 to 25 feet high, and is especially nice as a screen or windbreak (you sometimes see it so used along our highways), although it can also be grown as a single specimen.

WHITE GUM is another giant member of the family. It, too, is popular in park-like settings, with its smooth, white trunk, and its spreading head of pendulous green.

The Lemon-Scented Gum is a tree of refinement, perfect for the city garden. Its long, pointed leaves have a lemony scent when crushed — thus the name. It attains a good height without becoming overpowering.

Lehmann Eucalyptus is a multiple trunk tree with a rounded form both during growth and at maturity. New leaves are green. Older leaves, however, have bronze and reddish tints that are most attractive.

SILVER DOLLAR Tree is a popular name sometimes applied to several of the Eucalyptus varieties. In Marin, however, it generally refers to a modest, slender tree that also answers to the names Dollarleaf Gum and Silver Mountain Gum. Its silvery leaves and contrasting foliage color make for a striking landscape effect in the garden.

The foliage is often used in cut flower arrangements, and, treated in glycerin, it acquires a long-lasting attractiveness.

Most frequently planted in Marin is the Red Iron Bark, gaining its name from the ruddy complexion of its trunk. Flowers are a rosy pink that appear in winter and carry over into the early summer. The foliage is often bronzed by winter. The shape is slender and graceful.

Scarlet Flowering Eucalyptus, on the other hand, is a round-headed tree. It produces red or pink flowers much of the year, with the heaviest blooming in spring and summer. It is a good choice as a street tree or for any spot in the garden.

THE BEST WAY, of course, to get an idea of what the various Eucalyptus look like is to visit your favorite Marin nursery and view them in containers.

Rest assured of one thing: Stick to a variety that has shown a liking for Marin conditions and you'll have no trouble growing yourself a fine tree.

Low Maintenance

To keep maintenance needs low, select plants that are native to our area, or which have demonstrated a tolerance to a wide range of growing conditions.

A CHECKLIST FOR GARDENERS OF MARIN

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- In July, watering is of the utmost importance in Marin. To be effective, water must penetrate to the depth of the very roots of plants. This means two things — a sufficiently porous soil and deep, rather than superficial, watering.
- Colorful Transvaal Daisies (Gerberas) come in eye-catching colors — some vivid, others pastel. They are available now in both single and double flower forms at nurseries.
- Keep after snails, slugs, and cutworms with bait. Control is relatively easy, so there's no sense letting them cause damage.
- Cut back Marguerites to keep them in good shape and to freshen them for new bloom. But be careful not to cut back too severely.
- Dahlias should be fastened to stakes before the heavy flowers tend to break down the stalks. Also: feed at regular intervals.

MANY A car-owner faces the problem of a garage too cluttered with miscellaneous equipment to accommodate the automobile. The only answer is planned storage. Here's one idea: a compact storage box, six feet long, two feet wide, that can be suspended from the garage ceiling with a series of cables and pulleys so that it can be pulled up or down as plies. For the plan, send 10 cents to American Plywood required. It has six large drawers for holding tools and sup- Association, 1119 A Street, Tacoma, Wash. 98401, and ask for Plan No. 54-450.

Latex Paints Offer Several Advantages

Water-Base Products Have Been Much Improved By Manufacturers

Attention old-timers! Remember when, after deciding that you were going to paint the outside of your house, you walked into a hardware store, paint dealer or lumberyard and asked merely for "house paint."

No more. These days, the words house paint can mean almost anything. They are tied in with such terms as latex, oil-based, alkyd, acrylic, non-chalking and many other.

This great diversity of coatings for the outside of your house enables you to get a better result. But it sure makes it tough deciding which paint to buy.

LATEX PAINTS found instant favor with some do-it-yourselfers when introduced to the consumer market not too long ago because of the cleaning-up factor.

Instead of turpentine or mineral spirits, water became the cleansing agent for brushes, rollers and spray guns. And it was so easy to use ordinary soap and water to rid hands of those inevitable paint splashes. Yet oil-base paints continued to be the big seller for a number of reasons, not the least of which was their ability to cover a surface better.

The manufacturers of latex paints (often the same as those who turn out the oil paints) are constantly making changes designed to overcome the objections some persons have toward the water-thinned products. Today, you can get latex paints that have good coverage, with no sacrifice of such advantages as easy clean-up, quick drying and resistance to blistering and peeling.

THIS LATTER asset is coupled with the benefit of being able to apply the paint when a surface is damp.

Of course, the kind of paint you use will make very little difference if you don't spend considerable time preparing the surface. This includes brushing away loose dust and dirt, removing oil and grease, brushing or scraping away cracked or blistered paint, countersinking loose nails and puttying the indentations, and being certain that the caulking is intact at butt joints and around doors and windows, utility inlets and exhaust pipes.

Any cracks in masonry surfaces should be filled with patching cement or caulking compound to prevent moisture from getting in and causing additional cracking.

WHEN PAINTING, always work in toward the wet paint. Use firm, wide strokes when using a brush. If you are using a roller, be sure not to spin the roller at the end of a stroke.

Remember that you can buy a special outdoor tray for painting with a roller. It is made so that it can be attached to the side of a ladder. Or you can use the type of roller into which a set amount of paint is poured via a cylinder.

Remember, too, that there is a small roller, used in conjunction with a regular roller, to help you do a better job on clapboards.

Lionel Hampton Seeks To Bring Music Back To Harlem Ghetto

By PATRICIA E. DAVIS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lionel Hampton, "king of the vibes," says the youth of Harlem "want to learn, not burn," and he's determined to help them get that learning.

Hampton's biggest interest, naturally, is in the field of music, and it is in this area that he hopes to aid the ghetto youngsters.

"Years ago," the famed jazz musician says, "some of the greatest names in the world of music came out of Harlem, but I've found out that it's the complete opposite now. Fewer and fewer are coming from there now."

HAMPTON BLAMES this on "the lack of music instruction in Harlem schools."

The Suffolk County school system, he says has one of the finest music instruction programs he has seen but, he adds, "the kids in Harlem have none of this. There's no inspiration for youth to learn music in Harlem—no place to study. Harlem hasn't produced anything in years like it used to."

Because of this, the 54-year-old Hampton has plunged into a project to give Harlem a "cultural center," with programs of instruction based on those of the Juilliard School of Music. The project is still in the fund raising and planning stages but Hampton has high hopes for it.

"THE CENTER, which I would like to name after Mayor Lindsay, would be a symbol of great strength and learning to Harlem," he says.

Hampton, who lives in Harlem but also has a home in Los Angeles, first became aware of the lack of musical advantages for Harlem youth when he worked on Lindsay's successful campaign for mayor in 1966.

"Lindsay would get out into the streets of Harlem to campaign," Hampton recalls, "and I took my band along with him. We found out the youngsters seemed to enjoy this. So we thought we ought to keep doing it.

"WE FORMED a Jazzmobile and toured the streets of Harlem and Brooklyn. We'd play for kids, then sit and talk with them. And we found out that many, many of them wanted musical instruction, but they could find no place to go for it."

It was then that the idea for the cultural center was born.

Despite his involvement with the planning for the center, and his hectic concert schedule—Hampton and his 17-man band work steadily about 40 weeks of the year touring the country—he still finds time to give neighborhood concerts.

This year we plan to take the band to all the boroughs. We hope to televise the concerts and will give the TV funds to the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

A center takes shape

"That way we can help the ghetto children even more," he says.

The Monkees Look Ahead To The Future

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Where do the Monkees go next—or do you care?

There are a few million teenagers and subteeners who maintain an intense concern about the clutch of singing idols who starred on the NBC network for two seasons.

The foursome made a distinct impression on the younger set and even on the more mature voters of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences who named "The Monkees" the best comedy show of the 1966-67 season.

TO MANY critics, the zany half-hour seemed nothing more or less than a carbon copy of the Beatles movies. But imitation is no drawback to television success, and "The Monkees" prevailed in their first season. The second year was less successful, and the show will not be back in 1968-69.

What happened?

"The second season was just the first season rehashed," explained chief Monkee, Mike Nesmith. "We felt that we had become more proficient, but we were only given the same stuff to do.

"MOST PEOPLE thought that we were canceled. The fact is that we told NBC that we didn't want to do the same old thing. And so the series came to an end. I can't really say that I'm sorry."

Financially, the demise of the series is a good thing, said Nesmith, a tall, intense 25-year-old. He pointed out that he and his mates were earning a fast $1,250 per segment of the series, a mere pittance of what they can collect elsewhere.

Such are the rewards of instant fame that the lads made between four and five million dollars last year.

NESMITH himself collected about two and a half million dollars since he originated much of the musical material used by the Monkees on their shows and albums. The returns will come to him in future years because of deferred payments, hence his fortune looks secure.

But he is concerned about the future, and has sunk $75,000 of his own money into a non-Monkee record album called "The Wichita Train Whistle Sings." The Dot album is getting a good play and it appears that the Nesmith investment is going to pay off.

His single venture doesn't mean that he is cutting out from the Monkees. But he is realistic about the future of the team.

"IN TERMS OF 'now,' the Monkees are just about over," he commented. "By that I mean what we had just about done everything they would allow us to do on the series. There was nowhere else we could go.

"But I think the feature movie we just finished — we still don't have a title for it—will open up whole new avenues for us. I think that is where our future lies: in features and in television specials. We are signing with NBC for two next season."

And the Monkees will also be hitting the road this summer to collect the tidy fortunes that can be gained from concerts. This despite the fact that audiences hear little or nothing of their performances.

"We have the best amplifying systems possible, but we still can't be heard over the crowd noise," said Nesmith.

"THE MONKEES" are through with television, but they still have big plans for the future, as outlined by Mike Nesmith, top center, spokesman for the group. His fellow members, left to right, are Peter Tork, Davey Jones and Micky Dolenz.
